CHICAGO, May 17. (Exclusive)—[illegible] the notorious "Scarface Al" [illegible] Chicago's czar of booze, [illegible] and vice, pleaded guilty in [illegible] today to a charge of [illegible] concealed weapons and [illegible] hours began serving [illegible] sentence, an ominous silence [illegible] of the head [illegible] and sighs of re[illegible] other hand pervaded [illegible] and gangster circles here.

[illegible] of the police and the racketeers are of the opinion [illegible] elimination of the turbulent [illegible] will bring about many [illegible] between guerrillas for ascendancy in racket [illegible], while others believe that [illegible] imprisonment of Capone will [illegible] an end temporarily, at [illegible] sanguinary six-year warfare [illegible] Capone followers and [illegible] remnants of George (Bugs) [illegible] which to date has resulted [illegible] killings.

SOUGHT SENTENCE

[illegible] for his life and not accident [illegible] brought about the deliberate [illegible] of Capone, in the view [illegible] officials here. It is known, [illegible] say, that ever since the [illegible] of seven of his lieutenants [illegible] North Side garage, "Bugs" [illegible] has had men trailing Capone with the avowed intention of [illegible] him at the first opportunity.

[illegible] resorting to this method [illegible] from the hazards of [illegible] and the increasingly [illegible] threat against his life, Capone, [illegible] police point out, is following [illegible] precedent of his erstwhile [illegible], John Torrio, who after [illegible] murder of Big Jim Colosimo, [illegible] by avengers, pleaded [illegible] a Federal court indictment [illegible] a six months' jail sentence [illegible] plans for fleeing [illegible]. Torrio's plan was successful [illegible] Italy. Later he [illegible] New York but has never [illegible] back to Chicago.

Will Rogers Remarks:

PHILADELPHIA, May 17. [To the Editor of The Times:] This Al Capone that is supposed to be field marshal on Chicago's western front; well in Miami and Chicago and all other cities he has been received by the Mayor, Chamber of Commerce and Daughters of Various Revolutions, but he blew into our little City of Brotherly Love here yesterday and, before his valet could unpack his machine gun, why he had been sentenced to a year in jail for wearing pistols instead of a vest. That's one of the worst blows against our new aristocracy we have had.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Gas Victims' Fate in Balance

Cleveland's Pitiful Remnant of Clinic Fire Survivors Face Unknown Doom

Inquiries on Catastrophe Go on as Death Hovers by Hundred Bedsides

CLEVELAND (O.) May 17. (AP)—More than 100 surviving victims of the Cleveland clinic disaster waited tonight for an unknown fate. For many of them, doctors fear, death is close at hand.

The disaster death toll stands at 126, but the element of what physicians call "delayed reaction" darkly menaces the other victims who still are living.

A few medical men said tonight they believe the critical stage of the poisoning has passed, but the majority hold that the lives of remaining victims will hang in delicate balance for three or four days longer.

A typical example of "delayed reaction" was given today when Ben Jones, a former professional football player, died at his home in Grove City, Pa. Jones told friends after he was removed from the clinic following the explosion that he felt no ill-effects from the experience.

He drove 150 miles from Cleveland to Grove City and again said he

Heron Denies He Will Resign

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (Exclusive)—A. R. Heron, State Director of Finance, today flatly denied current rumors that he will resign from the office June 1.

"I have no intention of resigning June 1, and no definite plans right now of doing so in the future," he said.

The rumors connected Heron with accepting a $25,000-a-year executive position with the Bank of Italy.

HEARTLESS CATS LIVE

Scientist Does Amazing Feat

Rubber Organ Operated by Electricity Substituted in Animal's Body

Full Circulation Maintained for Hours in Testing Drugs' Effects

HALIFAX (N. S.) May 17. (Exclusive)—A discovery acclaimed by local medical men as the greatest scientific discovery in a decade became known here today when it was revealed that Dr. O. S. Gibbs, professor of pharmacology at Dalhousie University, has for the past six months been keeping animals alive for hours by means of a rubber "heart" electrically operated.

Dr. Gibbs has been conducting these experiments for the past month under cover of the strictest privacy. To date they have been conducted only on cats. Other scientists, associated with Dr. Gibbs in his experiments, declare it is the first time in history science has maintained full action in the complete circulatory system over a period of hours by means of an electric heart.

CAT'S HEART REPLACED

The announcement of his experiments was made by Dr. Gibbs in a lecture to the Nova Scotia Institute of Science. The operation, taking about five minutes, consisted of removing the heart from a cat and attaching the electric heart, a double-action pump operated automatically by electricity. The cat then revived and remained alive for hours, Dr. Gibbs stated.

"It is like putting a new heart in a drowned man," said a fellow-member of the experimental staff at Dalhousie. To say that it could be serviceable to human beings would, as yet, be a trifle optimistic, he said.

Dr. Gibbs began his experiments in an effort to study the effect of drugs upon the circulation system, the heart, veins and arteries. It has been possible in the past to study the heart and circulation separately, but when considering the section apart from the heart it was found that the latter eventually wore out under the effects of poisons used and the experiment was concluded before the final stages of the effect on the veins and arteries could be established.

VALUABLE IN TESTS

As a result of this experiment it will be possible to do away with the heart in the experiments, substituting the mechanical contrivance, which is not affected by the drugs and studying the effects to the very end on other parts of the system. It is in this way that Prof. Gibbs expects the contrivance to prove of greatest assistance.

Previously scientists the world over had attempted to discover a "heart" which would take the place of the living machine but failed with one exception, that of Dr. Bale in London, who succeeded in keeping an animal alive with such a mechanical heart for very short periods only. The system was not found satisfactory for study.

The possibilities which the discovery and invention open up are boundless and are the result of months of building up and tearing down of apparatus at the laboratory by Dr. Gibbs. The experimenter modestly would not discuss the work in detail as yet but impressed the importance of the research which is being carried on at Dalhousie.

He pointed out that it was made possible largely through the generosity of the public.

OPERA STAR OF FORMER DAY PASSES

Lilli Lehman, Prima Donna of Germany, Succumbs in Eighty-first Year

BERLIN, May 17. (AP)—Lilli Lehman, a prima-donna of another generation, whose handsome figure still excited admiring whispers on her rare appearance among audiences at concert halls, died unexpectedly today in the Villa Colony of Grunewald where she resided. She was 81 years of age.

Musical critics had placed her on a level with Jenny Lind and Adeline Patti. She retired from the operatic stage long ago. Despite her advanced age she was hale and hearty until recently when gastric trouble developed.

Indian Relics Centuries Old Discovered Near Las Vegas

Government Asked to Build National Museum at Location

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) May 17. (AP)—Discovery in a desert wilderness northwest of here of relics of Indian life believed extinct for at least thirty centuries prompted J. L. Nusbaum, government archeologist, to telegraph Washington today recommending the establishment of a national monument.

Nusbaum, commenting on his wires to President Hoover and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, characterized the discoveries as "amazing revelations of Indian life long sought by archeologists."

A three-day penetration of the Hidden Forest of the Sheep Mountains, the Lost City of Moapa Valley and the Valley of Fire, comprising one of the least-known sections of the United States, was made by Nusbaum, Dr. M. R. Harrington of the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles, and C. C. Smith, inspector for the United States General Land Office.

ARMED WITH "ATLATLS"

President Hoover had commissioned the party to investigate the territory on the belief that the establishment of national monuments in the isolated region might be advisable. Approximately 144,000 acres in the territory have been withdrawn from settlement.

The most prized discoveries were made in the Valley of Fire. Carvings believed wrought by the oldest known human race in America were found on the striking and fantastic rock formations of the valley.

Particular importance was attached to writings on one cliff, which depicted a mountain sheep hunt. The remarkable feature, Nusbaum declared, was the drawings of hunters armed with "atlatls," peculiar weapons sought for years by archeologists but never seen before.

From this weapon, it was believed, later Indian races evolved the bow and arrow. The carving displayed a long, sharp contrivance, bent to elasticity. With this apparatus, a projectile was thrown much as the modern youth fires a stone from a sling.

The archeologist estimated that the carving probably provided the only record of its kind in existence and should be preserved as a historical clew to primitive mankind.

The valley, which is a mass of gorgeous color formations in rock, was reached approximately fifty miles from here.

RICH DISCOVERIES

Leaving the valley, the party proceeded to the little known Petrified Forest. Here were found gigantic trees, which had been swept to earth as though felled by a huge scythe. By the slow process of immersion in silicified water they have been turned into agate.

The second day of the exploration brought the party wandering through the Lost City of Moapa Valley. Ancient pueblo cities, skeletons of men, women and mammals were scattered about, providing a rich field for studies in archeology.

The last day found the party on the edge of the mysterious Hidden Forest of the Sheep Mountains. Coming into a great, natural amphitheater, the searchers were awed by groves of magnificent trees and massive formations of rock. One discovery included a grove of the rare fox tail pines.

The party returned here in high spirits late today, fully convinced that establishment of the region as a national monument would add another "natural wonder" to American preserves.

GEOLOGIST LEAVES FOR RESEARCH IN NEW MEXICO

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The National Geographic Society today announced that Dr. Neil M. Judd, an archeologist, has left Washington for New Mexico to carry on researches for the society into the history of some of the earliest inhabitants of this continent.

The work is to be carried on largely at Pueblo Bonito, a huge communal dwelling in the northwest portion of New Mexico, where 2500 persons once lived. Because many untrained searchers for relics and souvenirs are rifling ruined pueblos in that State, the society said that the present summer is considered crucial to the success of the investigations.

EIGHTY-HOUR LINE TO LINK CONTINENTS

Fast Service to Argentina and Chile Promised by Lindbergh Air Concern

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive) Following an all-day session of the technical committee of the Pan-American Airways today, J. T. Trippe, president and general manager of the system, whose lines extend through the West Indies and across Central America to Cristobal, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, technical adviser to the company, outlined plans for an eighty-hour service between Buenos Aires and Miami, a twenty-four-hour service to the Canal Zone and a fifty to sixty-hour service to Peru and Chile.

This service, Col. Lindbergh said, will be inaugurated first with only mail, but in a short time it will be followed by both mail and passenger service with multimotored planes. The magnitude of the plan is evident when it is realized that over the Andes from Santiago, Chile, to Buenos Aires and Montevideo the planes will fly at 20,000 feet much of the time, necessitating the use of supercharged engines and some method of "supercharging" the passengers to create conditions at high altitudes approximating the atmospheric pressure at or near sea level.

In this connection Mr. Trippe declared that a New York hospital already is at work on the problem of providing passengers with normal air while swinging over the Andes.

The fastest steamer time between New York and Buenos Aires is twenty days. The air service as outlined by Col. Lindbergh and Mr. Trippe will bring the Argentine capital as close to New York as New Orleans is by rail.

FRENCH WILL ADOPT NEW FILM QUOTA

American Motion-Picture Problem Expected to Go to Premier Poincare

[Copyright, 1929, by New York Times.]

PARIS, May 17. (Exclusive)—The recent failure of the French and American film interests to reach a satisfactory agreement regarding the importation of American films has revived the demand of French motion-picture producers for the proposed three to one quota. It now appears reasonably certain that when the cinema control commission meets on the 27th inst., it will follow the davice of the producing members and adopt formally the stringent proposals.

The producers met yesterday and unanimously agreed to the three to one quota, and since they dominate the commission to a degree little doubt remains concerning the full body's ultimate action. Granted that the controversy takes this course, the control commission after indorsing the three to one quota will then forward it to Francois Poncet, Under-secretary of State for fine arts, who has indicated that he will present the whole matter to Premier Poincare, thus leaving the final decision to the French Cabinet.

All this should occupy another two or three weeks. Meanwhile the American companies may be expected to begin the process of reducing their large staffs. Already the work of the American concerns in France has been curtailed owing to a decision taken several weeks ago not to make any further sales until the present controversy is settled.

ZEPPELIN'S PERIL ENDS

Landing Made in France

Crippled Dirigible Safe After All-Day Struggle With Relentless Gale

Voyagers Unhurt as They Reach Haven at Edge of Mediterranean

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) May 18. (Saturday) (AP)—The theory of sabotage behind the crippling of the motors of the Graf Zeppelin was raised today by Director Oesterle of the Dornier Airplane Works.

"Why should the same thing happen to two crankshafts?" he asked. "I have been with the motors for two years and can't conceive of such duplicate tragedies. No, there has been dirty work somewhere."

This opinion is shared, in part at least, by others at the home port of the Zeppelin, and there is great curiosity over what examination of the motors might reveal.

CUERS (France) May 17. (AP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin is safe tonight in a hangar here while the diminishing mistral, with which she had been in perilous struggle all day, howls on overhead.

The crippled ship, only one of her five motors working with occasional help from a second, was drawn down to earth here, literally at the edge of the Mediterranean Sea and beside the only landing mast in France. The eighteen passengers and forty members of the crew set foot to the solid earth above which they had tossed in uncertainty throughout the day.

The landing was at 8:35 p.m. (11:35 a.m. Pacific standard time) more than thirty-eight and one-half hours after the dirigible had nosed into the air from Friedrichshafen and set her course for Lakehurst, N. J. Twelve hours later, after an unusually fine start, Dr. Hugo Eckener, confronted with the loss of two motors, headed his ship back home from the Spanish coast.

WIND BALKS PLANS

The battle to win passage up the Rhone Valley against the near gale from the northwest failed and Dr. Eckener decided on a landing here. It was nearly dark when the ship appeared. Lieut. Samon, commander of the airdrome, had assembled soldiers, sailors and civilians hours before. They drew the ship down and within half an hour the passengers, one by one, descended to the ground from short ladders raised to the cabin door.

The Mayor and most of the doctors of this village of 3000 inhabitants were at the field, but the passengers needed no medical aid. Some of them said they had been rather badly shaken up during the last few hours but no one was hurt. Dr. Hugo Eckener was the last to leave the car. He turned immediately to thank the French officials, who with others all up the Rhone Valley, had stood by throughout the day to give him aid.

GORILLA SUFFERS

Even the female gorilla Susi was taken out of her compartment. The animal seemed to have suffered more than the human passengers.

Cuers-Pierre Feu is the center for air defense for the fortified city of Toulon, one of the great French naval bases, and has an aviation school with hangars for both airplanes and dirigibles. The commandant of the naval district, as soon as the distress of the Graf Zeppelin was apparent, ordered preparations for an emergency landing. Troops were rushed to the field by motor trucks from Hyers, Frejus and Toulon. The old hangar of the ill-fated French dirigible Dixmude was made ready.

The Dixmude, which in her time broke all records for distance and endurance, was lost in December, 1923, with her crew of fifty-two in a violent storm encountered over the Mediterranean.

Moon has Odd Mien as Cold Wind Sears Like Fire; Silence So Vast It Can Be Heard

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) May 17—11 p.m. The lights have all been put out except the night watchman's lantern here on the desk. It sheds a feeble yellow glow over the stove, glowing in a corner over the the long rows of bunk shelves and the deserted chairs. The partition separating the next room does not reach the ceiling and an occasional creak is heard as an uneasy sleeper turns.

Every half-hour in the night watch a trip outside through the door, open into the bunk room, where the chill of the Antarctic begins to nip uncovered noses and chests, up through the snow tunnel to the endless night to watch for aurora and note which way the wind blows and what clouds are in the sky. A blast from the southeast, which stabs the fact, driven before a light drift of snow. How bitter cold it is, a cold which sears like fire. Bits of cloud wrack sweep by, scurrying past the moon as if in vain effort to veil its silver light.

MOON NOT ALWAYS SAME

Strange things happen to the moon. The other night it was full and red like flames, like a burning world, and one afternoon it hung all dripping with elfin rays over the faint yellow line which marks our lost sun. Straight down from a sharp horn hung a radiant streamer; another pointed upward. And one dull night it was surrounded by a halo, its face swollen and gray as if it had eaten too many stars and felt badly about it.

But it is much more comfortable down below where a chair can be drawn up to the stove and numb fingers warmed. The wind sings softly in the chimney, a song that rises and falls and speaks of the land it has crossed.

How far it has come out of that mysterious south where the moon shines on the endless snow fields, where the only sound is of the scurrying drift and the crackle of snapping ice. What deep caverns it has hurried over, this wind, down what valleys and up what grim unknown mountains that thrust their dark obtruding heads through the white that seeks to cover them. It has whipped about their peaks and torn relentlessly at them and then, driving the snow before it, come to whisper down the chimney as it passes. If one only knew the story

Resolution Will Aid Road in Railway Fight

Northeastern Link Not Needed, Says Group

Action May Affect Stand of Federal Commission

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY

"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (Exclusive)—The Good Railway Service Association today adopted a resolution supporting the Southern Pacific Company in opposition to the proposed northeastern California connection between the Great Northern and Western Pacific. The move was construed as one of the severest blows dealt the latter two railroads in the preliminaries to the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings on the joint application. The Good Railway Service Association is said to be composed of members contributing 1,753,888 carloads of freight annually to western railroads.

Approximately 200 shippers from Portland to San Diego and from the Pacific Coast to Salt Lake City attended. They represented, it is said, 2879 shippers in far western territory and 18,700 nonshippers interested in what is steadily developing into one of the greatest railroad fights the West ever has seen.

DUPLICATE SERVICE

Led by Edwin O. Edgerton, former president of the California Railroad Commission, the shippers adopted a resolution which asserts that "adequate transportation to every section of the country is available to western shippers at the present time," that public interest "urgently requires protection" against needless and wasteful additional railroad construction or destructive competition for which the shippers and the public eventually must pay," and that the proposed Great Northern, Western Pacific connection at Lookout "will open up no new markets, lower no rates, shorten no essential distances, develop no new territory, create no new wealth, render no service that cannot be more enconomically rendered, but on the contrary will duplicate existing rail lines, impair the ability of existing carriers to render adequate service, make for higher rates to the public, and add a burden of $12,000,000 or more of new investment with increased operating costs as a perpetual charge upon the shipper and the public."

SOUTHLAND ENVOYS

Attending from the Southern California territory were V. H. Rossetti, executive vice-president of Farmers' and Merchants' bank, Los Angeles; H. S. Hasseltine, American Fruit Growers, Los Angeles; Rex Sawyer, Associated Jobbers and Manufacturers, Los Angeles; Leslie B. Henry, manager Blyth Company, Los Angeles and Pasadena; Carlyle Thorpe, California Walnut Growers, Los Angeles; T. Paul Dalzel, president California Lettuce Growers; T. J. West, Calexico; C. P. CLINIC VICTIMS' FATE IN DOUBT felt "fine." A few hours later he collapsed and died.

One of the plainest statements of the possible delayed deaths from the poison gas was made by Harry L. Rockwood, city health commissioner.

The insidious part about the two gases that many breathed in the disaster, Rockwood said, "is that their fatal action often is delayed four to five hours and sometimes five to six days. Even then if they don't kill, the lungs of victims are so weakened they fall victims to pneumonia."

While hospital attendants administered oxygen and did every other thing within their power to prevent additional deaths among the stricken, several investigations of the disaster were in progress.

County Coroner Pearse, Chief of Detectives Cody and two assistant county prosecutors conducted one of the inquests.

They heard Buffery Boggs, a steam fitter, and Sam Steele, a dishwasher, recount their experiences in the basement of the clinic when the fire started.

Boggs gave the first warning, but Steele did not heed it. Finally the dishwasher began to cough and the two of them grabbed a fire extinguisher and played it on the files of the X-ray rooms.

Instead of extinguishing the blaze it seemed to make it worse. The smoke grew more dense and seemed to change. Then they fled through a window. On the strength of this testimony, chemists will be asked to ascertain if a peculiar chemical reaction of the extinguisher fluid on the films produced an unusual kind of poison gas.

Coroner Pearse said there was no evidence of criminal negligence.

Surviving doctors of the Cleveland Clinic established themselves today in temporary headquarters in an old brown-stone residence across the street from the death structure.

SURVEY OF FILM STORAGE HERE ORDERED

To prevent the likelihood of a film explosion in Los Angeles such as the one that cost 125 lives in Cleveland, Sam J. Chappell, secretary of the County Efficiency Bureau, yesterday ordered a complete survey of X-ray-film storage in county buildings.

Films similar to the ones that exploded in the Ohio city are stored in large quantities in the County Hospital, and in several other places in the county where the health department maintains branch offices, and it will be Secretary Chappell's care, he said, to detect and alleviate any dangerous condition that may exist here.

"I understand that cinema films no not give off as poisonous fumes when they burn as modern X-ray films do," said Mr. Chappell, "and besides, the motion-picture industry has developed fool-proof and comparatively safe methods of storing films.

"It is only in the X-ray laboratories of hospitals and large medical clinics that serious danger might exist. If the Cleveland explosion was caused by spontaneous combustion, independent of extraneous conditions, the danger might exist anywhere films are stored. Then only proper chemical analysis of the films themselves would be efficacious. On the other hand, if some local condition, such as an overheated pipe, caused the catastrophe, it might be prevented by adequate inspection of the premises.

"We will attempt, of course, to include, in our survey all factors comprehending potential peril in county institutions."

RESERVE BOARD MEETS

WASHINGTON, May 17. (Exclusive)—At the conclusion of the meeting of the Federal Reserve Board here today, nothing was divulged as to what transpired during the session. Gov. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, who is here, attended part of today's meeting of the board.

charge of the privileges from Madison street north to the county line, including the distribution of beer, whisky and alcohol and an overseership of gambling and other activities.

Capone's gang—although it was generally conceded that Capone personally has ceased to be a power—is said to have the "rackets" from Madison street south to the county line.

NEW GANG LEADER

Jack Gusick, long Capone's office man, is said to be slated for the job as leader of the gang, according to one report, but another had it that Johnny Torrio, who fled to New York after a taste of the Moran gang lead, had engineered the entire treaty and would once more resume leadership of the South Side gang.

All gunnings are to cease, according to the underworld report of the treaty.

In the event of any disputes, formerly settled with gun play, the arbitrator will be called in. The arbitrator's post and power, the Moran and Capone lieutenants said, will be similar to that possessed by former Judge K. M. Landis in the baseball world or Will Hays in the cinema industry.

GANGLAND ARBITRATOR

The arbitrator is said to be an outsider, a well-educated man who has the confidence of both gangs.

The police for the most part, however, scoff at the foregoing plan and there are many skeptics among the hoodlum element. The police recalled the so-called "peace treaty" drawn up at the Sherman Hotel between the Capone gang and the Weiss-Drucci-Moran gang three years ago.

All was to be sweet and peaceful, the Capone men said, and the North Siders apparently believed them. The North Siders showed their good faith by releasing their militia, with the result that when Capone's men decided the treaty had run long enough they swept the North Side gang from the field with machine guns and kept the rest on the run for several months before the North Siders were able to rally their forces and make a stand.

"It will be a war to the hilt from now on, I fear," said Deputy Commissioner Stege tonight as he voiced the years-old, but so far futile, slogan that the police will be prepared to cope with it. During the six years of warfare only two men have been convicted in connection with the 315 murders.

HEEL OF ACHILLES

While Capone is resting in his eastern cell two courses, either of which might land him in the penitentiary, are open to Federal officials here. These are:

Contempt of court proceedings charging that Capone was not as ill as he simulated when he begged an extension of time before appearing before the Federal grand jury in March. Those proceedings have been pending for more than a month, subject to call whenever the government wished; the possibility of his indictment for not paying one cent of income tax in all the years he has been in Chicago. It has been said that Al boasts that he has never even filed a schedule.

Government officials were close-mouthed when asked about the one-year prison sentence given the gangster today for gun-totting in Philadelphia.

"The sentence speaks for itself," U. S. Dist.-Atty. Johnson said, and he would go no further.

PHILADELPHIA THINKS "AL" COURTED ARREST

[Copyright, 1929, by The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 17. (Exclusive)—Did "Scarface Al" Capone, known far and wide through the United States as a king of the Chicago underworld and a leader of gunmen and bootleggers, deliberately accept a year's prison sentence from the Philadelphia courts to save himself from being shot down by rival gangsters? The Philadelphia police, through Maj. Lemuel B. Schofield, Director of Public Safety, deny this report, which is common gossip in the city's underworld.

To begin with, Capone had a hard time explaining how he happened to be caught and the crude way in which he supplied the evidence that finally landed him in prison also has created suspicion. For several days Capone and Cline were enjoying the ocean breezes at Atlantic City.

DISARMAMENT PACT

"Scarface" says that while there he met other Chicago gang rulers, among them being "Bugs" Moran, leader of the North Side gang, seven of whose men were stood up against a wall and shot to death last St. Valentine's Day. Capone says that a peace pact was signed by these various gang powers at the seashore for what might be called "limitation of armaments."

He says they all "signed on the dotted line," that they were to stop all "gun play," that no gangster hereafter was to be "taken for a ride," or otherwise "bumped off," that machine guns and other weapons of gang warfare were to be dumped in Lake Michigan and that all were to join forces in a defensive alliance against the common enemy, the police and their flock of "stool pigeons" who were suspected of informing on them.

MYSTERY ENTERS

Here Capone's narrative became slightly mystifying. He explained that "Bugs" Moran and the other leaders had started post haste for Chicago to notify their followers of the "peace pact" and to direct them to get rid of their "gats" and machine guns.

But Capone, according to his own talk, didn't hurry so much. He lingered at the seashore for a day after the others had left, then he started leisurely by motor car for Philadelphia, where he expected to take a train for Chicago. He missed one train, and while ostensibly waiting for another he and Cline went to a theater, about four miles from the railroad station.

Half an hour before train time he came out of the theater with Cline. They ran right into the arms of two detectives, Creedon and Malone. Creedon says he once saw Capone at Miami Beach, at the time of the Sharkey-Stribling fight, and he remembered the Chicago gang chief right off.

JUST LIKE THAT!

What happened then is one of the queerest episodes that has been chronicled in "racketeering" annals.

"You're Al Capone, aren't you?" said Malone.

"Yes," said Capone genially, "who are you?"

The detectives then, according to their stories, each showed Capone a police badge, "while keeping their free hands on their revolvers."

"Oh, bulls, eh?" said Capone, still smiling blandly. "All right then, here's my gun," and he handed over a 38-caliber pistol.

Cline, who was some paces behind Capone, came up and when he was assured by his chief that they were "bulls," he, too, pulled out a pistol and politely presented the weapon to the detectives. Thus the two men actually handed over voluntarily the only evidence of law-breaking that the detectives were able to show against them.

SELF-CONVICTED

Had they kept quiet and continued to conceal their guns it is doubtful whether the detectives would have taken the chance of lugging them off to cells in the City Jail.

There was a hurriedly returned indictment, charging Capone with carrying concealed deadly weapons—that is the pistol he had handed over to the detectives.

He was immediately taken into the criminal branch of the Municipal Court before Judge Walsh. A jury was drawn—and then Capone and Cline wound up the show by entering pleas of guilty before a word of evidence could be produced. Sixteen and a half hours after the notorious pair had set foot in Philadelphia they were inmates of Moyamensing prison, which from the standpoint of those who demand the finer things this life affords prboably is the most inhospitable jail on the eastern coast.

SPOILED HIS RECORD

When the sentence was imposed Capone seemed slightly upset and changed color perceptibly. But this was to be expected from a man who, until that time, had been able to boast that he never had served a minute's time in a jail. Throughout the court proceedings, Capone took everything in a rather gay-spirited way. He seemed rather to be a spectator than one of the defendants in the case.

In his talk with Director Schofield Capone said that he has been trying to get out of the "racketeering game" for more than two years, but that it has been impossible for him to cut away from his gang and the parasites who prey on gangsters, drawing money from them under threats of exposure. He admitted that he has been dodging bullets all his life and that he has constantly been in jeopardy. He also has had fears for the safety of his wife and his 11-year-old boy.

DREADS REPRISALS

He intimated that he has been in mortal dread since the slaughter of the followers of "Bugs" Moran, as it has been generally understood in Chicago police and gang circles that those murders were committed by followers of Capone.

Those who suggest Capone gave himself up find some support for their theory in a statement made by Mayor Mackey after Capone had been sent to prison. The Mayor said he believes that Capone is "glad to be in jail."

"From reports I have received," said Mackey, "Capone was really running away from a gang which was out to kill him. If he hadn't been glad to go to jail, I think he would have fought the case to the last."

SPLIT SECONDS GOVERN NOW

Shrinkage of Distance in Matter of Time is Cited by Squier

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP) a split-second world was described by Maj.-Gen. George O. Squier, retired, former chief of the Army Signal Corps, in his testimony before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

"We're living in a fourteenth of a second world," he said. "The man in the farthest corner of the earth, even in the Antipodes, never is more than that far away by radio communication from the rest of the world."

of the wind. But perhaps next year a little of it may be known and set down in prosaic words and pictures and that will be nothing like this sound in the night.

Two p.m. The wind has gone, swept on to another land or perhaps to sleep a while. It must need rest, so powerfully sometimes does it blunder and buffet. The clouds have gone and the moon is in sharp crescent against the dark velvet sky. The stars are so bright they are like tiny orbs or pure white light, except where one huge star gleams a baleful red like an eye staring through the curtain above at our lonely world.

And there above are the four bright stars of the Southern Cross, slowly through the ages moving south, that cross which last shone on Jerusalem at the time of Calvary, gleaming like four temple lamps. Stretching across the sky is the ship Argos in which Jason sought the golden fleece. That fabled ship points southward toward that pole which Dick Byrd will seek next year on silver wings, riding on a hurricane of his own making with the thunder of his passage in his ears.

Vast and silent is the night, the snow hammering gently, touched with star dust so silent it can be heard and sound comes, a chirp-chirp like the toads on a peaceful summer evening at home.

where the high wind earlier frustrated an attempted landing, pursued the wind-blown bag in motor trucks down the Rhone Valley. The French government by radio offered Dr. Eckener his choice of landing places but called his attention to the exceptional facilities here.

The dirigible still was being buffeted, now one way and now another, when five airplanes left Le Bourget Flying Field near Paris to seek her. Later a German plane piloted by a night pilot of a commercial air route, with a representative of the German Embassy as passenger, took the southward air trail. It became lost but the radio direction finder enabled it to get back on its route soon after the Zeppelin landed.

While the Zeppelin was hovering over this town, the French Air Ministry received a telegram from the management of the Zeppelin Society at Ludwigshafen saying "thanks for your good service and help during the past hours."

FIRST DANGER SIGNAL

The first danger signal came from the Zeppelin as she passed over Orange, between Avignon and Montelimar, at about 11:15 a.m. (2:15 a.m., Pacific standard time.) She was observed to be having difficulty fighting against the mistral.

Over cities and towns and over air fields, where troops stood ready to aid her landing, she battled her way as far north as the suburbs of Valence.

Here, Dr. Eckener wirelessed numerous appeals to the air-field authorities at Bron, near Lyons, for permission to land at Valence, and gave up his attempt to reach Bron.

He said the Zeppelin had suffered grave damage which threatened serious danger to the ship.

Here came the crux of her struggle with the wind.

For some time she hung over the suburbs of the town, her engines just keeping her head into the wind. A message written in German by Dr. Eckener was dropped overboard asking: "Please have the garrison at Valence designate best situated terrain for landing our dirigible."

LANDING EFFORT FAILS

Dr. Eckener made a vain effort to bring her down at the near-by air-field of Portes-Les-Valence, but the troops, waiting below to help her to safety, saw her swept off southeast toward the rocky valley of the River Drome.

The great airship rolled about as she tried vainly to shake off the steady sweep of the wind, turning east and west alternately to find an escape. From then on no messages were received from Dr. Eckener and the Graf Zeppelin failed to answer her signal calls.

Over the plain of Chabeuil, east of Valence, she hung nearly stationary for twenty minutes. But her motors gave her no headway. She gave up and turned back southward on the advice of the Le Bourget air-field authorities, who sent a wireless to Dr. Eckener advising him to try to make the Cuers landing mast.

NEW PERIL FACED

There a new danger faced her. She was drifting into a pocket of the mountains in the valley of the Drome, hemmed in by the first ramparts of the Alps.

The airship passed successively over the village of Crest and the village of Saillans, apparently trying to fly over the mountains in a straight line south of Cuers.

But she failed to gain the altitude necessary to clear the Trois-Bec range and, listing at an angle of 45 deg., shifted back west toward Montelimar, over which she passed for the second time today.

It was thought that she might try to land at the Ancone Air Field, two miles north of the city, but Dr. Eckener seemed to have confidence that his one motor would be sufficiently powerful to take the dirigible to Cuers, and went on southward.

WIND DIES DOWN

As she passed over Avignon at 6:30 p.m. (9:30 p.m., Pacific standard time,) the wind had blown itself out somewhat. Dr. Eckener still was in difficulties with navigation of the now unwieldy craft, which sometimes swung almost sideways to the wind.

But the motor still functioned and he went over the huge Puhaut Airdrome, three miles northwest of Avignon, without any signal to the waiting forces on the ground.

Then he headed on the last ninety-mile lap to Cuers, east-southeast over the low foothills of the Alpilles. In this region the force of the mistral considerably diminished. The wind which follows a regular course, year in and year out, turns east in this direction from the mouth of the Rhone and blows eastward toward the Riviera. Thus Dr. Eckener benefited by a wind astern to the very end of his flight from Valence.

ECKENER PRAISES FRENCH

"Never have I had such a difficult trip," said Dr. Eckener. He could not say enough about the landing.

"I am most satisfied with the landing which was impeccable from all points of view. The orders I gave in German were immediately translated on the ground and were carried out with really marvelous precision.

"You know the landing of a Zeppelin is always an extremely delicate operation. I have just learned that the people who came to our help had no previous experience. I would like to say how deeply grateful I am to the French Navy for the help given me."

WILKINS TELLS OF PROPHECY

Zeppelin Failure Predicted In Anonymous Note From London

CUERS (France) May 17. (Exclusive)—Sir Hubert Wilkins made known today that he had received an anonymous letter last week from a woman in London, who wrote to him that the Graf Zeppelin would not reach its goal this trip, but would be led into foreign countries.

The same woman wrote to him in October, 1925, before his first North Pole trip, saying they would lose one man who did not belong to the crew, but who was important to their venture. She went on to say that he was of small figure and dark. A year later a journalist was killed at Fairbanks, Alaska, by the propeller of Wilkins's plane before its departure for the trip over the Arctic. The journalist was a small man of dark complexion.

It is expected that the Zeppelin will remain here about a week for repairs. However, nothing certain can be decided upon until the engines are dismounted and the amount of damage ascertained. Dr. Eckener at present plans to remain here until the spare parts he has requested from Friedrichshafen arrive.

AMERICANS CHARTER PLANE FOR PARIS

MARSEILLES (France) May 18. (AP)—Three Americans who were on the Graf Zeppelin motored here early this morning and chartered an airplane to take them to Paris at daybreak.

They are George N. Crouse, Syracuse, N. Y., Alfred S. Masury, New York engineer, and Maurice Y. Nathan, New York diamond merchant. Crouse and Nathan will board the liner Aquitania for home.

Mr. Crouse said that in spite of its troubles the Zeppelin was "run just like a hotel." He is a veteran of dirigible flying, for he was a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin on its eastbound trip from New York to Germany last year.

"It wasn't a bit uncomfortable," he said, "except for a little while in the afternoon when we seemed to be drifting out of control, but as soon as the wind calmed down it was alright again although we had only one engine running. Everybody was busy all the time signing each others passports, writing letters and postcards and swapping stories.

"The only trouble was that we could not get any answers to our radio messages to the French asking about landing places."

It was explained to him that the French had been equally puzzled because they got no response to their messages sent to the Zeppelin.

"Perhaps that was because our radio was run by a fan and when we were not making much time the fan didn't run. Finally they had to set a gasoline engine working to get up power for the wireless.

"The officers did not say much during the middle of the afternoon but finally after we got word from the French where to go we had a favorable wind and the ship rolled down to Cuers easily, even if it did have only one motor. Nobody was worrying.

"The American woman, Mrs. Mary Pierce, (the only woman on the voyage) seemed to enjoy the trip a lot. So did everybody."

DIRIGIBLE EXPERT ON WAY WITH MOTORS

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) May 17. (AP)—Constructor Ludwig Duerr left late tonight for France with motors to replace those damaged on the Graf Zeppelin.

Earlier he had said that both he and the Maybach motor experts are mystified as to the cause of the accident. He does not believe it was due to overstrain.

Young to Spend Vacation Here

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young is going to spend his vacation in Southern California, he announced here today. He said he had not yet decided just where he will summer, simply saying that he is "looking around for a house."

The Governor stated that he expects to leave the capital about July 1 and remain in the south two or three months. During his vacation the Governor will give study to the complete transcript of the case of Thomas Mooney.

Official Jailed in Bank Theft

PINEBLUFF (Ark.) May 17. (AP)—Ralph R. Reed, City Attorney of Pinebluff, was arrested and placed in the County Jail today in connection with the robbery of the People's Bank and Trust Company of $20,000 on April 28, last. His bond was fixed at $25,000.

Reed is charged with being an accessory to the robbery and receiving stolen property.

YOUNG LAUDS LEGISLATURE

"Satisfied With Results," Governor Declares

Administration's Measures All Came Through

Some Appropriations May Die in Office

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (AP)—Gov. Young is "very well satisfied with the positive results" accomplished by the 1929 California Legislature, he announced today after peering contemplatively at the mass of bills passed to him for his approval or veto.

"There was hardly anything in which the administration was interested that did not come through," Gov. Young said, "and the Legislature did a very good and thorough job."

Legislation accumulated in his office will be considered systematically, according to the executive. The first measures to be disposed of are to be those bills that "are patently easy to recognize as good bills" . . . and that will mean approximately 25 per cent, according to Young.

The remaining measures will be taken in groups—bills that have to do with county government, salary increases, appropriations, judicial measures and so on until the bottom of the pile has been reached.

Neither the Governor nor any one else knows how many bills were passed to him for his consideration.

Young indicated that some of the appropriations passed by the Legislature may die in his office. "There may be some appropriations that are perfectly good and necessary that we just won't be able to afford at this time," he said.

The executive also expects very few hearings during the post-legislative session of bill-signing and stated he was urging that briefs be submitted to him "on the few controversial bills that did reach me."

Indemnity for Florida Urged

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (AP)—Florida citrus growers whose crops have been destroyed by the Mediterranean fruit fly should receive Federal indemnity for unmarketable products during the next two or three years, Gov. Young, representative bankers, agriculturists and transportation officials agreed in conference here today.

The conference was held in the Governor's office for the purpose of discussing what aid might be extended Florida in her fight against the pest.

LIVE-STOCK RATE RISE PROPOSED

Investigators Recommend Increase in Schedules to Interstate Commission

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—A revision of railroad freight rates on live stock in western territory which would involve some general but slight increases was recommended today to the Interstate Commerce Commission by agents who have completed an investigation into existing schedules.

C. E. Stiles and A. S. Parker, commission examiners, after a preliminary study suggested a series of mileage scales in western territory to govern the making of new rates and indicated the scales would increase railroad earnings. The commission assigned the report for oral argument here July 10.

"Live stock in much of the western district is not at present bearing its fair share of the transportation burden of its new scales," the report said. "Under the rate levels herein recommended it will do no more than meet these minimum requirements. Taken as rate level we believe the scales recommended will be fair, both to shippers and carriers."

STUDENTS ASK SHIELDS OUSTER

Des Moines Group Passes Resolution

Will Boycott University if He Remains

Declare Him Unworthy of Position He Holds

DES MOINES, May 17. (Exclusive)—Because they feel that Dr. T. T. Shields "is not a gentleman worthy of the position he holds," students of Des Moines University today notified the Baptist Bible Union they would not return to the school as long as he and Miss Edith Rebman remained on the board.

This action was taken at chapel this morning. The resolution, adopted by a rising vote of the students, declares their continued support of President H. C. Wayman.

The resolution, which was read by Cedric Peterson, theology student and president of the student council, says in part:

"As students of Des Moines University, we feel that Dr. Shields is not a gentleman worthy of the position he holds as an educator, due to his attitude. Therefore, as a student body we indorse this resolution:

"Be it resolved:

"That the students will not return to Des Moines University after June 4 if Dr. T. T. Shields and Miss Edith Rebman are retained on the board of trustees and will discourage the attendance of other students as long as this pair remains on the board."

The resolution sets forth the complaint of the students on the ground that their scholastic standing and that of their university has been jeopardized by the action of Dr. Shields as chairman of the board, dismissing the entire faculty.

SHIELDS BEGINS FIGHT ON INJUNCTION

BUFFALO (N. Y.) May 17. (Exclusive)—Dr. Thomas T. Shields, president of the Baptist Bible Union of North America and of the board of trustees at stormy Des Moines University, announced here today that he is launching a court fight to have the injunction which has kept the reins at the university from the hands of himself and the other trustees removed.

John W. Van Allen, Buffalo attorney, was requested by the board to obtain counsel in the Iowa city to begin the fight there.

If the injunction is removed and the trustees get in control once more, the university will not be closed, Dr. Shields said. Nor is it likely, he said, that the present faculty all will be dismissed. There however, will "be a reorganization," he said. Dr. Shields expressed the belief that the students who rioted last week had seen the folly of their ways and would contritely come back to the support of the trustees.

Dean Earl C. Calloway, of the university school of pharmacy, any Rev. Minor Stevens, who represented the faculty and the student body at the convention of the Bible Union here which closed today, returned this morning to Des Moines, declaring that the university squabble is now "hopelessly deadlocked." Dean Calloway precipitated two stormy sessions of the convention yesterday morning and afternoon when he endeavored to give the students' side of the fracas from the platform. He and Mr. Stevens held a special meeting last night at the Hotel Lourain at which they spoke on university affairs and at which a policeman was summoned to keep them from being interrupted.

A special committee of five from the board of trustees was named today at the convention to handle the affairs of the university. Dr. Shields heads the committee. Others on the body are Miss Edith M. Rebman, another storm center in the university row; Rev. E. A. Roberts of Cleveland; Rev. Owen Osdel of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Rev. H. G. Hamilton of Austin, Minn.

BIBLE-CLASS AFFAIR ENDS IN DAMAGES

Matron Sued by Wife of Man in Case Must Pay $100,000 Heart Balm

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive) The Bible-class romance of Mable Day Tompkins of New Rochelle, and Nile E. Vail of Yonkers, today brought Mrs. Elizabeth Vail a verdict of $100,000 damages against Mrs. Tompkins for the alienation of her husband's affections.

The verdict was rendered by the defendant's default, for, although Mrs. Tompkins had entered a general denial to all of Mrs. Vail's allegations, she failed to appear.

Mrs. Tompkins, Mrs. Vail charged, lured her husband from her while the couple attended Bible classes and religious services in various West Chester cities.

Many Homicides in Phoenix Area

PHOENIX, May 17. (AP)—Fourteen homicides have been committed in Phoenix and Maricopa county in the first four and a half months of this year, which is at the rate of thirty-three deaths a year, giving a rating with the ten cities having the highest homicide rates in the United States.

Ten homicides have been committed here in the last two months, seven of which were done by self-confessed killers who are being held in the Maricopa County Jail.

WEATHER BUREAU SET UP

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 17. (AP)—A Transcontinental Air Transport meteorologist has completed installation of a meteorological station here for use in furnishing weather information to planes that will be used in connection with the projected rail-air passenger service to be inaugurated between New York and the Pacific Coast.

PERU AND CHILE SETTLE DISPUTE

Old Tacna-Arica Wrangle Concluded

Hoover Announces Terms of Agreement

Bolivia Demand for Outlet to Sea Ignored

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Forty-six years of international wrangling over the South American provinces of Tacna and Arica were ended formally today by President Hoover.

He announced the agreement reached by direct negotiations between the governments of Peru and Chile to divide the territory—Chile to retain Arica and Peru to receive Tacna. The terms of the settlement will be incorporated in a treaty subject to ratification by both countries.

Peru thus will receive back the province lost to Chile in the war of the Pacific. The governments agree to erect on the promontory of Arica—El Morro de Arica—a monument to the memory of those who fell in the battle there.

BOLIVIA IGNORED

While landbound Bolivia had pressed constantly her demands for a route to the sea through the disputed territory during all of the negotiations, that country was not mentioned in the terms of the settlement. Bolivia, which was an ally of Peru in the war of the Pacific, was completely cut off from the sea after the Chilean victory in that dispute.

Immediately after today's announcement the Bolivian Legation issued a statement which said the entire question was "far from settled and it will not be unless the landlocked condition in which Bolivia had endured national life since the war of 1879 is changed."

President Hoover announced the settlement at the request of the two governments and not as arbitrator, a position he holds ex-officio.

LONG BREAK ENDED

A proposal suggesting a basis of settlement as previously agreed upon by the two governments was submitted formally to them by President Hoover on May 15 and was accepted immediately by them. The direct negotiations for a settlement were begun after the two countries at the suggestion of former Secretary Kellogg in 1928 resumed diplomatic relations after a break of seventeen years.

President Hoover while visiting South America last year, was advised of the difficulties which the two nations were having in reaching a settlement and agreed to lend all proper assistance in bringing about a final rapprochement on the question.

Under the terms of the agreement Chile will construct for Peru a port on the Bay of Arica while retaining itself the present port of Arica. Chile will pay Peru $6,000,000. Specific means for determining the boundary between the two provinces are outlined and in case of a disagreement, a third person to be appointed by President Hoover will make a final decision.

RAILWAY RETAINED

Chile will deliver to Peru without cost all public works already constructed in the ceded territory while the territory itself will be delivered to Peru within thirty days of the exchange of ratifications of the treaty. The Arica-Tacna Railroad Company will remain in the hands of the Chilean government. Private rights legally acquired in the respective territories will be reciprocally respected.

Chilean and Peruvian children born in the two provinces will retain the nationality of their parents until they are 21 years of age, at which time they may choose which nationality they desire.

Both countries agree to release reciprocally any obligations between the two countries undertaken prior to the agreement.

Liquor-Crazed Soldiers Shot

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (Exclusive)—Assertedly crazed by bootleg liquor obtained within a stone's throw of the army cantonment at the Presidio, two privates celebrating prospective discharge from service started a fight in barracks early today which ended in the death of one and the probable fatal wounding of the other. Joseph Morgan, 28 years of age, Birmingham, Ala., was killed and Harold Melin, 25, Gonzales, Cal., was shot under the heart and is expected to die. First Sergeant William Karcher was beaten unconscious in an effort to quiet the men, whereupon Private Frank S. Russo fired the shots that stopped the batle.

Col. L. L. Dietrick, commanding, said numerous complaints had been made regarding the bootlegging resorts in the neighborhood.

Part of Arizona Tax Law Illegal

PHOENIX May 17. (AP)—Declaring unconstitutional that portion of the new State tax law, House Bill 127 of the ninth regular session, which, in effect, would have wiped from tax books hundreds of thousands of dollars in delinquent taxes remaining unpaid beyond a period of five years, Atty.-Gen. Peterson today handed an opinion of the act to the State Tax Commission in accordance with the commission's request for legal interpretation on operation of certain of its sections.

CONFESSED SLAYER TO RETURN TO ARIZONA

DENVER, May 17. (AP)—Richard Burrows, 19 years of age, who confessed slaying Jack Martin, Phoenix (Ariz.) salesman April 26, is calmly awaiting the arrival of Arizona authorities who are to take him to Phoenix to face a charge of murder. The youth signed a waiver of extradition without protest. Sheriff Wright is on his way to take the young man back to Phoenix, the Denver police were informed today.

RAW HORSE EAR COSTLY MENU

Peddler Creates Real News When He Takes Bite in Live Steed

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive) — "This," declared Magistrate Dale in Brooklyn today, "is something brand new. They tell me that a man who bites a dog creates news, but you've gone him several better. Ten dollars or ten days."

Phillip Funzinello, 51-year-old peddler, pulled a bill from his pocket and handed it to the court clerk.

Mr. Funzinello had just admitted that he was guilty of cruelty to animals. This morning he bit his horse in the right ear.

CHURCH ROW BARS BORIS FROM BRIDE

Rival Creeds Can't Agree on Rules, So Marriage Plan Goes by Boards

SOFIA (Bulgaria) May 17. (AP)—From a high authority came the statement today that rules of the Bulgarian National Church and the Roman Catholic Church prevented the marriage of King Boris of this country and Princess Giovanna of Italy. This authority said that but for the attitude of the Vatican and impossibility of action by the Bulgarian church the betrothal of the royal pair would have been announced in the course of the Bulgarian national celebration Wednesday.

King Boris and King Victor Emanuel's pretty 22-year-old daughter feel a genuine affection for each other and desire very much to be married. Boris's maternal aunt, the Duchess Helen, who also is Giovanna's paternal aunt, first suggested the marriage, which was approved by Giovanna's father, Premier Mussolini, and the government.

Their ardent sponsorship of the match, which for a time seemed on the point of formal announcement, fell before insuperable religious obstacles on which neither the Vatican nor the Holy Synod felt disposed to yield. The principal difference of the two churches was the insistence of each that the children of the union be brought up in that church.

HIGH COURT JURIST ACTS IN LOCKOUT

Injunction Extended to Prevent Closing Down of New York Construction

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive) Supreme Justice Crain today continued for ten days the temporary injunction of the unions against the Building Trades Employers' Association and automatically blocked for that time the threatened lockout of 75,000 workmen.

His action was taken at the request of Corporation Counsel Hill so that the city may intervene in the legal battle to protect its $100,000,000 construction program of subways, hospitals and schools.

At the same time Justice Crain extended an offer to assist in settlement of the dispute.

"No doubt feelings will be aroused in this controversy," he said, "and no doubt both sides will feel aggrieved. If you think I can be of any assistance in adjusting the controversy in a way to preserve the rights of both sides I will be grateful."

The proposal was rejected informally by the employers. Henry French, attorney representing the association, declared that his clients will accept no compromise.

Sixth-Street Viaduct Plea Before Board

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (AP)—Permission to construct the Sixth-street viaduct in Los Angeles at an estimated cost of $2,162,000 was sought from the State Railroad Commission today in a joint application filed by the city, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad and the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Line.

The application states the city already has voted bonds to defray 75 per cent of the cost while the remaining 25 per cent will be shared equally by the two railroads.

The proposed viaduct would cross the Los Angeles River over the tracks of the two lines on the river banks.

Mexico Plans Fair Exhibits

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (AP)—Mexico plans to participate in the golden anniversary of the California State Fair opening at Sacramento next September.

Gov. Young received word from the Mexican National Department of Commerce at Mexico City that exhibits will be sent to the fair, in which several American States of the western coast are expected to take part.

DAVIS ACCEPTS POST AT MANILA

Former War Secretary to be Governor-General

Named for Island Place by President Hoover

Succeeds to Duty Vacated by Secretary Stimson

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The acceptance by Dwight F. Davis of the post of Governor-General of the Philippine Islands was announced today by Secretary Good.

The former Secretary of War was tendered the office several days ago by President Hoover. In the meantime it was announced that no other man would be considered until Mr. Davis had determined whether he would go to the islands to take over the post recently held by Secretary Stimson of the State Department.

Mr. Davis retired from the Cabinet when President Hoover assumed office. He is a Missourian and was succeeded as head of the War Department by Mr. Good, who managed Mr. Hoover's western campaign.

WIDOW OF VETERAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY

SONORA, May 17. (AP)—Mrs. Eva Brandon Rablen, 32 years of age, accused of poisoning to death her war-veteran husband Carroll at a Tuttletown dance April 27, last, pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder when she was arraigned in Superior Court today.

UNION OPPOSES RISE IN TARIFF

A.F. of L. Head Calls Sugar Schedule Vicious

Letter Read in Congress by New York Woman

California Needs to be Aired Before House Committee

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Union labor today threw its weight behind the forces opposing the increased sugar tariff as proposed in the Republican tariff bill.

In a letter read in the House by Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, Republican, New York, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declares the higher duty is "unjustifiable and indefensible," and if adopted will levy an unfair tax upon millions of workers to protect an industry hiring "women, children and Mexican labor at indecent wages and under intolerable conditions of employment."

The letter was addressed to Representative Frear of Wisconsin, Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, who had written Green calling his attention to a statement read on the floor this week by Representative Colton, Republican, Utah, purporting to be a "printed interview from you (Green) in support of the sugar schedule."

SCORED AS VICIOUS

"The sugar schedule is a vicious proposition," Frear wrote. "As I have shown in repeated speeches, and I have beet sugar mills in my district. The only hope for them is in a straight bounty."

Green replied that "No one was justified in quoting my testimony before the Senate Agriculture Committee in support of farm relief legislation as an indorsement of the sugar schedule of the pending tariff bill."

SCHEDULE DEFENDED

Mrs. Pratt did not explain how she came to read the letter into the record instead of Frear but it is interpreted as a means of expressing her opposition to the sugar tariff. It was her first statement on the floor since she came to the House.

After general debate was resumed Representative Eaton of Colorado, another new Republican member, defended the sugar schedule. He declared the Great Western Sugar Company in his State, by increasing its number of factories, has permitted farmers to withdraw thousands of acres of land from the production of crops in which an exportable surplus existed. He declared the company has not employed child or Mexican labor.

TARIFF PLEAS DUE TO BE HEARD TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 17. (Exclusive)—California agricultural products again will be brought to the attention of the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee tomorrow and Monday when Representatives Crail of Los Angeles, Free of San Jose, Englebright of Nevada City and Swing of El Centro will ask for increased duties on crude oil, prunes, dried cherries, canned tomatoes and tomato paste, grapes and avocados.

In a statement today Representative Crail explained that he does not desire a tariff on gasoline-bearing oils, but will suggest to the Ways and Means Committee tomorrow a tariff plan which would enable West Coast oil men to compete on the eastern seaboard with the imported Venezuela crude oil, of which more than 200,000,000 barrels come into this country annually. Mr. Crail's plan is to impose a duty of 50 cents a barrel on oil with a specific gravity of less than 20 deg. These grades of oil come into direct competition with West Coast oils produced as a by-products from gasoline "cracking."

FLEA ON SUGAR

Taking up another tariff matter Mr. Crail said that the first indication of the sentiment in Los Angeles on the high sugar tariff was received today in the form of a telegram from E. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, urging Mr. Crail to support the high tariff on sugar.

Although slated to appear before the committee members today Representative Free was unable to present the cases of the prune, dried cherry and tomato producers, as the time set for the conference was too short. He expects to go before the committee again either tomorrow or Monday. He will ask for a raise from 2 cents to 15 cents a pound on dried cherries; from 1-2 cent to 2 cents a pound on prunes and an increase from 25 to 60 per cent ad valorem on canned tomatoes and tomato paste.

AVOCADO QUESTION

While other members are solely interested in the Ways and Means Committee and the Tariff Commission, Representative Swing will call on the President, the Department of State and again confer with the Ways and Means Committee members to protect the avocado from Cuban competition.

The grape growers of California are dissatisfied with the present provision of the Hawley bill, and Representative Englebright has agreed to present their case to the Ways and Means Committee. He expects to make his appearance before the committee within the next forty-eight hours.

California fish canneries today received support in their drive against fish meal remaining on the free list when Representative Brand, Democrat of Georgia, appeared before the committee and stressed the need of a tariff on fish meal. Representative Crail presented the California case before the committee some days ago.

KINGS AND FRESNO RANCHERS TO PLAY

LATON, May 17.—A joint picnic of the Kings and Fresno county farm bureaus will be held here Saturday. Blackburn, vice-president of the State Federation of Farm Bureaus.

HUGE CLAIM PROSECUTED BY WARNERS

Arbitration Proceedings Over Talking Pictures Said to Involve Millions

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—The Herald Tribune tomorrow will say that a series of arbitration hearings in a controversy between the Warner Brothers Pictures Company and the Electrical Research Products, Inc., involving millions of dollars, has been going on here for several months.

The Warner company claims damages for asserted breach of contract, and asks for a ruling that the Electrical Research Products, Inc., must pay Warners 3 per cent of the gross receipts received by the Fox Film Company, Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn, United Artists, Universal and all other companies which use the talking picture processes of the Electrical Research Products, Inc.

Electrical Research is a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Its talking-picture processes include the Vitaphone and Movietone.

Warner Brothers claims that the Electrical Research Products, Inc., has violated an agreement whereby Warner Brothers was to receive 3 per cent of the gross business of users of the latter company's talking-picture system. Instead, the Electrical Research Products has been collecting royalties of $500 a reel from the makers of talking pictures. This arrangement, Warners asserts, causes them to receive millions of dollars less annually than the original arrangement provided.

The three arbitrators of the controversy are Samuel Untermyer, former Gov. Nathan L. Miller of New York, and Frank H. Hiscock, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals.

GEN. BOYD ARRESTED IN STRIKE

Tennessee National Guard Chief Accused of Aiding Murder Attempt

ELIZABETHTON (Tenn.) May 17. (AP)—Adjt.-Gen. W. C. Boyd of Tennessee was arrested here today on a warrant charging "aiding and abetting an attempt to commit murder," sworn out by Evelyn Heaton, a striking textile worker injured yesterday by an automobile that dashed through a group of picketers who blocked the road. He was released on $1000 bond.

A warrant also was issued for Joe Calhoun, driver of the car that struck Miss Heaton, and a deputy left for Jonesboro, where he was taken yesterday for safekeeping.

Calhoun was driving the car, loaded with textile operatives en route to the American Glanzstoff and American Bemberg mills, where a strike has been in progress for several weeks. Strikers charge the car rushed pickets in the road on the orders of Adjt.-Gen. Boyd. Miss Heaton was seriously hurt and three other workers were treated for injuries.

In swearing out the warrant for the arrest of the Adjutant-General and Calhoun before Magistrate Ryan, the girl declared a national guardsman with fixed bayonet sat astride the radiator as it plunged through the pickets.

The Adjutant-General said he ordered the way cleared so the car could proceed to the textile plants, where the passengers were to begin their work.

SAN QUENTIN MILL TO BE MODERNIZED

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (Exclusive)—Plans for modernizing the jute mill at San Quentin prison so that the penitentiary can compete with outside firms in the manufacture of grain bags, were revealed today with the announcement that an order has been placed with a Scotch company for new machinery. The State will purchase fourteen spinning frames, twenty looms, one circular waste breaker, and a twisting frame with 100 spindles. According to J. F. Misspley, State Purchasing Department, the new machinery will greatly reduce the cost of jute bags.

GASOLINE-PRICE WAR RESUMED IN DENVER

DENVER, May 17. (Exclusive)—Gasoline war has broken out here again and leading companies, including the Continental Oil Company and the Texas Company, reduced retail prices 2 cents a gallon to 20 cents, which includes a 4-cent State tax. The price was caused by independent dealers failing to live up to a gentleman's agreement made several weeks ago to keep prices on a parity with large companies.

KANSAS CITY POLICE JOB OFFERED VOLLMER

BERKELEY, May 17. (Exclusive) Chief of Police Vollmer, reorganizer of several police departments throughout the United States, including Los Angeles, was asked today to take personal charge of the reorganization of the Kansas City department. Chief Vollmer said he will accept if he can do the work while en route to Chicago to take charge of a course of criminology at the University of Chicago, beginning next October.

WIFE OF YOUNG'S AIDE FINED FOR SPEEDING

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Keith Carlin, wife of Gov. Young's executive secretary, today was fined $20 for speeding. She pleaded guilty to a traffic officer's complaint that she was driving her automobile at a rate of forty miles on hour in a residential district. Mrs. Carlin at first pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Later she changed her mind.

RESERVE BANKS AGAIN REBUFFED

Higher Rediscount Rate for Two of Them Denied

Board Rejects Chicago and New York Appeal

San Francisco, Though, Gets Rise to 5 Per Cent

CHICAGO, May 17. (Exclusive)—The directors of the New York and Chicago Federal Reserve banks, the two largest institutions in the reserve system, received another rebuff from the Reserve Board today. The directors of the Chicago bank at their regular Friday meeting approved an advance in the rediscount rate from 5 to 6 per cent and requested authority of the Reserve Board to make the change. Similar action was taken by the directors of the New York bank on Thursday.

The requests were presented at a meeting of the Reserve Board in Washington today but in neither case was the sanction of the board for an advance in rate forthcoming.

FORMER REBUFFS

Both banks have made similar requests several times in the last two or three months, but always have been turned down. The Boston and Philadelphia banks also have made similar requests with similar results.

However, the Reserve Board authorized the San Francisco reserve bank to increase its rediscount rate from 4½ to 5 per cent, thus bringing its rate up to the level maintained by the eleven other reserve institutions.

"It is the old story of a difference of opinion between the directors of the large reserve banks and the members of the reserve board," a Chicago banker commented. "The Reserve Board desires to restrain the use of credit in stock market speculation. We are in sympathy with that policy. But the reserve board does not want to lessen the temptation toward borrowing by imposing higher rediscount rates. It seems to believe that money can be kept high for speculation and low for business.

PREFERENTIAL RATES

"It is true that the banks are trying to make preferential rates for business, but it also is true that every sort of rate in the open money market is well above the level of rediscount rates. It is accepted theory that rediscount rates should be on practically the same level or even slightly higher than open money market rates. If this theory had been put into practice, there would not be the degree of stock market inflation that now exists.

"The attitude of the reserve board is that an increase in rediscount rates would hurt business, but bankers do not believe it would have any serious effect, inasmuch as business already is paying higher interest rates than the rediscount rate and there is the minimum requirement for commercial credit during the summer. But the Chicago and New York directors believe now is the time to impose higher rates, check the use of credit in speculation, reduce the borrowings of the member banks at the reserve banks and so assemble reserve credit for normal business expansion next autumn. Then the rediscount rate could be lowered, if necessary and advisable."

MAN POSING AS BROTHER BILKS AUNT

Penitentiary Term Given St. Louisan Who Defrauds Los Angeles Woman

KANSAS CITY, May 17. (AP)—Edward Huhn, 21 years of age, today was sentenced to two years in the State penitentiary when he confessed he had obtained $50 from an aunt in Los Angeles by posing as his own brother, Eugene Huhn of St. Louis.

About a week ago Huhn, with his young wife, came here from St. Louis. When finances became low he telegraphed the aunt for money, signing his brother's name. Fifty dollars was sent in response.

He attempted the deception again and was arrested yesterday when he appeared at a telegraph office seeking response to a later wire. His family had discovered the ruse.

FOUR HURT WHEN WIND HITS TEXAS

Damage of $100,000 Done as Rain and Hail Also Strike Northwest Towns

WICHITA FALLS (Tex.) May 17. (AP)—Reports to the Wichita Falls Record-News tonight said four persons were injured and property damage exceeding $100,000 was caused by a high wind, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, that struck six Northwest Texas towns, Electra, Dundee, Clara, Petrolia, Byers and Burkburnett, late today.

At Dundee three persons were seriously hurt, William Sanders in the collapse of his grocery store, William Miller by flying debris, and Mrs. C. H. McDaniel in the collapse of the porch of her home.

Agnes Howard, 15 years of age, who attempted to flee the high school building at Clara while the wind was raging, is the other victim. She was struck by a beam hurtled from the roof of a near-by ward school building. Just before the storm struck the school principal had sent all his pupils to the high school structure to take refuge in the basement. The building they vacated was unroofed.

EXPERTS UNABLE TO AGREE

Reparations Conference Fails to Find Method of Dealing With Reservations

PARIS, May 17. (AP)—Representatives of the creditor nations at the reparations conference had difficulty today in agreeing on a method for dealing with the German conditions on acceptance of the reparations settlement proposed by Owen D. Young.

After having discussed them together for three and one-half hours today, as well as four hours yesterday and many hours of study by individual delegations, they adjourned discussion on the subject until tomorrow morning.

Conversation among the experts today dwelt on the three German reservations without bringing about an agreement as to any of them. Their decision involves legal interpretations that require careful study, so that there is little prospect for finishing consideration of the conditions this week.

After a brief session tomorrow, the committee will adjourn until Monday afternoon. It is expected that a prompt decision will be demanded then, in view of the temper of the experts, who are tired of talking. Everyone connected with the conference is tired of the long, involved contentions that make up its work.

HOME BREW LID GOES ON IN OCTOBER

Hops and Malt Syrups Makers Announce Plan to Discontinue Sales

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 17. (AP)—Information received here today by a wholesale grocery company from a San Francisco company, said to be one of the largest purveyors and manufacturers of hops and malt syrups in the West, indicates that the manufacture of malt syrup will cease shortly. This decision was reached, it is said, at a recent meeting between government officials and heads of the larger concerns making the syrups for home-brewing purposes.

According to the letter received by the local concern, sixty to ninety days grace will be given manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers to get rid of stocks of malt syrups on hand.

Any remaining stock will be withdrawn from the market October 1, the letter stated.

Jury Decrees Death Penalty for Murderer

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) May 17. (AP) After only twenty-five minutes' deliberation a jury tonight returned a verdict of guilty and recommended the death penalty for Charles Foster of Claysville, Pa., for the slaying of Martin Parko of St. Louis, Mo., last February.

In a signed confession which was read into the court record, Foster told of shooting Parko as he slept in his car near Benson, Ariz., after the St. Louis man had given him a "lift" in his automobile. Foster later denied the confession.

FLORIDA GROCER LYNCHED

Victim's Wife Also Dies as Result of Battle in Which Police Chief is Shot

LAKE CITY (Fla.) May 17. (AP)—N. G. Romey, a grocer, was taken from the jail here by a mob early today and lynched. His body was found by a farmer two miles south of here. The man was arrested last night after an altercation with police during which Chief of Police John F. Baker was wounded and Mrs. Romey was wounded fatally.

Romey's body, containing many bullet wounds, was found sitting upright in a ditch on the Columbia road

Romey's trouble with the authorities started yesterday when Chief of Police Baker told him that he would have to clean up some rubbish in front of his store. Romey finally agreed to take some of his produce in boxes on the sidewalk inside his store.

Shortly afterward, according to Judge Guy Gillem, Romey telephoned Chief Baker and told him he had placed the produce back on the sidewalk and for the officer to "come back and try to make me move it again."

Baker returned to the store and another argument ensued. Mrs. Romey, who joined in the altercation, is said to have procured a pistol and fired three shots at Baker, one of which broke the officer's shoulder blade.

Chief Baker then opened fire on the woman, wounding her five times. She died in a hospital about midnight. Romey was arrested and placed in jail.

Sheriff (Babe) Douglas said a mob forced the lock and bars on Romey's cell. Romey formerly lived at Valdosta, Ga. He went to Florida three years ago after having been flogged by a band of masked men near Valdosta.

UTILITY PAPER BACKING DENIED

Alabama Publisher Tells Sponsor at Inquiry

Power Concern's Cash Not in Deal, He Says

Federal Commission Hears of Boston Bids

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Formal denial that utilities interests had invested in his newspaper, the Mobile Press, was given in the Federal Trade Commission's inquiry into reports that power interests were financing Alabama newspapers today by R. B. Chandler, who founded the press a month ago and is its publisher.

The publisher said charges connecting his newspaper particularly with the Alabama Power Company had not been mentioned except by the Frederick I. Thompson group of papers in the State, which he asserted wished to monopolize the field.

Another witness, Charles O'Malley, a Boston advertising man, contradicted testimony offered yesterday by Richard Grozier, editor and publisher of the Boston Post, that he had offered $20,000,000 in cash for the purchase of that newspaper on behalf of the Insull power interests. He added, however, that he had represented two New York stock brokers in unsuccessful negotiations to buy either the Post or the Boston Globe at that figure.

Spectacular May Festivals Staged at Two Schools

Hundreds of Students Participate in Azusa and Inglewood Pageantry

At the left is Miss Frances Ferrier, Queen of Hearts, in a May celebration at Inglewood High School in which nearly 1000 girls participated; at the right, is Miss Madelyn Baker, King of Hearts in the same event; center, shows Cathryn Calvert, Queen of the annual May Festival at Azusa, in which more than 1200 intermediate school pupils participated, on her throne, with representatives of many nationalities grouped below her. America as the world melting pot was the theme of this pageant.

MELTING POT DEPICTED BY YOUNGSTERS

Azusa School Children Portray All Nations in Annual May Festival

AZUSA, May 17.—As Queen of the May Festival, Miss Cathryn Calvert, native daughter, reigned amid pomp and splendor today at the seventh annual Maytime event sponsored by the Intermediate School here. The campus of the school served as a setting for the festival, in which more than 1200 grammar school children participated.

The program featured a "Pageant of the Nations," which was produced by faculty members with Supt. Charles C. Carpenter as general director.

The United States, represented as the great melting pot of the nations, where nationalities congregate and merge as one, was the theme of the pageant. The huge melting pot centered the athletic field, and served as the background for Lady Columbia's throne. Lady Columbia was ably characterized by Miss Calvert, whose attendants in Colonial costumes, represented the thirteen original colonies.

One by one, sixteen different nationalities appeared in Lady Columbia's court, and finally disappeared into the melting pot.

Drills and music of the Intermediate School Band proved an important feature of the festival and a model airplane contest which preceded the pageant displayed the skill of twelve young aviation enthusiasts with Paul Winchester as the winner, by flying his ship 147 feet.

It was estimated that approximately 5000 people witnessed the spectacle. The costumes were colorful and authentic as to characterization, and the children were well trained.

The pageant was written by the faculty of local schools in 1926 and was first presented in the spring of that year. However, the story was revamped by the present faculty for presentation this year.

CYPRESS SIDEWALK BIDS DUE JUNE 11

CYPRESS, May 16.—Bids will be opened by the County Supervisors on June 11 in connection with the estimated $8000 contract for sidewalks and curbs on Lincoln Boulevard through this city, the board decided yesterday in approving plans for the work. The proposed improvement will extend a half-mile from the Pacific Electric Railroad to a point beyond Cypress School. It will establish Lincoln Boulevard as a highway fifty-six feet in width, at that point.

LIONS WILL AID FARMERS

Resolutions Presented to Long Beach Gathering; Carpinteria Wins in Stunt Contests

LONG BEACH, May 17. (AP)—Resolutions pledging the Fourth District of Lions International to aid in agricultural and philanthropical projects were presented today at the tenth annual convention in session here.

The major proposals in a list of resolutions were the assurance of aid from Lions' clubs to the Department of Agriculture in the eradication and control of the Mediterranean fruit fly, destroyer of citrus growths; setting aside of Lincoln's birthday in observance of the attainment by minors of their majority and the naturalization of aliens, and recommendation of financial appropriations by district clubs for Lions' International juvenile Braille project for the blind.

The Braille project would provide free distribution of raised-type magazines among blind children. All of the resolutions were taken under consideration and will be voted on by the convention tomorrow.

Election of a district governor and selection of the 1930 convention city will be made at the closing session tomorrow.

In a series of stunt contests at a convention entertainment last night, Carpenteria was awarded first place. Second and third places went to clubs at Whittier and Anaheim, respectively.

R. B. Langdon of Stockton, was elected president of the Lions' Officers' Association, Charles Pope of Oxnard, vice-president, and Col. C. C. Jenkins of Manhattan Beach, secretary.

Flint Estate Changes Hands

PASADENA May 17.—J. E. Jones, an official of the Rio Grande Oil Company, has purchased the beautiful estate of the late Senator Frank P. Flint, it was announced today by Shanks & Lawrence agents. The price for the Flintridge residence and acreage is asserted to have been approximately $185,000.

Storage companies were busy today removing the Flint family's personal effects. Mrs. Flint, widow of Senator Flint, is living at the home of a daughter on Flintridge Drive.

The deal included the entire sixteen-acre estate, including prize pigeons, turkeys and livestock. Senator Flint, former United States Senator and community builder, died at sea several months ago.

Blaze Imperils Business Area

POMONA, May 17.—Prompt action by the fire department today averted a disastrous fire in the heart of the business section, when spontaneous combustion, according to Chief J. O. Shewman, started a fire in the tailor shop of M. Feldman, in the State Bank building at the corner of Second street and Garey avenue.

The fire was discovered by Feldman, who was sleeping in an adjoining room. The firemen found the interior of the shop a mass of flames. Water damage was averted through the use of canvas spread over merchandise in stores on the lower floor, damage to the tailor shop being nominal.

GARDEN GROVE BOND VOTE SET ON JUNE 10

GARDEN GROVE, May 17. — At a meeting of the Garden Grove grammar school board, in the home of Mrs. W. T. Kirvin last night, a $35,000 school bond election was set for June 10, next. The bonds are planned for the erection of a school for Mexican pupils at the corner of Seventeenth street and Garden Grove Road. The polling place, the Washington school, will be opened from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Vets Sponsor Baby Contest

SANTA ANA, May 17. — With about 260 babies registered in the Better Baby Show sponsored by the Orange county 40 and 8, in connection with its benefit drive for underprivileged children of the county, the quota of entries is expected to be reached within the next few days, headquarters announced today. The quota is set at 3000.

Mothers of the youngsters entered will be notified by mail next week regarding the time set for each baby to be examined. An appointment will be made for each child, to avoid congestion in conducting the examinations, it is said.

Any baby in the county under 3 years of age may be entered in the show by communicating with Legion Hall headquarters here, either by mail, telephone or in person.

PRISONER DEPARTS WHILE WIFE WEEPS

GENDALE, May 17.—Leaving his pretty young wife in tears, Frank Leon Jackson, bandmaster and salesman, today started back to Paragould, Ark., in custody of two officers, to face charges of grand larceny. Jackson bade his wife good-by in the detective bureau a few minutes before he took his seat in an automobile with Sheriff B. L. Waldrun and Deputy Sheriff Rogers of Green county, Arkansas, for the overland trip. Jackson was arrested here on a telegraphic warrant and has been held for the Arkansas officers, refusing to return unless extradited.

AGED MONROVIAN TAKEN BY DEATH

MONROVIA, May 17.—Death claimed Albert McCormick, 90 years of age, yesterday at the home of his son, C. W. McCormick, 227 West Lemon avenue. He was born September 10 1838 in Allegheny Pa., and came to Monrovia seventeen years ago. He leaves besides his son, two grandsons, Albert and Charles McCormick of Monrivia. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m. from the Burns-Temple funeral chapel. Rev. Fletcher G. Watson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be private.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS HEAVY

Export Consignments Show Demand for California Fruit Has Been Created in Many Lands

SANTA ANA, May 17.—All records for export shipments of citrus fruits are being broken this season, it is reported today by J. A. Steward, general sales manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors.

Virtually all of the M.O.D. packing houses in Orange county have been participating in these shipments of Valencias, and orders already on hand, with cargo space booked, indicate that the record-breaking shipments will continue throughout the season.

Since the opening of the navel season and so far into the Valencia season, 145,918 boxes of fruit, or 385 carloads have gone. Orders now on hand in the Redlands headquarters of the distributors are for an additional 160,000 boxes, or 400 carloads. These orders are being added to each week. The distributors will have shipped 875 or 900 carloads before the end of the present, Valencia season, Steward estimates.

Another new factor in the foreign sales is that of a wider distribution than has ever before been made. In previous years the exporting has been principally to the United Kingdom, but now the California citrus fruits are going also into Norway, Sweden, France, Greece, Germany, Denmark and Finland. One early season shipment of grapefruit went to South America.

As evidence of the increased distribution of M.O.D. fruit abroad, Steward points out that so far this season the shipments on export are about at the total of those for 1926-27, the previous largest season.

GIRLS GIVE PAGEANT AT INGLEWOOD

May Celebration Given as Entertainment for Mothers of Maidens

INGLEWOOD, May 17.—With every month in the calendar portrayed in Terpsichorean measures, nearly 1000 girl students of Inglewood Union High School appeared in spectacular dances and drills on the campus this afternoon in the annual May Day celebration in honor of their mothers.

Frances Ferrier, the senior girl elected by popular vote of the senior girls, presided as Queen of the May, over what was declared to be the most beautiful, unique and varied display in the long history of similar productions here. Madeline Baker, prime minister of the May Queen, with her monarch on the impressive throne, presented another vivid picture of youth and charm.

Among the more unusual and striking costume dances, characteristic of the month portrayed, was that of January, this being a group of skaters in appropriate garb, while the end of the year, December, was designated by a dance around a towering Christmas tree.

The tennis players, another kind of "racketeers," was the striking portrayal for August, while February, the month of valentines, gave opportunity for variety and beauty in the living and pulsing Valentines in graceful evolutions.

To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," June, the wedding month dance, began, the music changing into "The Wedding of the Painted Doll."

Other dances included an array of Easter bunnies for April, May baskets for May, a rollicking lilting array of Irish colleens for March, a group of lively "fire crackers" for July, "Three Little Girls from School," multiplied many times, however, for September, gloomily gowned but spryly moving witches for October and pumpkin-faced Jack o' Lanterns for November.

The dances were preceded by a pompom drill in which the hundreds of girls were handled in maneuvers with the precision of veteran troops by Miss Mildred, head of the department of girls' physical education and her corps of assistants.

PIONEER VENTURA WOMAN SUCCUMBS

VENTURA, May 17.—Mrs. Cordelia Boling, 92 years of age, a resident of this city fifty-four years, died last night at her home here. Mrs. Boling was born Cordelia Merry, at Muscatine, Iowa, in 1838. Her father was Charles Merry of England and her mother was Caroline Robbie of New York. She married Wesley Boling. He died here some years ago, at the age of 85 years. He is well remembered by the pioneers of the section, as a justice of the peace in this township for many years; also, he will be recalled as having conducted one of the earliest of the oil refineries in the county near the beach on the ocean front here. Mrs. Boling leaves a son, Owen Boling, and a daughter, Laura Boling, both of this city. Funeral services will be held Monday morning.

GRAIN GROWERS TO STUDY EXPERIMENTS

CORCORAN, May 17.—A grain growers' field day is to be held Tuesday at the El Rico ranch in the Tulare Lake Basin. Experimental grain plots, cultivated by Farm Adviser Wallace Sullivan to determine varieties best suited to climate and soil in the lake district, will be inspected. This is the third year that these experiments have been carried on.

JURY DEMANDS RESTITUTION

Imperial Sheriff Receives Claim From Officials

Audit of Books Said to Have Shown $19,355 Shortage

Action Sequel to Charges Filed Year Ago

EL CENTRO, May 17.—Basing their claim on shortages said to have been disclosed in the Sheriff's office here during an audit made by the 1928 grand jury, Ben Hulse, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, and County Treasurer J. M. Adair today made formal demand on Sheriff Charles L. Gillett for the recovery of $19,355.81 in behalf of Imperial county.

According to the demand, which was prepared by the District Attorney's office, the claim represents money which Gillett collected for the feeding and bedding of Federal prisoners housed in the local jail between January 3, 1923, and July 15, 1928. The claim also includes bail and fine money, duplication of expense accounts and the feeding of municipal prisoners for the city of El Centro and other valley towns.

STATE LAW CITED

Gillett's asserted failure to turn this money into the county treasury, according to the demand, is a violation of State law.

The various shortages cited include $6682 for feeding of United States Immigration Department prisoners; $8344.60 for United States Department of Justice prisoners; $2156 for bail and fine money not accounted for, and minor items for municipal prisoners and duplicated expense accounts.

Today's action comes as the sequel to criminal action started against Gillett in May, 1928, when the county grand jury filed three indictments and an accusation against the Sheriff, including 272 counts involving fraud, theft and malfeasance. When the original case came to trial Superior Judge A. C. Finney sustained demurrers offered by defense counsel and ordered the indictments returned to the 1929 grand jury, which had been impaneled in the meantime.

JUDGE SETS ACTION

Three weeks ago Judge Finney called the jury into his courtroom and instructed it to dispose of the Gillett case, either by the return of the new indictments or by dropping the matter.

Gillett intimated today that he did not intend to comply with the demand.

"In the handling of Federal prisoners' meals I have merely followed the procedure which was adopted many years ago when Imperial county was first organized," he said. "And the same system is being used in 50 per cent of the counties in California today."

Flyers Observe War Traditions

LONG BEACH, May 17.—Aviation traditions of the World War were revived today by ceremonies in which Navy Reserve flyers and American civilian flyers, many of whom obtained their training in 1917 and 1918, flew in formation above the funeral of Bernhard Lauscher, former German ace, who was killed recently in a crash near Randsburg.

Max Grah, German Consul at Los Angeles, and a delegation of officials of German chambers of commerce, who are touring California, represented the Fatherland at the funeral services. Dr. Charles F. Ensign officiated at services held at the J. J. Mottell chapel.

COVINA WOMAN HURT IN CONEJO MISHAP

VENTURA, May 17.—Mrs. Anita Swain, 43 years of age, proprietor of the Ellen Hotel in Covina, was brought to the Big Sisters' Hospital this morning after the light coupe in which she was driving down the Conejo Grade had turned over and plunged down the embankment. She was found by passers-by. She suffered an injured chest, cut on one leg and possible injury to her back. Mrs. Swain said her car got up more momentum than she realized. When she applied the brakes the machine skidded on the slippery pavement and turned over, going down the embankment. Mrs. Swain's address is given as 225 Citrus avenue, Covina. She was en route to Santa Barbara.

FOUNDER OF MILLING PLANT DIES

Byron Lisk, Formerly of Pasadena, Succumbs on His San Dimas Ranch

PASADENA, May 17. — Byron Lisk, founder of the Pasadena Milling Company, died today in a Pomona hospital of pneumonia following a long period of ill health. He was 79 years of age, and for seven years had lived at his San Dimas ranch. Before moving to San Dimas, he had been a local resident for thirty years.

Lisk came here from Illinois and established his flour-milling company at Del Mar street and Raymond avenue. He sold his interest in the concern when he moved to San Dimas.

He leaves eight sons and daughters: Anson Lisk of Beverly Hills, George Lisk and Mrs. J. C. Cook, both of this city; Mrs. R. L. Keller and Mrs. W. E. Landon, both of San Dimas; Miss Alice Lacey and Mrs. Bert Nettleton, both of Berkeley, and Mrs. E. S. Turner of Colorado.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the Turner & Stevens chapel. Entombment will follow at Mountain View Cemetery.

TWO GIRLS KILLED ON CROSSING

Mother Critically Hurt as Train Wrecks Machine in Anaheim

ANAHEIM, May 17.—Two little girls were fatally injured and their mother, Mrs. N. L. Anderson of 604 North Lemon street, here, was seriously injured and mangled shortly after 5 p.m. today when their machine was struck by Santa Fe Train No. 73, Los Angeles-bound, at the East North-street crossing.

Marjorie Anderson, 4 years of age, died a few minutes after she was taken to the Anaheim Sanatorium, and her sister, Norberta, 7, who sustained a compound skull fracture, died two hours later.

Mrs. Anderson's right arm was severed, the left one broken and she suffered severe cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. H. Ramsey of North Sabina street and her small daughter, who were riding with Mrs. Anderson, saw the impending crash and leaped to safety. Mrs. Ramsey and Mrs. Anderson are sisters.

Second Large Class to Leave Covina School

COVINA, May 17—Ranking as the second largest year in the history of the high school here, ninety-four students will be graduated this year, Ben S. Millikan, superintendent, announced today. Last year reached the peak when ninety-eight seniors were awarded diplomas.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts will address the seniors at commencement exercises on June 14, and Dr. F. J. Kline, of the school board, will present the diplomas. The exercises will be held on the front steps of the high school building at 5 p.m., following a custom of the school.

Baccaloureate services will be held on June 9, in the high school auditorium, when Rev. Arthur E. Wake, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the sermon to the graduating class.

Events leading up to commencement include the senior dinner dance to be held at the Mountain Meadows Country Club on the 24th inst. The Junior-Senior prom is scheduled for June 8, in the new gymnasium, and the program, elaborate in detail, will feature special entertainment.

NAVEL SHIPPING ENDS

CLAREMONT, May 17. — The Mutual Orange Distributors' house here today shipped its last car of navels. Packing has been completed and the house will close pending the packing of the Valencia crop. Other local houses are expected to close their navel season before the end of this month.

FISHERMAN FALLS DEAD

LONG BEACH, May 17.—Edmund J. Miller, 75 years of age, father of Lieut. Charles E. Miller of the fire department, dropped dead on the Pine-avenue pier today while fishing. Death was due to a heart attack.

COAST ROAD FETE PLANNED

Santa Monica and Oxnard Chambers Prepare for Roosevelt Highway Opening Next Month

SANTA MONICA, May 17.—Los Angeles and Ventura county will join hands over the new Roosevelt coast highway in a three-day celebration starting June 21, next, arranged yesterday at a meeting between twenty-one members of the Oxnard Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Monica-Ocean Park chamber, held in the Miramar Hotel.

The opening of the highway through the Malibu, linking these two cities by a scenic route destined to attract enormous patronage by motorists between the northern and southern ends of the State, is a nationally-important event in highway development, according to speakers at the meeting. The principal events on the program will take place on Saturday, June 22, according to present arrangements, when Gov. Young will unlock the barrier that has held up coastal traffic during the long construction period.

Members of the local Realty Board joined in the gathering, and the Oxnard chamberites were headed by Eugene H. Agee, president, and Jack Miller, secretary.

The Oxnard delegation came in a bus over the new route, one of the cars of a company which has applied for a transport franchise. President Agee invited Santa Monica citizens to participate in the ceremonies and be Oxnard's guests at an old-time Spanish barbecue on the county line. A huge arch is to be erected over the highway for the ceremonies, and the opening caravan, headed by the Governor, will pass through the arch and officially lead the procession to Oxnard. Mayor Ed Gill of Oxnard and Herman Michel of Santa Monica, and the Mayors of four other Ventura county cities, will participate. President Bundy, of the local chamber, promised full co-operation in arranging the big event. Cities of both counties will be decorated and offer special events.

TRYON ASSIGNED NEXT VEHICLE

William Haines and Cast Travel to Races

Seiter Retained to Direct Colleen Moore

Esther Ralston Featured in Musicals

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

So sure is Universal of the triumph of Glenn Tryon as star of "Broadway," just completed with Paul Fejos directing, that it is handing Tryon another of its very best stories.

"Barnum Was Right," from the successful stage comedy by Philip Bartholomae and Hutchinson Boyd, has been purchased especially for Tryon, and will be made by him very soon. In the meantime, "Broadway" is being cut and previewed and otherwise prepared for an early showing.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., is to supervise the making of "Barnum Was Right," but so far no director has been chosen.

"Speedway" Troupe Off

ANITA PAGE

Anita Page will be Haines's leading lady. She will play an aviatrix, and to that end has been studying the control of an airplane.

Karl Dane, Ernest Torrence and John Miljan are the other three principals who will support the star.

Byron Morgan, who, you remember, used to pen such fascinating automobile stories for Wallace Reid, wrote "Speedway," which is a story of automobile racing, touched up, for good measure, with a bit of aviation.

Following the work at Indianapolis, the company will return to the studios, where the interiors and details of the picture will be filmed. The company expects to be gone about four weeks.

William Seiter Directs Colleen

After screening of Colleen Moore's first talking picture, "Smiling Irish Eyes," John McCormick picked up the long-distance telephone and called the director, William A. Seiter, who is in New York, asking him to return in time to direct Colleen's next picture, "Footlights and Fools," which will be another all-talking production.

Within two weeks Seiter will be on his return trip, cutting short his first vacation in more than a year in order to direct Colleen for the fifth time.

The director won a contract at First National through his direction of "Happiness Ahead." His direction of "Smiling Irish Eyes" is said to have resulted in a most entertaining picture.

"Footlights and Fools" was written by Katherine Brush, and Carey Wilson prepared the adaptation.

Esther Ralston Powell's Lead

Beautiful Esther Ralston is, we hear, to be featured hereafter in a number of musical revues and musical comedies to be produced by Paramount. Miss Ralston was trained as a child in the dancing profession, coming, as she did, from a theatrical family.

ESTHER RALSTON

In the meantime, her newest assignment is as leading lady to William Powell in Powell's first starring vehicle, "Pointed Toes," shortly to go into production. This is a story of backstage life, and in it Miss Ralston is to appear as a dancer.

Edward Sutherland is to direct the production, work on which is to begin within a week or two.

Laemmle's Big Cast

Edward Laemmle was just bound not to start "The Drake Murder Case," his next Universal picture, which is to be a talker, and which also will have color sequences, until he had rounded up the best cast available. He now has accomplished this feat, and is willing to let the world in on it.

GLADYS BROCKWELL

Gladys Brockwell, Forrest Stanley, Robert Frazer, Barbara Leonard, James Crane, Byron Douglas, Eddie Hearn and Doris Lloyd all have featured roles, while there are a few minor roles still to be filled.

Charles Logue wrote "The Drake Murder Case," and collaborated with J. G. Hawks in the writing of the dialogue and continuity.

Dolores Goes to New Orleans

Dolores Del Rio is to go to New Orleans on June 20, to be present at the opening there of her latest picture, "Evangeline."

The star made many of the scenes of the picture, under direction of Edwin Carewe, in and around New Orleans.

Southern Girl With Paramount

Having received her sheepskin from high school, Ada Williams, southern girl, who three months ago abandoned the screen to complete her education, was yesterday given her diploma, and now feels free to take a whirl at the screen again. She is to appear in Charles Rogers's starring vehicle, "Magnolia."

LONSDALE SPANKS CASTE BRITISHER

Skillful Comedy at Pasadena is Admirably Staged; "High Road" Troupe Good

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Decadent aristocracy—the inner circle of a society decidedly British and decidedly provincial in feeling—influencing the scene of the casually sophisticated comedy, "The High Road," from the pen of Frederick Lonsdale, is now being given a highly interesting and deftly considered production at Pasadena Community Playhouse.

Mr. Lonsdale seeks invariably to uncover the weary vice, the inevitable duplicity and subterfuge of an effete civilization, and really takes rather a nasty fling at the high caste Britisher as represented by Lord Trench, who reflects with meticulous clarity the world he lives in when he observes testily why he doesn't treat "her" like a gentleman. He wants to marry her.

A firm believer with Kipling that "the colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady" are one and the same, as in "Aren't We All" and "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," Mr. Lonsdale manages to prove his premise. With the dexterity and skill of his penetrating and ironic pen, he inserts a high note of beauty and radiance which quite transcends the business of this decidedly worldly old world which he chooses to picture.

The play has been admirably staged and the one setting leaves nothing to be desired as to accuracy and atmosphere. The lines are sparkling and the repartee is smartly witty as well as wise, and the company assembled give excellent account of themselves.

As the gouty and choleric Lord Trench, William Stack, a recruit from the English stage, contributed a colorful and convincing bit of portraiture. Restraint and finesse were marked. Gypsy O'Brien who came out here from New York with "Is Zat So?" acquitted herself well in the part of Elsie Hilary, the girl actress, who wins the love of two titled gentlemen with apparently no trouble at all. As Alex, a charming young woman burdened with a ponentity of a Kathryn Prather was delightfully pretty and winsome. Sam Hinds can invariably be depended upon, and he gave an interestingly individual and well modulated performance as the Duke of Warrington. Joseph Sauers as the Cockney father managed good comedy and a bucolic aspect.

Writing Brains Collected Here, Duffy Declares

Henry Duffy believes that Hollywood has captured "all the playwrights."

"When I first came to the Pacific Coast," says the actor-producer, "all the playwrights were in New York. If you wanted to get in touch with them direct it was necessary to telephone clear across the continent. Now it is possible to reach them within easy distance of our theaters.

"For instance, we are giving 'This Thing Called Love' at the Hollywood Playhouse. Edwin Burke, the author, is writing for the Fox company here. At El Capitan we are presenting 'Burlesque,' and George Manker Watters is also here writing stories. George Middleton, another playwright, is supervising screen stories here. (We are presenting his latest comedy, 'The Big Pond,' in San Francisco.)

"Beginning the 26th inst., we will present Tom Beery's new comedy, 'Danger,' at the Hollywood Playhouse. Barry is also at the Fox Studios.

"Aurania Rouverol, author of 'Skidding' which we are offering at the President, is living in Pasadena.

"At the present time there are more playwrights on the west coast than on Broadway, and others are arriving on each train."

Sweet Concord is Restored by Alan Crosland

There is one director in Hollywood who has solved the problem of cooperation among his staffs, and that man is Alan Crosland.

While shooting "On With the Show," the first all-color, all-talking picture, due Monday at the Warner Theater, Crosland found it necessary to utilize three staffs—the camera crew, the members engaged in the process of recording, and the color experts. The director discovered that there was considerable friction among them.

He hit upon a plan that was as novel as it was efficacious.

He counted the members of his three staffs and the total was 152. He sent his assistant, Gordon Hollingshead, to Hollywood's smartest haberdashery to purchase 152 green sweat shirts, identical in color. These were distributed among the three staffs and, lo and behold, the desired results was effected immediately. The psychological effect of having the man working next to one wear the same outfit and color created a feeling of good fellowship that no amount of argument or cajolery could produce.

GRIBBON AS DETECTIVE

Harry Gribbon has always envied the sleuthing of the detective. As a boy he thought it must be the most thrilling job in the world. Now the desire has cooled down, but to this day Gribbon adores detective stories and is always reading one. He is playing one in "On With the Show," due at Warner's Theater, but not the kind to which he had aspired many years ago. For Gribbon's detective is a boob and is always on the wrong scent.

FAWCETT RESUMES WORK

George Fawcett, with several days between scenes, has resumed his camera work in "The Great Divide," which Reginald Barker is directing for First National. Fawcett is a familiar figure on the First National program. Among his releases for this organization is "His Captive Woman."

Ann Harding, who makes her debut on the screen in "Paris Bound," a Pathe all-talking feature, is enjoying a brief rest following the completion of actual filming on this picture.

New Glories Reflect Old

Bela Lugosi and Leatrice Joy

Will tread the local boards tomorrow at two theaters. Mr. Lugosi will resume his impersonation of the dread Count Dracula, this time at the Hollywood Music Box. Miss Joy, temporarily deserting the pictures, will headline the Orpheum vaudeville bill in dramatic impressions and songs.

"Follies" Girls to Smile Upon First-Nighters

More than 100 "Fox Movietone Follies" show and chorus girls will act as hostesses at the gala performance of the "Fox Movietone Follies of 1929" at the Fox Criterion Theater on the opening night, Friday.

These girls have been selected from every State in the Union and include a number of Canadian girls as well, representing six provinces. All of them appear in the Follies and each was selected as the result of beauty contests, so that male patrons of the Criterion are assured of a pleasant vista of pulchritude when the 1929 Fox Follies comes to town.

In addition to the scores of Follies girls, members of the cast of the picture will be present at the premiere. The principals in the song and dance numbers include Sue Carol, Lola Lane, Sharon Lynn, Dixie Lee, Melva Cornell, Paula Langlen, Carolynne Snowden, Jeanette Dancey, David Percey, David Rollins, Bobby Burns, Frank Richardson, Henry M. Mollandin, Frank La Mont and Stepin Fetchit.

Children Will Attend Fantasy

Thirty-five crippled children from the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital will be entertained at the matinee today at the Figueroa Playhouse by the Ichneuman Fly, the Beetles, Crickets, Snails, Butterflies and other symbolic characters of the allegorical spectacle, "The World We Live In."

The children will be guests of Messrs. Behymer, Gest and Reed, directors of the Los Angeles Repertory Theater, the organization presenting this fantastic novelty as its sixth production of the season.

After the performance, the children will be introduced to Robert Edeson, Edgar Norton and Paul Irving, who are portraying the roles they created in the original New York production.

John Loder in Hillstreet Film

Marshall Neilan's first all-talking production, "Black Waters," brings to the Hillstreet screen tomorrow a new leading man recently from England, and marks also the return to filmdom of James Kirkwood.

John Loder, English stage star, makes his first American screen appearance opposite Mary Brian, who achieved prominence when Sir James Barrie chose her to create the character of Wendy in "Peter Pan." Neilan's all-talking mystery melodrama, "Black Waters," was adapted from a play written by John Willard, author of "The Cat and the Canary."

New Line-up for Burlesque Due

Completing a two months' tour of the principal theatrical cities, T. V. Dalton, owner of the Follies Burlesque, and his manager, Grover Webb, returned from New York last week. While in New York Dalton signed a number of burlesque stars for his new company, which opens at the Follies Theater July 28, next.

Dalton has been combing the burlesque and extravaganza marts of the country for manuscript material for his new Follies company. As a result he pledges attractions never before seen in California. While in New York, Dalton is understood to have received several offers to associate with burlesque chains, but refused them in favor of operating his own organization.

Prince Invited to See "Spies"

Prince Louis Ferdinand of Prussia, grandson of the former German Kaiser, has been extended an invitation on behalf of the various German societies to attend an informal reception of the Fox Boulevard Theater Monday evening.

This reception is being arranged in honor of "Spies," the U. F. A. production, directed by Fritz Lang, which is now showing at the Boulevard.

TO RECALL THOSE DAYS

Mary Carr, who created the role of the widow Saunders when "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" was filmed a few years ago, will be the Lincoln Theater's guest some evening next week with a party of friends.

Atmosphere of Far East Fills 'Black Watch'

Not only is the dialogue in "The Black Watch" now playing at the Fox Carthay Circle, among the best examples of voice reproduction yet made, but the accompanying sound effects are a revelation of the possibilities along this line, according to Victor McLaglen, star of this all-talking Fox Movietone production.

"From my own experience in the Far East," says McLaglen, who has visited more than thirty countries of the world, "I can testify that the picture presents such amazingly life-like sounds that it is difficult to realize one is not in the souks and bazaars of Peshawur. The weird grunting and squealing of a camel-train, the muffled roar of a Moslem crowd repeating its thrice-daily prayer, the wailing of the wind in the mountain passes of the Khyber, the shrill chatter of native crowds, even the indescribable but unforgettable rattle of a machine-gun battery in action—these and hundreds of other sounds are recorded with absolute fidelity.

"The drone and chant of a Highland bagpipe band, the booming echo of trains in the huge Victoria station in London, and grind and splash of heavily laden carts pulling through muddy roads, in fact, every possible outdoor and indoor sound has been captured by the magic of Fox-Movietone, and employed to make 'The Black Watch' the most realistic film I have ever seen and heard."

Musicians Dress in Proper Style

An interesting feature that has caused widespread comment in "The Streets of New York," Edward Everett Horton's current Majestic Theater laugh hit, is the mode of dress and actions of the Majestic Musical Ensemble, directed by William Baffa. The play, being a revival of an 1857 potboiler, is attended by character effects of that period.

The orchestra performs just as it did in the old days, dressed in the garb of '57, with bearded faces and lace shirts. The musicians contribute much to the spirit of hilarity.

The lush and lurid melodrama is enacted by a notable cast including Enid Bennett, Tully Marshall, Mitchell Harris, John Litel, Florence Roberts, Florence Mason, Fred Cummings and Helen Millard.

MEDIUM CALLED TO ACCOUNT IN DRAMA

Treva Lawler

There are any number of perplexing questions concerning spiritualism in Anne Murray's new play, "This World and the Next," which begins an engagement at the Egan Theater tomorrow evening.

How can a person be sure that he has mediumistic powers?

Should a spiritualist accept money for his services?

Is his profession one to be ashamed of? If not, why does Prof. Lamont hide it from his daughter?

Does the happiness experienced by Mrs. Marston during a successful seance, excuse the deception practiced upon her?

Is there such a thing as a real "manifestation"? If not, what did Mrs. Marston see in Prof. Lamont's mysterious cabinet?

Victor Rodman will be Prof. Lamont, the spiritualist. Treva Lawler will play his daughter, Roberta.

In the cast are Linette Brea, Mattie Edwards, Peter Barney, Mary H. Flanner and Lois Corbet.

Junior Players Delight Large Assemblage

The annual junior orchestra concert was played at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night and 246 little music-makers from the elementary schools of Los Angeles went home tired but very happy. The concert was a success. The auditorium was filled to overflowing and the youngsters responded to the direction of six different teacher-conductors with spirit and alacrity. There was no lagging and much expression.

Dr. Carl Omeron, a sweet-voiced tenor well and favorably known to Los Angeles audiences, provided an attractive interlude to the long orchestral program by singing a group of three songs to the accompaniment of his wife, Helen B. Omeron, at the piano. One of the songs was composed by Mrs. Omeron.

The remarkable thing about this junior orchestra is, that it is recruited anew each year. Of the 246 who distinguished themselves last night, but thirty had appeared at the concert last year. An extremely large number of the players are violinists or horn players, of course. These instruments are the most popular. Marimbas, xylophones, a few cellos and flutes make up the balance of an interesting ensemble.

The 1929 orchestra has a delightful little boy, seemingly about 8 years of age, playing in the concert-master's position. Most of the ambitious group looked to be not over 10.

A Sousa march dedicated to Jennie L. Jones, the supervisor who is responsible for much progress in school orchestras, and a final unconducted number attracted particular attention.

Guest of Honor at Chinese is Carlotta King

All branches of the entertainment world will be represented in special entertainment to be provided at tonight's midnight matinee of "The Broadway Melody," at Grauman's Chinese Theater, the program for which has just been completed.

The star guest will be Carlotta King, of "The Desert Song" fame on both stage and screen. She will be accompanied by Sidney Russell, well-known author-composer. Benny Rubin will be master of ceremonies, and George W. Stinson, known as "The Singing Traffic Cop," will be a guest artist.

The studio world will be represented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars, including Raquel Torres, Gwen Lee, Fay Webb, Joyce Murray, Mary Doran and Phyllis Crane, in "An Ambassador Fur Revue." Bobby Jackson, former master of ceremonies at the Marlboro Night Club in Chicago, and Bennie Venuta, blues singer, are among others on the program.

United Artists Will Broadcast Opening Event

Following his usual policy of broadcasting events of the season in Los Angeles, Walter M. Fagan, president of the Pacific Wholesale, Inc., today announced that his company will broadcast the gala premiere of Roland West's production of "Alibi," which opens at the United Artists' Theater Wednesday evening, over KMTR.

The microphone, which will be placed in front of the theater, will be presided over by that master of ceremonies of the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, Frank Fay.

Fay will introduce each of the celebrities as they arrive at the theater and each will—if sufficiently persuaded—make a short speech of greeting into the "mike."

Al Jolson will be master of ceremonies on the stage.

MELVILLE BROWN NOW PARAMOUNT DIRECTOR

Having impressed producers with his direction of "Geraldine," a Pathe talking picture, Melville Brown, for several years under contract to Universal as one of its leading lights, has been signed by Paramount. According to an announcement made by B. P. Schulberg of the Paramount-Lasky organization, Brown is to direct "Fast Life," a story adapted from the play "Elmer, the Great," written by the noted sports authority, Ring Lardner.

This will make the second all-talking production to be directed by Brown. His handling of such stars as Laura La Plante, Reginald Denny and others in numerous box-office successes firmly entrenched him in a respected position.

Thus far Jack Oakie, who is to play the title role of Elmer, and Mary Eaton and "Skeets" Gallagher, have been selected for featured roles in this picture.

COBB "DOUBLED FOR" IN FOX'S TALK FILM

When Milton H. Gropper wrote in the role of a New York reporter in the Fox all-talking production, "Thru Different Eyes," showing this week at Loew's State, he had a very definite person in mind. It was Irvin Cobb, noted humorist and author and former star reporter. He is an old friend of the playwright.

DeWitt Jennings, veteran character actor, with the aid of a little make-up, can look almost enough like Cobb to deceive the original himself, so he was cast for the part. Jennings also knows Cobb and it was easy for him to imitate the latter's Kentucky drawl in his speaking sequences.

Mary Duncan, Edmund Lowe and Warner Baxter are principals in the picture.

SPORT AT OCEAN PARK

Shooting-the-chutes is a new sport out at Ocean Park pier, where Claude L. Langley now operates the only amusement concession of its kind of Coney Island. "Misses Ocean Park, Venice and Santa Monica" will officially inaugurate the $150,000 water ride at the two-day Mardi Gras that will mark the opening of the new Ocean Park pier extension today and tomorrow.

TURNESA TO FACE JOLLY IN FINALS

Yankee Golfer Defeats Whitcombe; Diegel Bows Out of Tourney

MOORTOWN (Eng.) May 17. (AP) Joe Turnesa, victor in four gallant duels over Moortown's historic course, will be America's representative tomorrow in an international struggle for the golfing honors of the Yorkshire Evening News 1000-guinea tournament.

Arrayed against the slim, young invader and wearing British colors will be Herbert Jolly, also slender and brown, who has come striding over the prostrate forms of such golfing giants as Walter Hagen, George Duncan, Archie Compston, Abe Mitchell and Jose Jurado.

This is the young New York pro's first season on British links and success tomorrow would, in the opinion of many golfing authorities, crown him king of match players of these islands.

Jolly, however, will be contending in a familiar element. He was runner-up last year and the year before and won the tournament at its inaugural seven years ago when he defeated Hagen in the finals.

To reach the final stage, Turnesa triumphed gloriously over Charles Whitcombe, last year's champion, after eliminating J. J. Taylor deci-

SAL IN SECRET FINAL WORKOUT

Mexican Challenger Trains Behind Locked Doors

Light Exercise Today Ends Sorio's Campaign

Morgan in Fine Shape for Wrigley Field Go

BY KAY OWE

Locked doors greeted fans who sought to watch Baby Sal Sorio taper off in his final boxing yesterday at his camp in the foothills of San Bernardino.

BABY SAL

The challenger, who next Monday night, will attempt to be the first Mexican to win a world's boxing title at Wrigley Field when he meets Tod Morgan, ends his campaign in fine condition.

He will take only light work today. He may box a few rounds with Checkie Herman, with the veteran Billy De Foe on the sidelines as his coach.

There is no question but what the challenger is trained to do but one thing for the battle. It is to win by a knockout or go down slugging gallantly himself.

Criticised for not brushing up on his defense, the little Sorio has stubbornly stuck to his task of perfecting his timing for blows capable of dropping an opponent face forward when they connect.

Billy De Foe is enthusiastic over his new protege. He will be retained to instruct Sal after the championship fight, it is said.

Sal has been hitting De Foe, and if he can hit De Foe, he can hit Morgan. That is the sentiment of the Mexican's handlers.

MORGAN READY

Morgan undoubtedly is in better shape for Sal than he was for Santiago Zorilla. He has a husky appearance and has actually been slugging it with his sparring partners instead of trying to outbox them.

To the champion the title contest is just another bout. At least he says so. But he is a strict trainer. He arises at the same time every day. He goes on the road the same time. Everything is system to him. It has been his success.

Frank Churchill has many irons in the fire. He had Armando Santiago fighting in the East a couple nights ago. Ignacio Fernandez boxed Al Singer in New York last night. And Morgan is shooting his junior lightweight kingdom next Monday.

Morgan finished his work yesterday with the perspiration pouring off of him. He will not do any drying out until tomorrow.

Sal's weight has been held to the last. He weighed 132 pounds last Thursday after the workout. But it is not expected he will have to dry out any more than for the usual fight.

The little Mexican has made weight for other fights and knows his condition pretty well. But it is evident he will be a 135-pounder in another year.

The whole town of San Bernardino is planning to ride, fly and walk to Los Angeles next Monday. Never before has the mountain settlement been so stirred by an athletic event.

They used to come down from San Bernardino a thousand strong to see Johnny Adams fight at Hollywood, which indicates it is a pretty fair sport center.

Neither fighter will come to Los Angeles until Monday for the weighing in which will probably be in the offices of the State Athletic Commission. Sal will be brought here guarded by an escort of motorcycle police.

SAL'S BIG EVENT

This will be quite an event in itself for the "poor little rich" boy who is standing on the doorstep of the promised land for every fighter—a world's championship match.

FERNANDEZ KNOCKS OUT SINGER IN THIRD ROUND

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Ignacio Fernandez, game little brown man from the Philippines, scored a sensational knockout over Al Singer, New York featherweight idol, in the third round of a featured ten-round match in Madison Square Garden tonight. Fernandez finished Singer with a right to the chin after being fouled several times in the second session.

The downfall of the local sensation came with surprising suddenness to the crowd of 10,000. Fernandez, badly hurt by five low punches in the second, flew from his corner at the start of the third and smashed Singer before him.

He caught the New York boy at the ropes, sent him reeling with a left to the chin and ended the engagement with a whistling right cross that stretched Singer senseless on the canvas. Singer could not budge at the ten count and was carried from the ring.

JIMMY MALONEY LOSES ON FOUL

BOSTON, May 17. (AP)—Ricardo Bertazzolo, huge Italian heavyweight, won on a foul from Jimmy Maloney of Boston in the fourth round in the Boston Garden's feature bout here tonight. Maloney dropped the Italian with a hard right hook after the bell sounded to end the fourth round and Referee Joe O'Connor promptly disqualified him.

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 17. (AP)—A record field of twenty-six three-year-olds, pick of the East and West, North and South, was named today to start in the Kentucky Derby, which will be run tomorrow for the fifty-fifth time since Aristides, the "little red horse" first romped home a winner in 1875.

The field outnumbers by four the previous record, made last year when Reigh Count, flying the colors of Mrs. John D. Hertz, proved the best of an array of twenty-two thoroughbreds in the race through one mile and a quarter of mud.

Queer Finish Stops Star Rally in Ninth; Missions Victors, 12 to 11

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Due to one of the queerest finales to a ball game that the cash customers ever have seen hereabouts, the Missions licked Hollywood, 12 to 11, today.

RED ROLLINGS

Hollywood needed one run to tie in the ninth with two out and Rumler on second, when "Red" Rollings drove the ball to right field for his sixth hit in as many attempts. Sherlock took the relay from Boone as Rumler dashed for the plate and just as he got the ball, Rollings, rounding first, crashed into him. Sherlock touched Rollings out before Rumler crossed the pan, thereby ending the ball game.

Hollywood made twenty-one hits off Nelson, Nevers and Krause, while the Missions made eighteen. Because of the heavy hitting and the fact that the

KRUG SLUGGERS HELD IN CHECK

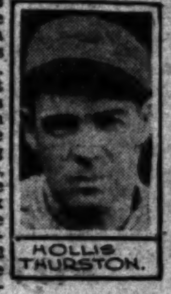
Seraphs Let Down With Six Hits by Visitors

Breaks Give Invaders Three Run Lead in First

Angels Remain in Tie With Acorns for Second

BY BOB RAY

Hollis Thurston, one of Los Angeles' native sons, has been pitching baseball in the Coast League, off and on, but yesterday was the first time he ever hurled a victory in his old home town. It seemed that some hoodoo has been working on Thurston while he was pitching in Los Angeles, but yesterday he shook the jinx and pitched the Seals to an impressive 6-to-2 victory over the sometimes slugging Seraphs.



HOLLIS THURSTON.

Thurston kept mixing 'em up—curves, screw balls, fast ones and slow ones—and the Angel clouters could solve him for only six hits. Three of those hits were bunched in the seventh to prevent Thurston from checking in a shutout.

Wilbert Peters, making his first start of the season for the Seraphs, pitched a good brand of ball but the breaks went against him. Peters got off to a bad start in the first when the

TROJANS MAY SPRING UPSET

Great Stanford Squad is Expected to Win

Cromwell Still Undecided if Borah Will Run

Spectacular Battles Loom in All Events

BY RALPH HUSTON

Having carefully tucked the Coast dual meet championship title into the trophy case, a powerful array of Stanford track stars will attempt to add conference laurels to its string of victories today, by winning the California intercollegiate meet in the Coliseum this afternoon.

"DINK" TEMPLETON

With Capt. Ross Nichols in the van, and a bevy of supporting talent that appears to be the brightest collection of stars Coach Dink Templeton ever gathered together, the Cards have been made heavy favorites to win over the Trojans, Bears and Bruins, who will make up the field.

Coach Dean Cromwell announced yesterday that he could not determine whether Capt. Charley Borah would run today or not. The Trojan leader is scheduled to appear in uniform, and try warming up before the 220. If his leg doesn't give him too much trouble, he will run. He will not try to run the century.

HAVE CHANCE

Despite gloomy predictions on the part of Coach Dean Cromwell, the Trojans are not beyond the realm of possibility as winners. The squad

Giants Defeat Braves After Ten-Inning Battle

Robins Shade Phillies in Wild Ball Game

CHICAGO, May 17. (AP)—The Cubs moved into undisputed possession of first place in the National League pennant race today, by routing Cincinnati, 9 to 3, while the Cardinals lost to Pittsburgh.

Donohue and Ash, who relieved him, were battered hard by the Bruins. Hack Wilson lashed out a home run in the sixth inning, with the bases loaded, and Grimm followed him in the same inning with another.

Sheriff Blake limited the Reds to six hits, breaking his losing streak which had extended to four games.

GIANTS COLLECT

BOSTON, May 17. (AP)—Harper's triple and Clark's double, with two out in the last of the ninth, gave the Braves one run needed to tie the Giants here today, but the New Yorkers put on a furious batting rally for four runs in their half of the tenth to defeat the home team by 9 to 5. In the orgy of slugging, Jackson and O'Farrell doubled, and Fullis, Fitzsimmons, Roush and Lindstrom singled, all at the expense of John Cooney, the southpaw.

The Braves came from behind three times. In the first half of the game they hit Carl Mays savagely but with little effect so far as runs went. Errors by Richbourg in right field gave the Giants three runs.

Jackson made his sixth homer, a triple and a double. Roush helped his average with three singles, a double and a triple.

Jones pitched well, but with inferior support, while Fitzsimmons did well as a relief man for Mays.

BUCS BEST

PITTSBURGH, May 17. (AP)—A double by Paul Waner with the bases jammed in the seventh brought a 6-2 victory to the Pittsburgh Pirates over St. Louis today.

The Pirates scored one run in the first inning and St. Louis tied it up in the second when Chick Hafey hit for the circuit with no one on base. The Buccaneers came back with another in the third, only to have the Cards deadlock the tally again in the fourth. The Pirate rally in the seventh netted four counters and the game.

Alexander and French put on a pretty pitchers' battle up to the seventh, when old Alex weakened. Score:

ROBINS CHIRP

PHILADELPHIA, May 17. (AP)—The Robins just lasted to shade the Phillies, 14 to 13, in a wild game here this afternoon. George Susce, batting for Claude Willoughby in the ninth with two out and the bases filled, rolled a bounder to Gilbert, forcing Friberg at third and ending the game.

Roy, Elliott, McGraw, Milligan, Holloway and Willoughby worked for the Phillies in a vain effort to halt the Robins, but they were only slightly less effective than Ferguson, Moss, Ballou and Clark for the visitors. Gilbert, Herman and Hendrick hit home runs for Brooklyn. Chuck Kline hit his sixth homer of the season in the ninth with O'Doul on base. Score:

SOLONS POUND OUT WIN OVER OAKLAND

SACRAMENTO, May 17. (AP)—Ed Bryan was in splendid form and held the Oaks to five hits today while his mates pounded three hurlers for a 9-to-1 win. The win evened the series at two-all. Dumovich started for the Oaks and was knocked out of the box in the fourth in favor of Kasich, who yielded to Buzz Arlett in the seventh with the bags full and none out. LINCOLN TRIUMPHS OVER PANTHER NINE

Hammering Sal Machuca for thirteen hits, Coach Frank Mallette's Lincoln High School's baseballers took a 7-to-2 win from the Franklin High pill tossers in a game played on the Occidental College diamond yesterday afternoon.

The fray, which from the start developed into a pitchers' duel, kept the prep ball fans on their feet for eight innings, when Sal Machuca, Panther chucker, wilted under the heavy slugging of the Tigers and was knicked for five bingles, which were turned into four runs by the North Broadway boys in the last session. POLY OVERWHELMS HOLLYWOOD, 16-2

Displaying a vicious attack that four Foothiller hurlers were unable to check, Coach "Cop" Mahoney's Polytechnic nine made it three straight City League victories by humbling the Hollywood squad, 16 to 2, yesterday on the Movie City crew's diamond.

Lefty Meyer, Poly's sterling southpaw, held the Hollywooders to four hits and was invincible after the first inning, in which the Sheiks tallied twice. Meyer fanned eleven men. Score:

HARDING NINE CINCHES MINOR LEAGUE TITLE

Harding cinched the Minor League baseball title by nosing out Coach Sid Witherow's strong Belmont nine, 3-2, yesterday afternoon on the Warriors' diamond. Belmont started out strong scoring two runs in the first inning but failed to tally again. Harding pushed all three of their scores across the plate in the fourth session. Whitey Snider, Harding's star hurler, fanned seventeen Belmont batsmen. Score:

WHITE SOX COP

DETROIT, May 17. (AP)—With base hits rattling to every section of Navin Field, the Chicago White Sox evened the series with Detroit today by a 6-to-2 score. Despite a well-working curve which fanned seven Chicago batters, Earl Whitehill was touched for fourteen hits.

"Red" Faber, spitballed the Tigers into submission, after the first inning, in which he was nicked for four hits which yielded the complete Detroit score. A double error by Roy Johnson in the ninth inning accounted for two of the Sox runs, Reynolds circling the bases on what technically was a double. The score:

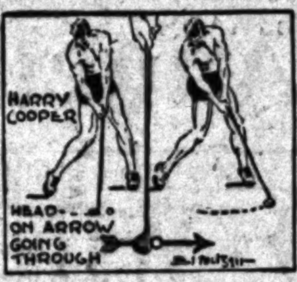
Get Line of Drive Same as With Patt



BY SOL METZGER

There is only one way to hit a golf ball and that is on the line you wish it to go. This line is usually at the pin for the sake of clearness in description, though in play a drive is sent toward that part of the fairway that will put the golfer in the best position for his second shot.

To accomplish this result, to drive the ball along the line of flight you wish it to go, every good golfer, once he has settled down to playing his shot, imagines a line running through his ball in the direction he wishes to stroke it off the tee or along the fairway, just as he imagines a similar line to the cup when putting.

Get that line established in your mind when you address the ball. Then concentrate on throwing your club head straight through on that line. That's the way Harry Cooper belts them so far and so straight. You'll drive with a far better sense of direction doing the same thing.

A few simple but vital points to remember in putting will keep your score down. Write Sol Metzger, care of The Times, and get his leaflet on putting, which is free. In writing inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

REDS NOSE OUT HOLLYWOODERS

score seesawed from one team to the other, it would have been an interesting contest to watch had it not been for the cold weather. The shivering few who were there stayed until the funny finish.

Ike Boone enjoyed the game thoroughly. He got two homers, one of the shortest doubles in history and batted in seven runs. He also got an assist on the all-important putout that ended the game.

But the real batting star of the game was Rollings, who punched out five singles and a double in six times up. He also made two flashy plays that cut off runs early in the game.

CARDS FAVORED TO WIN CROWN

Great Stanford Squad is Expected to Cop

Trojans May Score Upset in Coliseum Meet

appears to be about in the position the Trojan football team was when it faced Stanford last fall; or when the track team battled the Cards in the recent duel meet. They aren't expected to win, but they do have a chance.

In the dual meet, the unknowns came through for unexpected points, but the stars fell down when they were needed most, and as a result, the Cards won, as expected. If those same more or less unknowns can produce unexpectedly today, and if the favored performers come through as they should, don't fall out of your seats if the Trojans hang up a victory. It's entirely possible, if not altogether probable.

With McKinnon, Edmonds, Nichols, Krenz, Robert, Dyer and Dowell, the Cards ought to come romping home in first place. The Trojans depend on Vic and Jack Williams, Jimmy Payne, Jess Hill and Howard Paul, and Jess Mortensen, as their featured performers. California has Harry Carter, Spud Mossman and Churchill. U.C.L.A. has Johnny Hill, Carleton Waite and Alex Gill.

Coaches and managers of the four institutions met yesterday at Gwynn Wilson's office to rearrange their entry list. Walter Christie withdrew Henderson and Mossman from the mile, leaving Carter as the lone entrant, and Templeton cancelled Goodon's entry.

Sparks, Clark, McDermott and Bastajian all were withdrawn from the quarter. Templeton cut Tandy out of the discus and Zambro out of the broad jump. Cromwell decided to let Jimmy Payne concentrate on the low hurdles, and withdrew him from the high sticks. The two-mile field was cut when Templeton withdrew Brown and Loufborrow, and Christie eliminated Henderson and Cannon. Templeton also withdrew Nichols from the low hurdles and substituted his star quarter miler, Johnny Morrison, in the 220, in place of McDermott.

CLASSY RACES

Every race from the mile, which gets under way at 2:30, to the relay, promises to be spectacular in the extreme. Alex McKinnon, hero of the Card-Trojan meet, and Harry Carter of the Bears are expected to provide the excitement in the four-lap event. Hector Dyer and Milt Maurer of the Trojans are likely to battle it out in the century, with Dick Wehner furnishing Dyer his major competition in the furlong. Vic Williams and Morrison resume their duel in the quarter, while McKinnon, if he runs the half as well as the mile, will find strong competition in Schurr of the Trojans and Rust of California.

Mossman, California's star two-miler, is likely to find Woodruff a tough rival in the two mile, but ought to win, as he has run 9m. 36s. this year. Stanford probably will rule supreme in the high hurdles, but Jimmy Payne and Ernie Payne will give them argument in the lows.

Rothert and Krenz will ring up a lot of points for the Cards in the two weight events; Gill ought to win the high jump; Hill and Paul of the Trojans face Dowell, Anderson and West in the broad jump; Jack Williams meets Edmonds in the pole vault, and Mortensen tests his skill against Kibby and Sparling of Stanford and Churchill and Curtice of California in the javelin.

Here is one way the Trojans might eke out a victory. The final score would read: Southern California, 67½; Stanford, 66½; California, 23; U.C.L.A., 7.

100-yard dash—Dyer (S.) Maurer (S.C.) Blaby (C.) Hill (U.C.L.A.)
220—Dyer (S.) Wehner (S.C.) Maurer (S.C.) Hill (U.C.L.A.)
440—Williams (S.C.) Morrison (S.) Pearson (S.C.) Shore (S.)

Two-mile—Mossman (C.) Woodruff (S.C.) Daniels (S.C.) Waite (U.C.L.A.)
High hurdles—Nichols (S.) Edmonds (S.) Webber (S.C.) Pesolotti (C.)
Low hurdles—J. Payne (S.C.) Edmonds (S.) E. Payne (S.C.) Powers (S.C.)
Pole vault—Williams (S.C.) tie between Edmonds (S.) Hubbard (S.C.) for second. Livingston (S.C.)
High jump—Jacklevich (C.) and Gill (U.C.L.A.) tie for first. Bowen (S.C.) Madison (S.) H. Hill (S.C.)
Broad jump—Hill (S.C.) Paul (S.C.) Dowell (S.) Anderson (S.)
Shot put—Rothert (S.) Krenz (S.) Schleimer (S.C.) Forster (S.)

the championship play throughout the week.

"It was great fun and I enjoyed it," said Miss Wethered. "Never have I seen better driving than that of Miss Collett. Our match was played in two bursts and was the most exciting I have ever taken part in. The long putt on the thirty-third, which gave me a half saved me, and I was 2 up and three to play, instead of one and three, which makes a great deal of difference.

"I couldn't find my putting touch on the slow greens this morning, but Miss Collett putted splendidly."

CORONADO TROUNCES SAN BERNARDINO, 6-5

SAN DIEGO, May 17. (AP)—Kostell's single in the ninth with Bob Smith on the paths gave the Coronado club its third straight victory over San Bernardino here this afternoon, 6 to 5. The home team got off to a five-run lead in the first inning, but the visitors gradually whittled it away. Score:

Diving Honors in Prep Meet Won by Kurtz

Frank Kurtz, junior national diving champion, won the city high school springboard crown yesterday at the Hollywood Athletic Club in the final day of the city high school titular events. Homer Bucher bolstered up the movie city score with a second place while Jack Ross of L. A. was third. Total points gave Los Angeles High School the title in both swimming and diving events, 61 to a 53 score copped by Hollywood. Bob Dexter and Clarence Hjoth of Hollywood won first and second in the Class C division with Bramen Lovelace of L. A. third. Hollywood defeated L. A. in the Class C boys' division, total points, 62 to 12. Franklin High was third in both Class A and Class C. Coach E. S. Crumley piloted the L. A. team to its first victory in five years over Hollywood.

county finals next Saturday at Moore Field, U.C.L.A.

The three county finals will be held at Santa Paula in Ventura county, San Bernardino and Orange. Boyd Comstock, director of the games for Southern California, Relman Morin and John F. Ness will be in charge of the three county meets in the order named.

The district semifinal events in Los Angeles county will be run off per the following schedule: Los Angeles playgrounds, D. W. Lott in charge, Hawley Field; Huntington Park, Pop Squires, 9:30 a.m.; Pasadena, Melvin Chase and Oakley Morris, 10 a.m.; Santa Monica, Robert E. Munsey, 1:30 p.m.; Van Nuys, J. V. Root, 9:30 a.m.; Long Beach, F. C. Peniwell, 2:30 p.m.; Inglewood, Virgil Dahl, 9:30 a.m., and the Los Angeles county school finals at Santa Anita, Temple City, 10 a.m.

Mandell Wins Legion Battle

Jackie Mandell took a ten-round decision over Red Humphries last night in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. The Jewish lad's best bet was a left jab, which he kept in Red's face most of the time, when he wasn't slanting it in Humphries's stomach. The last four rounds went to Mandell by a large margin.

Joe Piminthal scored his second straight knockout over Herb Turchi within the course of three weeks in the third round of the semi-windup. Turchi had Piminthal dizzy in the second round and was holding his own up to the time of the fatal kayoe.

Phil Harris battled his way to a draw with Omar Wright in the six-round special event. Harris hit the floor in the first round, but came back strong to even it up. Vic Pertly defeated Martin Louda in one of the preliminaries, while Pat Hayward won four rounds from Frank Roddy in the curtain raiser.

FULLERTON'S HOMER WINS FOR PORTLAND

SEATTLE, May 17. (AP)—Fullerton's home run in the seventh with Bates on base gave the Portland Ducks another victory over the Seattle Indians here today by a 2-to-0 score. Seattle's four hits were scattered and Fullerton was master of his opponents at all times. Score:

MEXICAN BOXERS HEAD MAIN-STREET PROGRAM

After the weigh-in Sal will be whisked away to a secret place to await time to go to the ball park. He will have only his camp followers and his close friends with him.

Most fighters go to a show the night before a fight, but Sal will remain at home and play his old phonograph just as he has done by the hour during his long training days.

Both fighters are scheduled to attend church services Sunday the same as usual. Sal will hear mass at the little Spanish cathedral in San Bernardino and receive the blessing.

The show is drawing many Mexican people from down below the border line. Most all of the towns will be well represented. There is one party of seventeen coming from San Antonio, Tex. Another will come all the way from Juarez to see Sal fight for a world's championship.

The betting still sticks to Morgan as it has done from the first.

There is plenty of Mexican money, but they are waiting for the last minute odds in hopes of getting a better price than the 10-8 and 11-5 now freely offered.

Probably half the betting will be on a knockout. The dope is 1 to 2 that Sal stops Morgan inside ten rounds.

The matter of whether Sal will be permitted to wear the Mexican colors on his ring trunks has been referred to Commissioner Woods. It is said that Woods is not likely to deny the little challenger his one request made when the match was made.

There has been no explosion over the referee angle. Both camps seem to be placing supreme faith in the selection made by Commissioner Woods. The third man may not be named until the fighters enter the ring under these conditions.

Jack Doyle has all arrangements made to start occupancy of the ball park the instant the last out is out Sunday in the double-header between the Angels and the Seals. There is no game Monday.

The show has progressed without a single rumble either in the promotion or the rival camps.

In this respect it is like the Paolino-Godfrey fight which set the record for California gates at $125,000.

Entrants in The Times Pre-Olympic marathon, which will be run over the full-length course of twenty-six miles, 385 yards here, June 15, have been offered an opportunity to test their speed and endurance in two preliminary events, Charles Spurgeon, director of the Olympic, announced yesterday.

Officials of the Orange county and East Los Angeles long-distance events have both extended invitations to all entrants in The Times race to compete in their races. Tom J. Bartell, director of the Orange county race, announced yesterday that the Anaheim event was open to only residents of Orange county, but that any outside registered athlete who was entered in The Times event would be permitted to run, but would not be eligible to receive any of the ten prizes that have been put up as awards.

J. E. Bell, who is handling the Greater East Los Angeles race, extended the same courtesy and even included The Times entrants as candidates for prizes. Both races have been scheduled to be run June 1, the Orange county event over the marathon course, while the Greater East Los Angeles race is shortened to twelve miles.

Entrants in The Times marathon are invited to take advantage of this friendly offer, as it will give them a splendid last workout before The Times classic.

Johnny Doeg of Stanford will face Francis Hardy of S. University of Washington dropped out of the tournament, both singlists being defeated, and the doubles team losing out in its second match.

SEALS DEFEAT SERAPH SQUAD

Seals scored three runs that they shouldn't have made. An error by Dittmar and a fly lost in the sun by Webb for a double enabled the Seals to get the jump on the Home Guards. The Seals did get to Peters for a couple of really earned runs in the fifth, but their other tally was made off Russ Miller, who twirled only in the ninth inning.

Although the Angels lost, they still are tied for second place with the Oaks, who also were defeated yesterday. The Missions continued their winning ways and again increased their margin to eight full contests.

Marty Krug presented a changed batting order, leading off with Fred Haney and with Statz, Webb, Tolson, Berger and Jones following. The new line-up looks as though it ought to produce more runs, but it was up against too much good pitching to give the shift a real test yesterday.

The series is now tied up, each side having two wins. Krug is going to pitch young Harry Child today. Child has looked so good in the relief role that Marty believes he is entitled to start a game and try to win a regular berth for himself. Johnny Couch will probably take the mound for the Seals.

The Seals hopped off to a three-run lead in the first inning, but it took one lucky break and an error to help put over the rally. Peters passed Crosetti to start the round and Pinelli followed with a line single to left. Sandberg had Crosetti picked off second, but Dittmar dropped the ball as he tagged the Seal shortstop. Gus Suhr then lifted a high fly to right that Webb lost in the sun for a double, both Crosetti and Pinelli scoring on what should have resulted in an easy catch. Donovan's infield out and Jolley's single brought Suhr over the plate. Haney, Dittmar and Tolson engineered a double play on Wingo's hot grounder to end the inning.

SEALS GET TWO MORE

Peters breezed by until the fifth when the Seals bunched three more hits off him for a couple of legitimate runs. Leo Adamson, the cast-off Hollywood catcher recently picked up by the Seals, started the excitement with a 411-foot single over Statz's head to the extreme center-field corner. Adamson fell down rounding first and turned back to the initial sack, so his hit goes down as one of the longest singles in captivity. Thurston popped to Haney, but Crosetti singled to right and Suhr delivered a double to right center that tallied Adamson and Crosetti.

The Angels, after six scoreless frames, finally got to Thurston for a couple of runs in the seventh. Webb's single to center opened the round, but Tolson was thrown out by Thurston. Walter Berger clicked a double to left center, scoring Webb, and continued on to third when Donovan's throw-in got by Caveney. Jones hit a sacrifice fly to Donovan that brought Berger home. Sandberg then singled, but Thurston choked off the rally by fanning Dittmar for the third out.

The Angels threatened again in the eighth, but Thurston put down the uprising without allowing any more runs. Schulmerich started the eighth by batting for Peters and striking out on three pitches. Haney slapped one off the left-field wall, but he had to do some fancy sliding around Crosetti to stretch the hit into a double, Wingo playing the ball perfectly off the brick barrier. When Statz walked the fans yelled for a homer to tie the score, but Thurston disposed of the heavy-hitting Webb and Tolson to ruin the Cherubs' last chance of getting into the ball game.

MILLER YIELDS RUN

Miller was pitching for the Angels when the Seals came to bat in the ninth and was promptly nicked for the invaders' final run. Caveney's double to left and Adamson's hot single over Dittmar's head produced the tally. Score:

MIDWICK TOURNEY ON TODAY

First and Second Round Matches Scheduled This Morning, Afternoon

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

First and second-round matches in the annual Scotch foursome championship of the Midwick Country Club will be played this morning and afternoon. Two Southern invaders, E. J. Ridgeway and J. D. Stalnaker of the San Diego Country Club, won low gross in the qualifying round with a 74. Low net went to Claude Foote and J. C. Bequette of Flintridge with 75-5-70.

FAY COLEMAN

In the first-round matches this morning, Fay and Lester Coleman of the California Country Club, defending champions, will meet Danny Sangster of Potrero and his partner, J. Bellows. First-round matches in the championship flight are scheduled to start between 9 and 10 o'clock. The second flight will tee off an hour earlier.

Dr. Paul Hunter and Robert Hunter of Annandale failed to qualify and will not play in the tournament. Competition was keen for places in the select sixteen of the championship flight with several play-offs necessary.

There will only be two rounds in the second flight, as only four twosomes will play through.

The third and fourth round-matches will be played tomorrow, completing the tournament.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

E. J. Ridgeway and J. D. Stalnaker (San Diego) vs. Harry Westbrook and J. Hamilton (Annandale).

Rush Estes and Bob Cash (Bel-Air) vs. A. W. Brand and J. B. Speer (Midwick).

J. L. Mothershead and A. K. Bourne (Midwick) vs. Led Blue and Johnny Menard (Sunset Canyon).

C. P. Smoot and C. R. Jamison (Los Angeles) vs. J. F. Rhodes and H. P. Perrin (Midwick).

J. C. Bequette and Claude Foote (Flintridge) vs. Phil Perve and Harlow Hurley (Los Angeles).

Lester Coleman and Fay Coleman (Los Angeles) vs. Danny Sangster and J. Bellows (Potrero).

C. P. Lathrop and A. B. Young (Midwick) vs. J. Mackey and C. J. Mortimer (Los Angeles).

Maury McLaughlin and George Helstein (Bel-Air) vs. E. B. Chambers and George Moss (Mountain Meadows).

FIRST FLIGHT

C. K. Manhart and J. Douglas (Fox Hills) vs. Eric Winston and W. B. Tait (Annandale).

R. H. Pinkbine and P. E. Chaffee, bye.

E. S. Armstrong and Alex Macdonald (Midwick) vs. J. R. Gallery and J. M. Spalding (Midwick).

AMBASSADOR TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

The seventy-two-hole pitch and putt tournament of the Ambassador Hotel will be held today with a thirty-six-hole qualifying round. A field of 140 prominent golfers have signed up for the event, which will be played in four classes.

Among those who will qualify today are Fay and Lester Coleman of California, Eddie Meyberg of Hillcrest, Milo Marchetti of Rancho, W. L. Jelliffe of Fox Hills, Charles Seaver of Los Angeles and many others. Those who qualify will play the final thirty-six holes tomorrow.

TURNESA AND JOLLY CLASH

sively in the morning. His ably accomplished tasks yesterday were subduing Ernest Whitcombe and elimination of his compatriot, Horton Smith.

Turnesa's victory over the hardy veteran, Whitcombe, today provided one of the finest displays of golfing prowess ever witnessed here and established the American as a towering figure in international competition.

He finished his British opponent at the home green by a two-hole margin. Turnesa's card showed the marvelously low total of sixty-eight strokes. He played the first nine holes in 33 and came home in 35.

Surprises of the day included the defeat of Leo Diegel and reverses for two British favorites, Duncan and Compston. Duncan apparently shot his bolt yesterday in bringing down Hagen. This morning he put up an unavailing defense against W. H. Davis.

Diegel, too, was not the miracle man of yesterday and his unique putting crouch was just a novel posture which failed to produce result.

In spite of Diegel's troubles, Whitcombe was only able to defeat the professional champion of the United States 2 up and 1 to play. Compston wrestled mightily with Jolly and was even at the end of eighteen holes. The nineteenth and twentieth were halved but at the twenty-first Archie hit his second into the rough and admitted defeat.

Jolly's battle with Davies was nip and tuck, ending only at the final hole with defeat for Duncan's conqueror.

BAKERSFIELD THUMPS SAN DIEGANS, 13 TO 11

BAKERSFIELD, May 17.—In a game featured by three circuit clouts, the Bakersfield Bees gave the San Diego Aces a 13-to-11 trimming today. The game, which was played on the Bees' ball lot, saw Collier, San Diego chucker give pill a couple of long rides which were turned into homers.

McIntosy of Bakersfield helped his team in the home-run honors by slamming one into deep center. Both squads got their cut of the apple, San Diego collecting twelve bingles, while Bakersfield amassed fifteen hits off of Riggs and Porter, San Diego chuckers. Score:

JAPANESE LINE REVEALS AIMS

Direct Combination Service to Orient Planned

Five Motor Liners Under Way for Company

Announcement Made by O.S.K. Local Manager

BY WALDO DRAKE

Direct passenger and express freight service out of Los Angeles to the Orient on a fortnightly schedule is to be established by the Osaka Shoshen Kaisa as soon as the Japanese concern commissions five motor ships now building for its around-the-world and New York-Orient services. The new plans of O.S.K., which include motorization of its entire fleet, were announced here yesterday by Harold C. Smith, district manager of Williams, Dimond & Co., coast agents for O.S.K.

Addition of the two 10,000-ton motor ships to its New York-Pacific Coast-Orient line will inaugurate passenger service on that run, on which O.S.K. at present operates five 7600-ton freighters on a monthly schedule. Eventually, all steamers will be replaced by passenger-freight motor liners. The other three motor ships, of 13,000 tons, will be added to O.S.K.'s around-the-world service, now being maintained by three motor ships and two steamers. Two of the new motorships will replace the steamers Hawaii Maru and Manila Maru, while the third unit will increase the globe-circling fleet to six vessels.

Los Angeles Harbor will continue as the Pacific terminus and only west coast port of departure for both lines, Mr. Smith said, it being planned to alternate sailings of the two fleets on a fortnightly basis.

CAPT. PAULSEN MADE NEW SHIP LINE AGENT

Capt. A. R. Paulsen, veteran stevedore and president of the Port of Los Angeles Stevedoring and Ballast Company, was yesterday appointed Southern California agent for the newly formed Shepard & Morse intercoastal freight line. The new line, a subsidiary of the Shepard Morse Lumber Company, will be chiefly concerned in the transport of lumber from the North Pacific to east coast ports, carrying general freight back to the west coast.

Of its present fleet of three steamers, the Sea Thrush is due here from New York next June 15, in inauguration of the service; to be followed by the Wind Rush and Sage Brush. Other tonnage is to be acquired in the near future.

W. F. Ohlson, district manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company, operator of the Panama-Pacific Line, yesterday was in receipt by cable of the speech made at the annual meeting of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, owner of the White Star Line, by Lord Kyslant, chairman of the board of Royal Mail. Lord Kyslant predicted that the turboelectric propulsion, inaugurated by Panama-Pacific in the liner California, will soon be predominant in fast liner construction, together with Diesel-drive in small vessels. As examples, he referred to White Star's new 60,000-ton electric liner Oceanic, now building at Belfast, and its motor liner Britannic, of 27,000 tons, to be delivered this fall.

Lord Kylsant also commended the United States Shipping Board's action in selling the United States Lines to the Paul Chapman interests. He added:

"I personally welcome this step because . . . in the interests of all concerned it is better that vessels be run by private ownership."

All Norwegian vessels in port yesterday "dressed ship" with pennants and flags, celebrating the 115th anniversary of Norway's separation from Danish rule, when Carl Johns ascended the throne on May 17, 1814, as first king of the Scandinavian peninsula.

The local Admiral Line terminals are experiencing a busy week-end. Yesterday, the coastwise liner H. F. Alexander was in from Seattle and San Francisco with 305 passengers and last night she sailed north, carrying out 500 travelers, in addition to handling several thousand tons of freight in and out. The Emma Alexander sailed yesterday with 300 passengers aboard on a week-end excursion to Ensenada, Mex., while this evening the Dorothy Alexander will take out 150 tourists on a fortnight's tour of Mexican ports, including a two-day visit to Mazatlan. She will return the 31st inst.

Johnson Line's Swedish motor liner Axel Johnson arrived yesterday with passengers and freight from North Europe and Central American ports. Her cargo included several thousand tons of paper from Scandinavia and coffee from Central America, while among her passengers disembarking here were Pierre Collings, local film executive, and his wife, Natalie, returning from a tour of Europe, and Stanley Foster, a coffee expert on the staff of W. R. Grace & Co., who was loaned to the Johnson Line for a coffee survey of Central America. The vessel will sail tonight for North Pacific ports.

STETSON WINNER IN LAMAR BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (AP)—Frankie Stetson, young San Francisco lightweight, who has lost but one fight in two years of battling, pounded out a ten-round decision tonight over Johnny Lamar of Los Angeles. Stetson gave the Los Angeles Mexican a hard battering in the first six rounds, several times having him groggy from rights and lefts to the jaw. Lamar rallied in the closing rounds but was unable to overcome the big lead of his opponent.

HALIBUT BITING WELL OFF HERMOSA BEACH

HERMOSA BEACH, May 17.—Not in several seasons have the halibut shown in such consistent quantities, size and with such appetites as they are now, and have been, for the past several days at this pleasure fishing resort town. The Olympic barges report fishing conditions ideal, with fair weather, clear skies and a smooth sea running.

POWERS, COURTNEY WIN

The combination of Joe Powers, ranking Class A club player, and Ira Courtney proved too much for George Klawiter and Don Tyrrell in a second round match in the L.A.A.C. doubles handicap handball tourney yesterday. Powers and Courtney started out with a two-spot handicap and won by scores of 21-15, 21-8. Dorree and Peterson (7) trimmed Andrews and Wallace, 21-8, 21-9, in another second round match.

SANTA MONICA NINE COPS

Behind the sterling mound work of Pitcher McDonald, who allowed but five hits and fanned eleven Gondoliers, the Santa Monica High nine easily defeated Venice, 10 to 1, in a Bay League game yesterday on the Samohi diamond. Score:

BANK CONCLAVE PROGRAM GIVEN

Los Angeles Bankers Named as Speakers

California Association to Meet at Sacramento

W. F. Morrish Will Preside as President of Group

With a list of prominent speakers and a number of timely subjects and problems to be discussed, the thirty-fifth annual convention of the California Bankers' Association will open June 12, next, at the Senator in Sacramento, according to the tentative program issued yesterday by Will F. Morrish, president of the association. The conclave will extend over four days.

Edward Elliott, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank, and Henry S. McKee, president of the American Capital Corporation, are two speakers from Los Angeles featured on the program. Mr. Elliott will discuss the amendments to the Bank Act and statutes affecting the business of banking, as enacted by the Legislature now in session. Mr. McKee will talk on investment trusts.

Other speakers slated on the program include Chester H. Rowell, well-known writer; Vincent K. Butler, Jr., trust officer of the American Trust Company; Lane D. Webber, chairman of the executive council of the association; George A. Van Smith; James A. Bacigalupi, president of the Bank of Italy; Dr. Ng Poon Chew, editor of a San Francisco daily, and T. Yamamoto, San Francisco manager of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, Japanese steamship line.

Some of the subjects to be discussed include "The Working of the New Tax Law," "Commercial and Financial Relations Between California and the Orient," "Standard Certification of Audited Balance Sheets," "Business of a Trust Company," and others, including proposed changes in the scope of service rendered members of the association.

The first day is to be devoted to the trust company section, which all delegates are eligible to attend. On the afternoon of Saturday, June 15, next, an agricultural session will be held at Davis. General meetings will be held each morning.

The social features planned include a golf tournament for men and one for women, a steamship ride on Thursday and an informal reception Thursday evening.

Friday evening will be the occasion of the convention ball which will take place at the State Capitol. Other arrangements include motor trips, receptions, bridge, teas and similar functions.

Seaboard Plans New Bank Units

Two or three new branches of the Seaboard National Bank will be opened this year in accordance with the expansion program discussed yesterday at a breakfast meeting held at the Crescent Creamery Company plant, Third and Robertson.

Announcement of the plans was made by K. L. Carver, chairman of the executive committee of the bank and vice-president and general manager of the California Dairies, Inc., who was host at the meeting. "It is our plan to open these branches in the near future and the first probably will be established in the Wilshire-La Brea district," said Mr. Carver. "Other locations are still under consideration and not ready for immediate announcement. After our meeting the executive committee made a tour of the west side of Los Angeles to study business developments in that section."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Prospects for more favorable weather in the South was chiefly responsible for declines from a slight opening advance in cotton today. The selling was attributed largely to the liquidation by recent buyers and was supposed to come partly from western interests who may have been influenced by the decline in wheat. The mid-afternoon market was 5 or 6 points up from the lowest, but showed net declines of 6 to 10 points.

Final government figures on last year's acreage and crop showed very little change as compared with preliminary reports and were not generally considered a factor in the day's market.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive)—On a fairly heavy turnover, futures on the New York Rubber Exchange today made advances of 60 and 90 points over Thursday's closing levels on buying from trade interests, while a stronger tone in the foreign markets also helped in creating a bullish attitude.

Some profit-taking in the late afternoon made for a slight reaction, but all actual closings were at or near the highs of the day. Sales were 1572 contracts, or 3030 long tons.

London spot rose ⅛d to 11⅜d in a steady market. Outside spot here closed up ⅛c to 22⅛c.

INCOME OF OIL SUPPLY UNIT HIGHER

Republic Company Shows Earnings of $4.85 for Six Months' Period

Republic Supply Company for the first six months of the fiscal year to April 30, last, reported net earnings of $485,000, equal to $4.85 a share on 100,000 shares outstanding, according to a statement issued yesterday by J. A. Crawford, president.

These earnings are at the annual rate of $9.70 a share as compared with earnings of $8.17 a share for the fiscal year ended October 31, last.

Prospects for the balance of the current fiscal year are good, Mr. Crawford stated. The directors last December declared an extra dividend of $1, payable 25 cents quarterly throughout the current year, in addition to the regular quarterly dividends of 75 cents.

This company, which handles oil-well supplies, has increased its volume of business sharply during the recent intensive oil-drilling activity in the various Southern California fields.

BAY CITY CURB

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (AP)—Some confidence seemed to be restored in the market on the curb today, due possibly to a nominal increase in brokers' loans and money renewal at 8 per cent, with further decrease to 6 per cent. A steady tone prevailed, which resulted in some new highs being made.

Western Air Express was the feature of trading today. Opening with a 7½-point gain overnight, it rose with a volume of 2630 shares to establish a new all-time high at 80, and slumping under profit-taking to close with a 3½-point gain at 73½. The rights of this company were in demand during the forenoon, rising from 7½ at the opening to 8 at the noon, but were forced down to close at 6½.

Fokker was the most erratic performer of the aviation group. Opening 3 points lower at 64½, it lost to 61½, regaining with demand to close at 63½.

Fractional gains were seen in the rest of the aviation issues, with a comparatively large volume.

Bank of America, with a small volume of shares, rose from 226 to close at 245, showing a gain of 19 points, while Bank of America of California lost fractionally at 175½.

The oil group followed no consistent trend. Italo Petroleum common and preferred showed fractional losses at the closing prices of 7½ and 5¾, respectively.

In the industrial group gains with large volumes being traded in were shown by Marchant, Claude Neon Lights and Southern California Edison.

AIR STOCKS BOOSTED AGAIN

Western Express and Lockheed Active Following Fokker Announcement; Rumors Active

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Either the Fokker-General Motors announcement or actual developments of a constructive nature furnished the fillip for advances yesterday in some of the Pacific Coast airplane issues. Western Air Express and Lockheed Aircraft were the two most noticeably affected, the former selling up for an extreme gain of 10½ points and the latter 2⅜ points.

Activity in both of these issues was unexplained by anything approaching official information. Probably the best explanation in connection with Western Air Express is the belief held by a good many people that the stick is entitled to sell on the same basis as other airplane shares. Next in credibility is the supposition, or hope, that the Fokker investment by General Motors forecasts a similar entrance into Western Air. And then there is the possibility that the Aviation Corporation of Delaware is increasing its Western Air holdings through open-market purchases.

Western Air's earnings of $3.06 a share for the first quarter, or $2.45 a share after the issuance of the new stock, have likely attracted new interest to the stock. On the new stock basis the earnings are at the annual rate of nearly $10. Depending on what ratio of price to earnings is used as the theoretical yardstick, it is possible to figure of much higher levels at which the shares might sell. The ten-to-one and the fifteen-to-one schools both have their followers.

EARNINGS STIR INTEREST

There is, however, an important weakness in applying this measure to Western Air Express. The mail contract at $3 a pound expires April 17, 1930, or a little less than a year, and it is generally believed that the new contract will be signed at a lower rate. It is the opinion, nevertheless, of Adams & Peck, New York investment house which recently purchased and offered a block of Western Air, that should the rate be cut to as low as $1.50, increased volume of business should permit annual earnings in excess of $7 a share.

Linking of General Motors with Western Air is predicted on the interlocking interest between Western Air and Fokker. The Fokker controlling group is heavily interested in Western Air, and probably could swing the company in any direction it desires. The trouble is, however, there has never been any indication on the part of General Motors of a desire to get into the transportation business in any form.

LOCKHEED PICKED UP

If either of the two foregoing conjectures fails to explain yesterday's advance in Western Air, the Aviation Corporation story may do the work. This company, a holding and management organization in aviation, recently announced the purchase of a "substantial interest" in Western Air, and may be after more stock.

Affecting Lockheed Aircraft, the story has been in circulation for the last two weeks that eastern interests were accumulating the stock with the idea of obtaining control. There has been no verification of this report, except that the market shows some evidence of accumulation.

Jersey Company Earnings Record Sharp Increase

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the largest of the oil companies, in its annual report for 1928, showed a consolidated income of $108,485,686, compared with $40,422,758 in 1927. The earnings are equivalent to $4.43 a share on the 24,484,219 capital shares of $25 par value outstanding at the end of the year. The 1927 earnings were $1.52 a share.

The report, which covers the first complete year in which the company operated as a holding company, with the actual operations carried on by subsidiary companies, indicates that the company participated in the general recovery from the oil depression of 1927.

Last year's earnings were nearer those of 1926, when the company earned $117,652,201, and in 1925, when the earnings amounted to $111,231,355.

New Propeller Issue Offered

Public offering of 4800 shares of California Propeller Company, Inc., at $7.50 a share was announced yesterday by B. B. McCall & Co. of Los Angeles. The company manufactures airplane propellers in its plant at Redondo Beach, in which production was started at the rate of fifty propellers monthly on March 15, last. The company has been manufacturing propellers since 1926, having been previously located on South Main street, Los Angeles.

Recently it was announced that California Propeller, Guatemala Air Service and Albatross Aircraft Corporation of Santa Ana would combine into a $3,500,000 company. Capitalization of California Propeller consists of 10,000 shares of no par value stock authorized and outstanding.

GAS CORPORATION INCOME UP IN QUARTER

Consolidated income account of American Natural Gas Corporation for the three months ended March 31, 1929, shows gross revenues of $4,634,855.87, as compared with $3,954,769.80, for the first quarter of 1928, an increase of $680,086.07, it was reported yesterday. Gross corporate income, before interest, depreciation, depletion, etc., amounted to $2,665,765.71, as against $2,203,541.20, for the first three months of 1928, an increase of $462,224.71. For the twelve months ended March 31, last, gross revenues totaled $10,862,235.35, as compared with $10,173,735.64, for the year ended December 31, 1928. Gross corporation income for the twelve months, totaled $4,467,778.36, an increase of $462,728.01.

Net Profits of Hotel Holding Unit Off Shade

Central Investment Corporation, owner of the Los Angeles Biltmore property, reported net profits for the year ended December 31, last, of $234,648, equal to approximately $4 a share on 58,563 shares of capital stock as compared with $251,647 or $4.28 a share in 1927, according to the annual statement of the company which was released yesterday by James R. Martin, secretary-treasurer. Total revenues amounted to $703,224 as against $639,193 in 1927 while depreciation provision was $168,045 as against $157,497.

Dividends paid in 1928 aggregated $387,892 against $296,541 in the previous year and bond interest totaled $278,810 against $208,044. Operating expenses decreased from $20,720 in 1927 to $20,608.

Due to the construction of the Biltmore Annex during last year, which completed the company's construction program, the year operations cannot be regarded as typical, it was pointed out. The total rental revenues from 1929 to 1953 will approximate $898,350 annually. The company's income under the Biltmore contract is sufficient to retire all of the bonds, provide for adequate depreciation, pay 7 per cent dividends, and still accumulate a surplus of $3,155,546 by 1953, Mr. Martin said.

New Operating Venture in Oil Game Launched

Organization of the Gilmore-Bishop Petroleum Corporation by the Gilmore Oil Company and the Bishop Corporation of San Francisco, an old-established mining and oil-producing concern, was announced yesterday. Each of the two companies holds an equal interest in the new corporation. The officers and directors include Earl B. Gilmore, Louis J. Brunel, J. Tedesco and C. S. Beesemyer.

The new company has acquired the 1200-acre Pirie property, formerly controlled by the Wonder Oil Company, Ltd., which is in the vicinity of the Pan-American holdings near Ojai in Ventura county. The new interests plan to drill a deep test well immediately on this property which is an old producer of high gravity oil from shallow wells.

This will mark the first step in the Gilmore Oil Company's program to augment its extensive refining and marketing facilities with its own production.

Color Picture Concern Plans Hollywood Unit

Formation of a $2,000,000 subsidiary corporation to be known as the Colorart Productions, Ltd., was announced yesterday by Colorart Pictures, Inc., a Boston corporation with branch offices located in Hollywood.

Officers of the new company are Curtis F. Nagel, president; Charles R. Currier, vice-president; Howard C. Brown, treasurer, and Mervyn R. Bowd, secretary. Raine Bennett from San Francisco, nationally known in art and literary circles, has been engaged as associate producer.

Feature-length and superspecial motion pictures in natural colors will be produced by the new organization under the Technicolor process with the most modern dialogue sequences and sound effects, it is stated. The parent company for some years has specialized in the production of one-reel "Color Classics" and more recently in "Color Symphonies."

Curb Mart Adds Two New Issues

Stock of the International Projector Corporation to the amount of 1,000,000 shares of no par value and of Petroleum Rectifying Corporation in the amount of 120,000 shares of no par value have been approved and will be called for trading Monday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange.

International Projector manufactures motion-picture machines and talking-picture equipment and sells to Radio Corporation, Fox Films and Paramount - Famous-Lasky. The Petroleum Rectifying Corporation was organized eighteen years ago and operates dehydrating units extracting water from crude oil emulsion by a patented process.

GREAT LAKES AIRCRAFT RECEIVES LARGE ORDER

NEW YORK, May 17. (Exclusive) Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation of Cleveland, which booked $4,000,000 of advance orders from distributors at the recent aircraft show in Detroit, announced today the acceptance of approximately $750,000 of additional orders from distributors in New England and the Far West.

Orders announced were from North American Aviation, Inc., of Boston which will have distribution rights in New England, and the Vance Flying Service, of Great Falls, Mont., which will control Montana and Wyoming.

EARNINGS GIVEN BY CEMENT UNIT

Monolith Company Revenues Pointing Higher

First Quarter Net Equal to 40 Cents a Share

Figures for Year Up $13,871 Over 1927 Total

Monolith Portland Cement Company, stock of which has just been approved for listing on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, earned in 1928, after preferred dividends, $1.14 a share on the 225,000 common shares at present outstanding and showed net profits equal to 40 cents a share for the first quarter of this year, it was revealed yesterday in a statement issued by the company. Net profits for the full year 1927 were equal to $1.08 a share on the same common capital.

The net earnings for the year closed December 31, last, amounted to $375,780.20 after all charges including depreciation and Federal income taxes, as against $361,908.96 for 1927, an increase of $13,871.24.

The net profits for the first quarter ended March 31, last, totaled $160,422.33, or at the annual rate of more than $640,000. An interest charge of $33,333.33 was written against the quarter income, whereas no funded debt existed in the two preceding years. The funded debt of $1,000,000 first mortgage bonds was recently floated in connection with the purchase of the Monolith Portland Midwest Company.

The net-profit figure for the quarter and for each of the past five years is subject to a reduction pending interpretation of certain sales contracts, of about $64,000.

OPERATING RATIO UP

The net operating profits after deducting selling, general and administrative expenses, and depreciation, amounted to $441,657.14 for 1928, an increase of $19,461.64 over 1927. The March quarter net operating profits totaled $191,124.29, which is an annual rate of more than $760,000.

Earned surplus as of March 31, last, amounted to $442,637.93, while the surplus arising from appraisal of plant and equipment and value of leasehold on land containing limestone deposits was set up at $2,117,239.94. In addition, there was a surplus of $393,750 arising from the excess of valuation of investments in Monolith Portland Midwest Company over the stated value of the 300,000 shares of no par value common stock, which is the total issued by the Midwest company.

SUBSIDIARY MERGED

The Monolith Portland Midwest Company began operations this year at Lorainie, Wyo., and has outstanding 217,086 shares of 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $10 par value a share in addition to the common stock which is now all owned by the Monolith Portland Cement Company.

At the time of this acquisition, the Monolith Portland Cement Company changed its common capital structure from 150,000 shares of $10 par value to no-par stock, issuing 150,000 shares of the new stock to holders on a share-for-share basis and 75,000 shares in part payment for the Monolith Midwest unit. The remaining 50,000 shares of the authorized capital is held in reserve for conversion purposes. There are 150,000 shares of $10 par value cumulative convertible 8 per cent preferred outstanding.

Both preferred and common stock will be called for trading next Thursday on the board of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange.

Sign Company's Net Earnings in Year Show Drop

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (Exclusive)—Foster & Kleiser Company today reported for the fiscal year ended March 31, last, net profits of $1,205,361, compared with $1,400,091 for the previous year. Gross income was $8,107,141, as against $8,181,227. Earned surplus was increased $386,253 after payment of dividends and provision for Federal tax.

Net current assets at the end of the fiscal year amounted to $1,325,908, against $1,106,930 a year previous while total current liabilities were $352,255 against $440,714. In accordance with its announced policy, the company on December 31, last, retired 1000 shares of its preferred stock, leaving now outstanding $1,700,000 of which $204,400 is held for redemption.

Referring to the suit filed by the Department of Justice against several defendants, including the Foster & Kleiser Company, President George W. Kleiser said that a satisfactory consent decree was agreed upon and entered in the United States District Court. He added that the litigation was accountable for the decrease in both gross income and profit.

BANK RATE GOING UP IN BAY CITY

Last Institution in Federal Reserve Chain to Make 5 Per Cent Charge

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board announced today that effective Monday the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco would increase its discount rate to 5 per cent.

The San Francisco bank, which has had a discount rate of 4½ per cent, is the last of the twelve Federal Reserve banks to increase the rate to 5 per cent.

RUBBER ROADS IN PROSPECT

Ultimate Adoption as Highway Material Depends on Result of Experiments Now Under Way

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Rubber may some day be used extensively in road building. Manufacturers of present road-building material, such as asphalt and concrete, are watching the angle of the situation with much interest.

Rubber has extraordinary wearing qualities. For several years it has been used in sand-blast operations for gloves and tubing. Rubber manufacturers say rubber heels outlast leather.

Rubber has been used for road building in several places with surprising results. In Whitehall, London, rubber men tell me, tests revealed that the noise of a rubber roadway is less than a third of that heard with other paving, and that vibration was reduced. The tests revealed, further, I am told, that, contrary to common belief, the rubber road did not prove slippery or cause skidding of vehicles.

Another test made near London Bridge eliminated noise and vibration almost completely. The roadway there was laid in 1924, and no wear and tear to speak of are evident, so far.

In the United States several experiments in rubber roads have been tried, the Northern-avenue bridge in Boston, the East bridge at St. Louis, and a section of Michigan-avenue bridge in Chicago. These rubber paving blocks have been are merely tests and no definite results have yet been announced.

Singapore has a rubber road which has been in use five years. These subjected to 1,225,000 tons of weight and have shown no signs of wear, whereas a road adjoining, laid under modern methods of construction, has undergone repair three times, I am informed.

The cost at the beginning is high, but the maintenance costs are less, rubber men contend. They say that rubber requires no watering, is never dusty, and is nonabsorbent, and easily cleaned. This experiment will bear watching.

When Dr. Arthur D. Little, New York chemist, said recently that research during the last thirty years had prevented "one of the most appalling problems of the age," he started people thinking about the whole problem of research in industry.

Ten million jobs, created during the last thirty years as a result of research, would never have been found otherwise. These jobs have been filled by persons who had been displaced in other lines of activity. What would have happened had not research stepped in and made such positions possible?

Take the problem so baffling today, that of the surplus of farm products. If the chemist can find markets for this so-called glut, which is demoralizing farm prices and bankrupting many farmers, most of the agricultural difficulties would vanish. It is not at all impossible that this may be the mystic touch by which the farm problem will be solved.

Dr. C. K. Mees, director of research of the Eastman Kodak Company, speaking along the same line, said that the research laboratory was now the principal weapon of competition among manufacturers, either in the same industry or in industries supplying different materials, but which are competing for the customer's money. The most serious competitor of the automobile is the radio. Both are competing for the customer's dollar.

"Research does not yet cost as much as advertising, but the cost is of the same order and is increasing quite rapidly," says Dr. Mees.

Speaking of research, public-utilities companies have gone a long way in the development of steam power. So far, in fact, that Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, said recently that even if St. Lawrence power were produced at the lowest possible cost at which hydroelectric power has been developed, it is doubtful if New York City could be supplied with it more cheaply than it is at present with electricity developed by steam.

A few years ago it took three or four pounds of coal to produce a kilowatt hour of electricity, but today the average has been reduced to less than two pounds.

John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company, began experimenting in this field many years ago. Probably his company has spent as many millions in the development of hydroelectric power as any other corporation in the United States. Recently the company has been spending more and more on steam power. Mr. Miller told me that it looked as if steam power for some time to come would be cheaper to develop than water power.

But how about coal? Is there enough in the ground to meet this situation?

Thomas Edison says that the coal mined to date is less than 1 per cent of the available supply. In addition the efficiency of coal utilization, though still very low, about 20 per cent, has almost reached perfection.

So the further development of electricity, either by water or by coal, presents no serious problem for this generation.

UTAH WOOL POOLS SELL LARGE CLIPS

SALT LAKE CITY, May 17. (AP) Utah's two largest wool pools, the Jericho clip of 1,000,000 pounds and the Manti clip of 500,000 pounds, have been disposed of, wool buyers announced here today. The selling committee of the Jericho pool announced consignment to a Boston firm, the terms being 22 cents a pound in advance with 6 per cent interest, 2 cents commission and four months' free storage. The Manti pool was sold for 30 cents a pound.

STOCK REMOVED

Midway Northern Oil Company, having found it inadvisable to change the par value of its stock to $10 or more, will be removed from the Los Angeles Stock Exchange to the Curb, effective immediately.

GAIN NOTED IN TRADE ON WOOL MART

Survey Says Movement of Finer Grades Picks Up Sharply in Week

BOSTON, May 17. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

There is a brisker movement of wool, mostly fine grades, in the eastern seaboard markets, on the basis of 95 cents, clean, for good fine territory and Texas twelve months clips. With this basis for wool, fine standard tops have been reduced to $1.25. The goods market is moderately active but evidently very healthy.

In the West, interest has centered on Texas and Utah. The Jericho pool has been consigned to a Boston house. In Texas, possibly 3,000,000 pounds of eight months wool has been moved at 32 to 34 cents. Differences between growers and buyers over the new uniform contract caused the Angelo sale of twelve months wool Thursday to hang fire. Buying is proceeding elsewhere in the West in an intermittent fashion at about 90 cents clean basis for fine clips. In Ohio fine wools are bid at 30 and medium at 35 cents, with a like parity prevailing in other adjoining States.

London closed softer, with a carry over of 42,000 bales out of 132,000 bales. Australia was fairly steady on continental support largely.

Mohair is dull but steady.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to May 16, 1929, inclusive, were 69,807,000 pounds, against 70,248,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929, to May 16, 1929, inclusive, were 85,189,385 pounds, against 100,923,700 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

With the public disinclined for the present to make further commitments, another unsettled price list was evidenced yesterday at the close of operations on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Under the meager amount of business transacted there was not sufficient selling pressure or buying demand to create any well-defined market trend. Traders, however, succeeded in holding the market to approximately firm levels and there were no substantial changes recorded.

Emsco Derrick, which created a flurry with an unusually rapid turnover on the previous session, traded lightly and dropped off 1-4 to 39 along with Douglas Aircraft, which lost a similar amount to 41 1-4. Byron Jackson, another active industrial in the recent past, slipped back 5-8 to 41 5-8.

Oil issues, although traded in greater volume than on the previous day, were again transferred in a very quiet manner and held generally firm. Signal Oil was an exception, dropping off 1 1-4 points to 37. Richfield advanced 3-4 to 46 3-4, and Standard Oil of California firmed up 1-8 to 78. Union of California held firm at 49 5-8. Pacific-Western yielded 1-2 on a board-lot transfer at 17 1-2.

Bank stocks were left alone for the most part and showed no change. Transamerica firmed up 5-8 to 137. Utilities were active but the only changes recorded were of small fractional dimensions.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Western Air Express provided a sensation on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday with a jump of 10 1-2 points to a new all-time peak record at 80. Speculative enthusiasm was also aroused by an exceptionally rapid turnover of Lockheed Aircraft under which it spurted 2 3-8 points to a high for the day at 22 7-8.

Practically the entire market interest was centered upon these two issues, and while rumors of various kinds were freely circulated, none of the reports received any official recognition. Western Air closed the session at 79 for a net advance of 9 1-2 points, and Lockheed ended up 2 points to 22 1-2. Western Air rights soared 2 1-2 points to 7 1-2 and closed at 6 3-4.

Fokker Aircraft, after early strength, dropped to a low for the day at 61 3-4, and recovered to close at 62 3-4, off 3 1-4 points net. Maddux Air Lines and Aviation Corporation continued to change hands rapidly but closed fractionally lower. Claude Neon Electrical Products dropped 1 1-8 to 57 5-8. The balance of the list was unsettled.

Sales totaled 276,756 shares, valued at $1,323,299.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (AP)—Activity in Paraffine, Pacific Lighting and Richfield Oil and establishment of two new high levels by Alaska Packers and Consolidated Chemical, respectively, featured trading on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today.

Paraffine, developing new strength, jumped 1¾ points to close strong at 84¾; Pacific Lighting climbed 1¼ to 82½ and Richfield moved up ⅝ to 46⅝. Alaska Packers found a new peak at 186½ and Consolidated Chemical at 30. Other industrials acting well were Aviation Corporation of California at 29⅝, Bond and Share Company at 19⅝, Pacific Gas and Electric common at 59, Leslie Salt at 35½ and Langendorf "B" at 30½.

John Bean sold off 1¾ at 53¾ and fractional recessions were chalked against Byron Jackson at 41¾, Caterpillar Tractor at 83¾, Crown Zellerbach vtc. at 19½, Foster & Kleiser at 11½, Golden State Milk at 58 and Langendorf "A" at 33.

In the radio group, Magnavox was steady at 7½ and Kolster sold off ⅝ at 37⅝.

Among the oils, Standard at 77½, Union Associates at 49⅝, North American at 25 and Honolulu Consolidated at 43½ were fractionally lower.

Transamerica moved up 1 to 138. The American Company at 139½, Anglo and London Paris at 255 and Bank of California at 325 were steady. Crocker First National brought 400.

Total sales: Bonds, $2000; stocks, 41,744 shares of $2,882,233 market value.

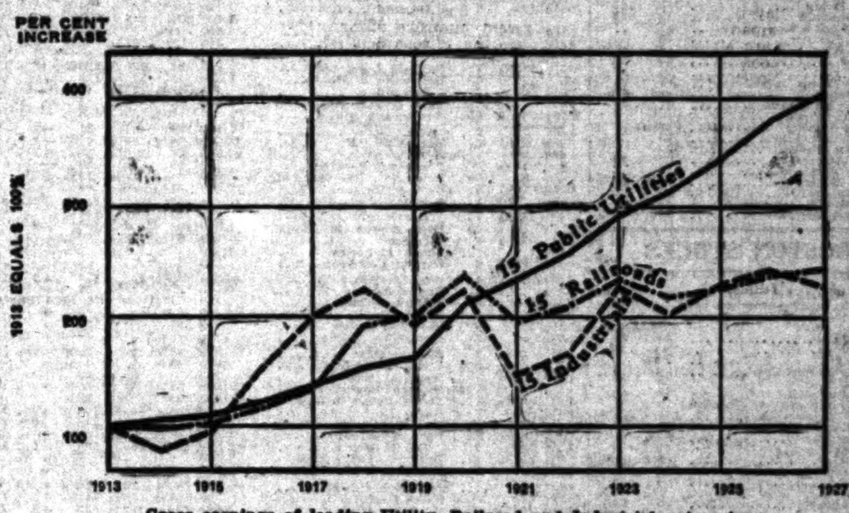
General Gas & Electric Corporation



Gross earnings of leading Utility, Railroad and Industrial enterprises.

Unbroken Growth
A Steady Upward Trend
is the record of the utility industry

During 1921, when the most serious business depression in fifty years occurred, when the volume of manufacture declined 32%, the electric light and power industry not only showed no loss but actually made a gain.

Why?

The public utility industry serves and receives revenue from almost every industry, every business and every home in practically every community of 1,000 population or over.

Even in any one city—unless it is a one-industry community—the active industries at any given time offset the less active ones.

The use of electricity in the average home is still for the most part on a minimum-necessity basis and can scarcely be reduced in less prosperous times.

Since 1913 the sale of manufactured gas has increased 160% and the number of customers nearly 80%.

The public utility industry is in its period of rapid growth. Additional uses and needs for its services are constantly arising.

The General Gas and Electric Corporation has large holdings in widely diversified utility enterprises. Its operating properties serve the prosperous citrous growing area of Florida and the rapidly developing industrial area of South Carolina centering at Columbia where a development on the Saluda River is being constructed which will have the largest artificial lake in the world for hydro electric power.

The unbending stability coupled with the steady upward trend of the industry offers an unparalleled investment opportunity.

about 14 points to a record price at 295, and closed at 289½. Auburn Auto again surged ahead with a gain of 18 points, taking it to a new peak at 254. The company reported record April sales, and Wall street unconfirmed gossip has it that the company is experimenting with an aviation motor and a new automobile chassis of radical design.

Burroughs Adding Machine continued to soar as a result of the proposed split up, mounting about 17 points to a new top at 319. Sparks Withington mounted more than 12, and Otis Elevator 17 points. Marlin Rockwell reached a new high on reports of a merger with Timken Roller bearing. Stromberg Carburetor also reached new high ground. Phillips Jones reached a new peak on rumors of a higher dividend and good earnings.

Utilities made marked headways, American Water Works rising 6 points and Detroit Edison 4 to records levels. Coppers improved, Anaconda selling up about 4 points at one time. Oils were firm, with Atlantic Refining, Houston and Beacon selling up a point or two.

Among the soft spots were Goodyear and International Telephone, which fell back more than 3 points, and Air Reduction, which dropped 5.

Commodities were featured by another break in wheat of 2½ to 3 cents a bushel. Selling was prompted by excellent weather and small export demand, and stop loss orders were caught. Corn lost about 2 cents. Cotton moved up in sympathy with an upturn at Liverpool, but ran into profit-taking and closed slightly lower.

Foreign exchanges were dull, with the gradual sag in sterling toward the gold point still apparent. Sterling cables touched $4.85 1-32.

California oranges found decidedly better conditions at eastern and middle western auction centers yesterday in comparison with the unfavorable condition of the past few days. The general range was unchanged, steady to higher, while even off-condition fruit found more encouraging prices. Some few points reported lower prices. Lemons ranged lower and depressed to higher, with a majority of points indicating conditions unchanged. Valencias were reported strong and unchanged.

Analysis of trading developed the following price range per box:

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, May 17. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: The iron and steel industry has come to the middle of the second quarter with prices on the firmest basis for many years. Price announcements for third quarter are expected shortly and talk of an advance of $1 to $2 a ton on plates, shapes and bars, or a $2 increase on auto body sheets and of higher prices of strip steel are heard. Semifinished steel quotations have been boosted $1 for third quarter already.

Little change is noted in the rate of specifications for steel sheets at Pittsburgh, while in the East consumers of this material continue to complain of deferred deliveries, although some progress has been made by the mills in catching up on their order back logs.

Copper is quiet but firm at 18c, Connecticut. Zinc firmer at 6.60 to 6.65c, East St. Louis. Lead steady at 6.70@6.85, East St. Louis, and 7c, New York. Tin is quiet at 43.87½c for spot straits.

METAL PRICES

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Copper steady; electrolytic spot and futures, 18. Iron steady, unchanged.

Tin easy; spot and futures, 43.75@43.87. Lead steady; spot New York, 7.00; East St. Louis, 6.75@6.80. Zinc steady; East St. Louis spot and futures, 6.60@6.65. Antimony, 8.87.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, May 17. (AP)—Trading on graded territory wools is uneven; sales of only moderate quantities have been reported. Prices on 64s and finer qualities have shown a slight weakness; inquiries have been broad for 56s strictly combing territory wools, but sales have been limited because of restricted supplies. A small amount 56s strictly combing Ohio fleece wools were sold in range of 45 to 46c in the grease.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Raw sugar, 3.61; refined, 5.00.

Futures closed steady; approximate sales, 47,750 tons. May, 1.81; July, 1.84; September, 1.89; December, 1.96; March, 2.02.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Major speculative activity in today's curb market was on the upside, but heavy week-end profit-taking chiseled away many of the early gains. Favorable developments in the credit situation, including the drop from 8 to 6 per cent in call money, the retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the small increase in brokers' loans in the face of heavy new financing, helped to revive speculative confidence, although some uneasiness developed at the close on reports that directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank were seeking approval for an increase in the rediscount rate.

Interest in the aviation issues was divided between Fokker and Western Air Express. Fokker ran up to a new high at 67½ on buying influenced by the announcement that the General Motors Corporation had purchased a 40 per cent interest in the company, but it slipped back to 63, closing unchanged at 63½. Western Air Express ran up more than 10 points to a new high at 75½ and eased to 73½. Bendix Aviation crossed 92 to a new peak, closing at 91½, up 3½ net.

Public utilities attracted a large following. Electric Bond & Share, which is expected to be transferred to the "big board" next week, moved up more than 4 points to a new high at 162½. United Gas Improvement, which Wall street hears is to be split up 4 for 1, advanced nearly 5 points to 195½, or just a small fraction below the year's top. Northeastern Power crossed 52 to a new high, and St. Regis Paper, which has large holdings of that issue, soared 13 points to a new peak at 160.

Bendix (old stock) ran up 16 points to a new high at 180, as against the year's low of 100. Aluminum Company of America, and General Bronze, also sold at the year's best prices. Associated Electrical Industries, popularly known as the British General Electric, changed hands in large volume, crossing 15 to a new peak. Tubize Artificial Silk ran up 35 points in odd-lot trading.

Oils failed to make any appreciable response to an increase of 1 cent a gallon in gasoline prices by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. In the mining group, Newmont ran up 7½ points, but lost 3. Ford Motor of Canada, B dropped 5 points on a few sales. McMarr Stores ran into profit-taking after its recent advance to new high ground.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Market Slumps to New Low of Years

CHICAGO, May 17. (AP)—Wheat, corn and rye all plunged downward today to new record low prices this season, with wheat outdoing any depth reached in years. The day's maximum break in wheat values was 3⅞c a bushel. One specially bearish factor was word that on top of present immense supplies of wheat, Canada's 1929 wheat acreage was in excess of last year's big total.

Wheat closed heavy at the day's lowest level, 2¼@2⅜ to 3⅛c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅝@2⅛c down, oats ⅝@1c off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12c.

Primarily today's breakdown of wheat prices came about through a nearly complete absence of new buying demand. Moderate selling pressure, chiefly from houses with eastern connections, revealed early that the market was devoid of adequate support. This circumstance led quickly to a general rush to execute stop-loss sales.

Taking the day as a whole, competition to sell in the wheat market was mainly between holders and at no time was there evidence of power to rally displayed. Reports at hand were practically unanimous in telling of excellent crop prospects and of super-abundant supplies already in sight. Moreover, trans-Atlantic call today for North American wheat was slack and not expected to revive until after Tuesday, most European markets being closed meanwhile on account of Whitsuntide holidays. In particular, Germany's wheat needs were reported being filled from Argentina, where ample wheat was reported available to furnish good-sized shipments until as far ahead as the end of the December.

Corn traders were stampeded by the action of wheat. They ignored prospects of less favorable weather, notably a forecast of showers and cooler temperatures, with frost looked for tonight in parts of the West. Oats and rye were also pulled down by wheat weakness.

Provisions tended to decline on account of liquidating sales in the lard market.

Neon Electric Plan Ratified

Stockholders of Claude Neon Electrical Products, Inc., (Arizona) at the annual meeting in Phoenix yesterday ratified the proposal of the directors to reorganize the concern by incorporating a new company under the laws of Delaware. The name of the new company will probably be the Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation and it will have 15,000 shares of $100 par preferred stock and 1,000,000 shares of $1 par common stock. It is planned to consolidate all the Claude Neon companies in the West into the new corporation through an exchange of stock.

The stockholders of the Arizona company also voted to assign certain contract interests of the company with the Richfield Oil Company to Highway Communities, Inc., in connection with the erection of service stations and lighting towers. All directors were re-elected.

NEVADA WOOL PRICE HITS SEASON'S PEAK

RENO (Nev.) May 17. (AP)—The highest price yet paid this season for Nevada wool was 30½ cents for the 15,000 fleece clip of the Griswold-Henderson Livestock Company of Elko Nev., it was announced here today. It was sold in Boston. The largest sale of California and Nevada wool, it was announced at the same time, was 150,000 fleeces of Modoc wool sold at Boston at 29 cents f.o.b. Alturas, Cal. The latter includes the clip of close to fifty growers in Northwestern Nevada, and Northeastern California.

Revised Figures on 1928 Cotton Crop Reported

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The Department of Agriculture in revised estimates of the cotton crop of 1928 today reported total production for the year was 14,478,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

The Census Bureau also revised its ginnings for the year showing a total of 14,477,874 bales of 500 pounds gross weight ginned up to May 17, 1929.

The department said the principal cause of damage during 1928 was the boll weevil, the reported loss averaging 14.1 per cent for the cotton belt proper. This figure was somewhat below the 18.5 per cent reported for 1927, but above every other year since 1923.

The next most important cause of damage, the department announced, was excessive moisture. Damage attributed to excessive moisture was 7.3 per cent, compared with 4.9 per cent in 1927. Damage attributed to deficient moisture was 4.4 per cent, compared with 6.4 per cent in 1927.

Regional Bank Group to Meet

Group No. 4 of the California Bankers' Association will hold its annual spring meeting at Lake Norconian Club in Norco today. The afternoon program includes discussions of safe deposit, commercial and savings department methods, escrows, collections and loans.

Following a banquet in the evening, at which Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier College, will speak, officers and members of the executive committee for the ensuing year will be elected. Present officers include President C. W. Wilson, of San Diego; Vice-President O. G. Horne, of El Centro; Secreary P. R. Jennings, of San Diego, and Treasurer G. A. Marsh, of Colton.

El Graf Zeppelin Se Encuentra ya Seguro en Francia

CUERS (Francia), Mayo 17.—El dirigible Graf Zeppelin se halla ya seguro esta noche en un tinglado de aquí, en tanto que el mistral, con el que todo el día sostuvo peligrosa lucha la aeronave, sigue soplando con furia, aunque con menor intensidad.

El averiado dirigible, en el cual ya sólo dos de sus cinco motores funcionaban normalmente, pudo ser halado a tierra aquí, a la orilla del Mar Mediterráneo, y amarrado al único mástil de dirigibles que hay en Francia. Los dieciocho viajeros y cuarenta tripulantes que venían a bordo pudieron poner pie en tierra después de haber sido azotados por la tormenta durante todo el día.

La aeronave atracó al mástil a las 8:35 p.m. (11:35 a.m., hora oficial del Pacífico); es decir, más de treinta y ocho y media horas después de haber salido de Friedrichshafen, y puesto la proa hacia Lakehurst (Nueva Jersey). Doce horas después de iniciado el vuelo, el doctor Hugo Eckener, ante la perspectiva de continuar el viaje con sólo tres motores hábiles, decidió virar y enderezar la proa hacia el punto de partida.

A la llegada del dirigible a esta población de 3000 habitantes, el alcalde y casi todos los doctores se encontraban en el aeródromo; pero los pasajeros no tuvieron necesidad de auxilios médicos. Dijeron algunos de ellos que en las últimas horas el dirigible los había sacudido bastante; pero que ninguno había salido lesionado. El doctor Hugo Eckener fué el último en bajar de la barquilla, e inmediatamente se dirigió a dar las gracias a las autoridades francesas, quienes, con muchos particulares del Valle del Ródano, habían estado co-operando todo el día para lograr que la nave aterrizara a salvo.

La Rivalidad de dos Iglesias Estorba un Matrimonio Real

SOFIA (Bulgaria), Mayo 17.—De fuente muy autorizada se ha sabido hoy que los cánones de la Iglesia Nacional Búlgara y los de la Iglesia Católica Romana han estorbado el enlace del Rey Boris de Bulgaria con la Princesa Juana de Italia. La autorizada persona que da esta información ha dicho que, de no ser por la actitud del Vaticano y por la imposibilidad de acceder en que se halla la iglesia búlgara, los esponsales de la real pareja habrían sido anunciados el miércoles, durante las fiestas nacionales búlgaras.

El Rey Boris y la bella hija de 22 años del Rey Víctor Manuel sienten verdadero amor el uno por la otra, y desean vehementemente unirse en matrimonio. Quien primero sugirió el enlace fué la duquesa Elena, tía materna de Boris, que es tía paterna de Juana, y la proyectada unión mereció la aprobación del padre de Juana, del primer ministro Mussolini, y del gobierno.

El espontáneo deseo que todos sentían por dicho matrimonio, que estuvo a punto de ser anunciado oficialmente, se encontró con el insuperable obstáculo de diferencias religiosas, ante las que no han querido ceder ni el Vaticano ni el Santo Sínodo. La desavenencia principal estriba en que cada una de las dos iglesias insiste en que los hijos del matrimonio sean educados dentro de ella.

CAREWE AND EX-WIFE TO WED, REPORT

Film Pair, Once Divorced, Said by Friends to Plan Remarriage June 20

Edwin Carewe, well-known motion-picture director, plans to remarry his divorced wife, Mary Akin

Edwin Carewe

Carewe, former film actress, on or about June 20, it was learned last night from close friends of the couple.

Secret arrangements for the ceremony are being completed, according to persons who are close to Mrs. Carewe, and it is reported that the marriage will take place in Los Angeles just before Mr. Carewe leaves for New Orleans where his latest motion-picture production, "Evangeline," will open the week of June 20.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Carewe refuse to admit the planned remarriage, friends say the ceremony will take place so that the southern trip will become a second honeymoon for the pair. Since their divorce less than a year ago the Carewes have maintained "extremely friendly relations," Mrs. Carewe admitted last night.

According to intimates, Mr. Carewe has been very attentive to his former wife for several weeks. Out of this grew the possibility of a reconciliation. Thus another chapter will be added to the uneven romance of the prominent pair that has been the subject of many rumors and much speculation on the part of the members of the film colony during the last year.

Mr. Carewe's name has been coupled repeatedly with that of a prominent motion-picture actress, whom he directs, in rumors that he might marry her. Through all of this gossip, Mrs. Carewe defended her former husband.

The Carewes were married in 1925, in Mexico. They were divorced June 10, last year. They have two children, Sally Ann, 3½ years of age, and Edwin Gilbert, 18 months. Since the divorce Mrs. Carewe has devoted herself to magazine writing and editing.

MERGER OF BUS LINES EFFECTED

Nearly All Large Systems West of Chicago Involved

Total Holdings Reported at About $50,000,000

Pickwick Company Involved, But Not Subsidiaries

In a motorbus merger completed yesterday in Chicago practically every major motorbus line west from Chicago was affected and properties valued at approximately $50,000,000 are involved.

Under provisions of the merger, which was announced last night by Thomas E. Morgan, vice-president of the Pickwick Corporation of Los Angeles, all of the motorbus interests of the Pickwick Corporation have been grouped with those of the Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company, the Yelloway Company and Greyhound bus lines of the Central West.

COAST OFFICERS HERE

Western headquarters of the new holding corporation will be maintained in Los Angeles and central headquarters at Chicago, Mr. Morgan said.

The Pickwick Corporation's holdings of hotel terminals, Pickwick Airways, Inc., Pickwick Nite Coach Company and the Pickwick Broadcasting Company are not involved in the merger agreement, it was asserted.

According to Mr. Morgan, the territory in which the new corporation will operate will be divided into two groups, as follows:

WEST TO DENVER

The Central West group will include operation from Chicago to New Orleans, west to Denver and El Paso, and all of the intermediate territory. This operation will be known as the Pickwick-Greyhound Lines and will include motorbus lines owned in that district by the Yelloway Company, Greyhound Lines, Prairie Stages and Comet Stages.

Charles F. Wren, president of the Pickwick Corporation, will be president of this group, with Howard H. Morgan, general manager of the Pickwick-Greyhound stages, as general manager. The Pickwick Corporation will own 50 per cent of the outstanding stock of this group.

The Pacific Coast group will be composed of all the operations from Denver and El Paso west and north, including Pickwick Stages Lines, Inc., Pickwick Stages of Arizona, Yelloway-Pioneer Stages, California Transit Company, Oregon Stages, Salt Lake-Klamath Falls-Portland Stages, Auto Transit Company and Sierra Nevada Stages.

PRESENT PERSONNEL

This group of operations will be owned one-third by the Pickwick Corporation, one-third by the Southern Pacific Company and one-third by the Motor Transit Management Company of Chicago in a holding company. The individual operation will be conducted under its present operating name and personnel.

Thomas Wilson, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company, will be president of this group and Charles F. Wren, president of the Pickwick Corporation, will be chairman of the board of directors of the holding company for the Pacific Coast group.

"The Pacific Coast and Central West group have a long term operating agreement with the Greyhound Lines, whose operations are very extensive from the Mississippi River east to the Atlantic Seaboard," said a statement issued last night.

CONTRACT IN FORCE

"The Pickwick Airways have a long term contract for the sale of its tickets and joint operation with both the Central West and Pacific Coast groups.

"The Pickwick Nite Coach Company will build sleeping coaches, which will be leased to the various operating companies.

"It is estimated that the merged interests will amount to approximately $50,000,000, and that enormous operating economies can be effected by and through this joint ownership.

"It is expected that these bus lines will furnish bus transportation over many of the routes wherein the rail companies desire to discontinue train service and substitute bus transportation.

"The officers, directors and personnel of the Pickwick Corporation will remain unchanged."

SHRINE PARADE PLAN READY

More Than Sixty Patrols Will Form Escort for Chief Officials in March on June 4

More than sixty Shrine patrols will form the official escort for the Imperial Potentate and Imperial Divan in the oriental parade which will open the Fifty-fifth Annual Shrine Convention here on Tuesday morning, June 4.

This was announced yesterday by Fred J. Wadley, Jr., chairman of the Shrine Patrol committee.

Fred J. Wadley Jr.

The finest mounted patrol in the world, that of Abu Bekr Temple in Sioux City, Iowa, will appear in both the day and the night Shrine oriental parades, Wadley stated. The Abu Bekr mounted patrol is made up of horsemen, mounted on snow-white Arabian horses.

The Shrine patrols will wear new costumes for the night parade on Wednesday evening, June 5, and will execute fancy drills while passing in review in the Coliseum arena. Hundreds of the Shriners will carry illuminated novelties.

Medinah Temple of Chicago will send the largest patrol, numbering more than 400 members, while Syria Temple of Pittsburgh will have more than 300 uniformed Shriners in its patrol.

The Shrine patrols all will take part in the stag barbecue at Ed Maier's Santa Susana ranch Wednesday. They will embark on special trains at 9 a.m. and return late in the afternoon in order to appear in the parade that evening.

McFIE ASKS VOTES FOR CANDIDATES

School Board's Members Not Elected at Primary He Warns Citizens

The danger of indifference to the question of the Board of Education at the June 4 elections was pointed out yesterday by Maynard McFie, chairman of the Citizens' School Committee.

While two of the candidates indorsed by the committee, Mrs. Carrie Parsons Bryant and Mrs. Elysabeth Louise Clark, were elected at the primaries, the two others, Harry H. Baskerville and Arthur W. Eckman, failed to be elected by a small number of votes despite the fact they polled almost three times as many votes as their nearest opponent, Mr. McFie pointed out.

"This misunderstanding can result in irreparable wrong to the present efficient administration of the city school system unless it is corrected," he declared. "The fact that two of the Citizens' School Committee candidates were elected at the primaries naturally gives an assurance that the other two shall be named to the Board of Education June 4, but no chances must be taken.

Mr. Baskerville and Mr. Eckman will run against two other nominees, both sponsored and endorsed by the Socialist Party.

TAXPAYERS PLAN PLEAS TO COUNTY

Committees Will Call on Board for Relief from Heavy Park Assessments

Committees from taxpayers' associations in the Western City area taxed for the support of Alondra Park are preparing to call on the County Board of Supervisors next week to ask the board to grant them some form of relief under the Mattoon Act, from what they say is excessive taxation.

Meetings in the last few days have been addressed by Leslie M. Tarr, former deputy County Counsel, who helped form the district, which originally included much more territory than it does now.

According to Tarr, the Board of Supervisors can transfer from the general fund of the county any amount they desire to the interest and sinking fund of any Mattoon Act project.

"The tax burden on District No. 28 is more than would seem equitable," said Tarr. "Here is a district of some 9000 acres and 5000 population taxing itself to support a park advantages of which can be enjoyed by the whole State. The effect will be that people will give up their homes in this area, and move away, before they will pay such an excessive and inequitable tax."

Boy's Injuries Cause Change in School Rule

The corduroy trouser tradition at the Los Angeles High School passed from the hands of the student body yesterday, and in the future cases of infractions will be referred to R. C. Noble, vice-principal, for mediation.

This decision was made last night following a conference between E. W. Oliver, principal, and Earl E. Sidebottom, father of Leon Sidebottom, a sophomore, injured in a leap from a third-story window in escaping upper-classmen who resented the wearing of corduroys by the unprivileged high-school student.

A complete investigation of the affair was made yesterday by members of the high school faculty, and a meeting was held for a discussion of the accident. Members of the senior class who were connected with the unfortunate occurrence explained the circumstances to school officials, and expressed regret at the outcome. The plan to place future situations of the kind in the hands of the vice-principal was agreed upon.

The matter was placed before the parents of the injured youth by Principal Oliver, who explained that he represented the faculty and entire student body in tendering regrets. The parents and Leon told the school official they were very sorry about the affair and the unfavorable and unfair publicity that the accident has received.

CITY DRIVE TO CLEAN UP LOTS READY

Council Gives Authority for Annual Weed Fight to be Launched Monday

Formal authorization for the annual lot-cleaning campaign was given by the City Council yesterday when it denied the protests against the ordinances of intention setting up the four weed districts into which the city is divided for the purpose and then passed the final ordinance.

The cost of the work will be assessed against the owners of all the lots where it is done, lot owners in the districts who have the work done themselves not being subject to assessment. The amount of the assessments will not be fixed until the work is done and its cost determined, but the levy will be slight. Last year it averaged only $3.82 per lot.

A force of 102 laborers and six foremen will be employed in the campaign. They will start to work Monday and continue until August 16. All lots which have not been weeded and cleaned by their owners before Monday will be cleaned by the city force.

CHURCH FORMS DANCE CLASSES

Plymouth Congregational Sunday-school Pupils Taught Without Cost How "to Use Their Bodies and Minds to Express the Good, Beautiful and True"

When, in reply to a questionnaire, representative young men and women of several Los Angeles churches

accused modern preachers of being "selfish, lazy, lacking in pep" and "unwilling to enter the spirit and programs of youth," they evidently failed to give due credit to ministers of the type of Dr. H. C. Culbertson who recently inaugurated dancing classes at Plymouth Congregational Church, for the entertainment and edification of members of his Sunday school.

Three dancing classes every Wednesday afternoon and two every Thursday afternoon, in which more than 200 boys and girls participate, are taught at Plymouth Church by Mrs. W. H. Lyman, who formerly was Miss Agnes Vernon of New York. The classes are free to all children of the church. Mrs. Lyman, who lives at 622 North Palm Drive, Beverly Hills, wants to "keep in touch with young life" and to give the boys and girls an opportunity for self-development.

"I believe that the church and the theater are closer together than ever before," said Mrs. Lyman. "The foundation of everything good lies within the church. Why not en-

LANDSLIDE MAY ALTER PORT TIP

Earth Shift Affecting Large Point Fermin Section

Crack Becomes Deep Hole in Front of One House

Emergency Steps Taken by Municipal Officials

San Pedro ultimately may possess a changed face at the tip of its picturesque Point Fermin if a deep crack in the earth's crust, slowly widening for the past four months, continues through the years.

First discernible January 2, last, the crack runs from the sea cliff at Point Fermin Park inland one-half block and back to sea at Pacific avenue and Paseo del Mar, taking in five acres. Since then the dozen dwellings and apartment-houses to the seaward have experienced successive breaks in gas and water lines.

Yesterday the edge of the crack caved in in front of Charles Fulton's house at 802 Shephard street, leaving a deep hole ten feet long and three feet across, and inspiring a hasty exodus of the tenants. A garage across the alley also was moved partly off its foundation.

Elsewhere the crack is barely discernible across the pavements, but extends down the 100-foot cliffs, indicating a phenomenon of deep origin.

FIRST SURVEY

The first survey of the earth movement was undertaken April 8, last, by Guy Donald, district engineer for Los Angeles. It disclosed an elongation of the center line of the street of eight inches and a dropping of three inches at Paseo del Mar and Carolina streets. Two more movements of half an inch each were recorded April 19, and the 16th inst.

Other dwellers have indicated no alarm and have had no orders to abandon the area, although John Shaw, city engineer, after visiting the scene yesterday, frowned on issuance of permits for any additional new buildings.

Shaw also ordered the immediate filling of all cracks and the prevention of any seepage of water into them.

Meanwhile the streets cars, busses and motor traffic continue traversing the area, and there are more visitors to the park than ever.

MOVEMENT EXPLAINED

Geologically, the phenomenon has been called a landslide. It is explained that at the very tip of the point the strata pitch at such an angle that underlying layers have been soaked and softened by the sea and the tip gradually is settling. Such identical slips are declared to be occurring in countless places along the shore line, but due to lack of habitation are not usually so apparent.

Plans are said to be developing for a proposal that the City Council condemn the affected area and dedicate it to park purposes.

Dr. F. L. Ransome, geologist of the California Institute of Technology, was retained to make a survey of the situation.

His report fixes the boundaries of the slide roughly as Shepard street on the north and Pacific avenue and Carolina street on the east and west. From January 2 until he submitted his report several days ago, Dr. Ransome says, the ground moved seaward eight inches along the line of Carolina street and downward 2.5 inches at the intersection of Paseo del Mar and Carolina street.

He definitely characterizes the situation as a landslide in an early stage of development and says that the movement is likely to continue, although the rate probably will be slow and intermittent. He adds the warning that an access of large quantities of water to the area probably would accelerate the movement and produce possibly disastrous consequences. Stress is laid by the report on the fact that the area is not suitable for the erection of large permanent structures.

The geological causes of the slide are summarized by the report as follows: The generally thin-bedded, fragile character of the shale; additional weakness due to folding and probably earlier faulting of the beds; the prevailing dip of the beds toward the ocean; wave erosion which, by cutting a cliff more than 100 feet high, brought about a condition under which the softer rocks of the cliff are unstable; the presence of moisture in the rocks; the abundance of gypsum, as small seams between the layers of the shale and as small veinlets that cut across the shale layers.

As measures to control the situation, Dr. Ransome recommended that:

Surveys should be made at regu-

TEMPLE ENIGMA PERSISTS

Efforts to Confirm Mrs. Kennedy's Reaffiliation With Church Management Unavailing

An air of mystery yesterday continued to envelope the secret arrival here of Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, erstwhile business manager of Angelus Temple, a week ago, and despite persistent rumors that she again will assume control of temple business affairs all efforts to confirm the report failed.

Preparations for her forthcoming legal battle with Rev. H. H. Clark, Seattle minister, who filed a $50,000 breach-of-promise suit against her several weeks ago, also will occupy some of her time, it was indicated yesterday when the mother of Aimee Semple McPherson was reported in Bakersfield, where Clark formerly lived, interviewing various persons.

Just as secretly as she came into Los Angeles a week ago, which fact she had kept well guarded until late Friday night, Mrs. Kennedy and an unidentified woman were reported registered at the Hotel El Tejon in Bakersfield yesterday.

When the room the two women were reported occupying answered a telephone call the voice denied Mrs. Kennedy was in.

"May we interview Mrs. Kennedy?" the unidentified woman was asked later.

"Well, she isn't in just now and we do not know when she will return," the voice replied.

Angelus Temple attaches said that Mrs. McPherson, who met her mother Friday in a peace conference and during which they sealed the rift in their personal affairs that occurred more than a year ago, is out of the city until late today.

Miss Mae Waldron, Mrs. McPherson's confidential secretary, said the evangelist is spending her weekly vacation in Riverside and that she is not with Mrs. Kennedy in Bakersfield.

Not to lock the door after the horse has gone; but it would seem to be a weird idea to keep anything as inflammable and explosive as celluloid film in the basement of a hospital.

THE POISON-GAS WAR

What the gas did in this Cleveland catastrophe is a hint of what will happen in the event of a war in which poison gases are used. It will not be the soldiers who will suffer; but the women and children in the big cities. It will be a reversion to barbarism. Even the most primitive of savage tribes let men fight men.

CALLES RETIRES

It is with some misgivings that the friends of Mexico will see Gen. Calles retire to private life. Mexico is still in the condition of emergence. It cannot go on without a man of great strength of character sitting in the Castle of Chapultepec. Calles has many enemies. The recent revolution was essentially an anti-Calles revolt. Nevertheless his has been a strong hand.

$12,000 A YEAR

The bill for the upkeep of Charlie Chaplin's two children has staggered the court and left the rest of us speechless. The youthful mother says she can't manage to scrimp along and rear them with enough to eat and wear on less than $12,000 a year.

Charles can look back to the day when he and his brother, Syd, picked up enough to eat from the refuse fruit thrown out in the alleys behind a big London fruit market.

ALMA RUBENS

It is a pitiful thing that Alma Rubens goes back to the observation ward while her best picture is being shown at a local theater. It seems like the swan song of what could have been a great career on the stage.

THE TALKIE MENACE

The theater world is torn up over the vital problem of what the talkies will do to the stage. If the talkie devices are ever developed to the point where they do not sound like a man hollering down a cistern, they will do plenty.

What the stage will suffer from is not inferior quality; but lack of intimacy. The power of a talking close-up is terrific—or will be. It is doubtful if the public will find satisfaction again in going back to figures—half seen—on a distant stage. For many years, it has been the struggle of theater producers to get the actors closer to the audience. This has been accomplished by the talkie.

BALL ON CAMPUS TONIGHT

Members and friends of La Tertulia, Spanish club at the University of Southern California, tonight at 8 o'clock will hold a Spanish masquerade ball at the Student Union Building on the Trojan campus.

Bloody Auto With Bullet Marks Points to Fate of Missing Manufacturer

Joe Porrazzo Told Cousin of Intended Trip

Police to Study Prints on Machine's Interior

Rich Bottlemaker Carried Large Sums in Cash

A bullet hole in the door of an expensive sedan and blood splotches on the upholstering last night gave mute prophecy to the probable fate of Joe Porrazzo, 29 years of age, a wealthy bottle manufacturer who has been mysteriously missing for two days.

The automobile, abandoned Thursday morning near 1923 East Seventh street, yesterday gave but one clew—it was registered to Mrs. Irene Abaria of 3469 Rowena avenue—and that provided police with the most entangling mystery faced by them in recent months.

TOLD OF TRIP

Detective Lieutenants Sanderson and Corsini, after interviewing Mrs. Abaria, ascertained that Porrazzo is her cousin. He came to her home early Thursday and borrowed her machine, saying he was going to visit a distant ranch.

The officers again picked up Porrazzo's trail at a garage at 1856 East First street, where he met and departed with a stranger, whom friends of Porrazzo there never had seen before.

The large sedan appeared again within a few hours, however, in front of 1923 East Seventh street, where its presence intrigued the curiosity of H. C. Fletcher, who notified the police yesterday.

Examination by Detective Lieutenants Sanderson, Corsini, Olivas and Hanson, disclosed that a bullet, probably of .38 caliber, apparently fired from the right side of the machine, crashed into the inner side of the left front door in such range that it might have shattered the arms of the driver. The upholstery and running boards are blood-spattered.

Today Sanderson and Corsini will make an effort to obtain finger prints from the glossy finish of the car and make a detailed inspection in hopes of finding some clew to unravel the mystery.

Possaro is known widely in the Hollenbeck Heights vicinity. He lived for many years at 1316 Warren street, but recently bought a home at 3469 Rowena avenue. In his business he is known to have become well-to-do, and always carried with him large sums of money.

Whether he has fallen victim to highwaymen or met his fate at the hands of some vengeful enemy the officers are unable to determine on the face of the meager clews now known to them.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS BALL PLANS PROGRESS

Plans for the annual military ball sponsored by Cabrillo Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, at the Elks' Temple next Friday, are progressing rapidly under the supervision of the chairman of the general committee, John J. Clark. The event will be attended by a number of prominent citizens and public officials, it is announced.

WOMAN SCREAMS WHEN LAW SEIZES DAUGHTER

Screaming "My baby, my baby," Mrs. Christina Economas became hysterical in the corridors of the Courthouse yesterday, when bailiffs of Superior Judge Schauer's court took charge of her 4-year-old daughter preparatory to placing her in a neutral home.

John Economas, father of the child, had complained to the court that he was afraid to visit the child because of threats he said had been made by his divorced wife's three brothers.

Judge Schauer ordered probation officers to investigate, and pending the investigation directed that the child, Beverly, be cared for in a home where the father can visit her unmolested.

Mrs. H. E. Baker, 1917 West Adams street, the child's grandmother, rose in her seat and shouted defiance to the court's order.

"This isn't justice!" she screamed. Two bailiffs had to restrain the infuriated woman as a matron from Sheriff Traeger's office assumed custody of the child.

courage the development of our future artists in the church? The church is the proper place to teach a child the art and joy of self-expression. Children should be taught to use their bodies and minds to express the good, the beautiful and the true."

According to Dr. Culbertson, the Sunday-school pupils are better behaved and show greater respect for leadership since they began to study artistic dancing. Ballroom dancing is not taught, the boys and girls dancing separately, in different classes.

vention here, will be served by Jose Romero, native California chef.

Shrine patrols are famous for their colorful costumes and will play an important part in the convention festivities which will be held in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The major Shrine events include, besides the oriental parades, four performances of a sixty-five-act Circus Maximus and a $1,000,000 motion-picture electrical pageant. Heavy season-ticket sales for these events are reported at B. H. Dyas stores in both Los Angeles and Hollywood.

It is estimated that more than 6000 Shriners will march in the morning parade, while more than 8000 will take part in the night parade.

Wife of Japan's Consul Expires on Visit Home

Japanese and Americans here and in Oregon are grieving because of the death of Fumiko Midsusawa, wife of Japanese Consul Kosaku Midsusawa, who died on the 13th inst., while visiting in Japan. Mr. Midsusawa will leave Los Angeles Tuesday for his home.

The Midsusawas came here about two years ago from Portland and made many friends, not only among their own people but among Americans. For some time Mrs. Midsusawa had not been well and last March with her three young children she went to Japan to visit her mother, hoping also that the change in climate and conditions would benefit her. Death came, however, at a hospital in a town near Kobe.

The Los Angeles consular corps, of which Consul Midsusawa is an esteemed member, tendered him a formal note of sympathy at its meeting Thursday.

Graduates of Other Years Plan Reunion

Six graduates of '77 will attend the annual get-together of Los Angeles High School students of other years scheduled for Monday afternoon and evening. The program will begin at 4 o'clock to be followed by a dinner and abonfire on Housh Field.

"As this is the fiftieth anniversary of the first high school in Los Angeles, we are going to celebrate it in noble fashion, S. L. Kreider, one of the school's alumni, declared yesterday.

"We want to bring in every former student within traveling distance, especially those who are among the old-timers on our list."

PARK MUSIC TO START

A popular concert of vocal and instrumental numbers by Ernie Owen's orchestra this evening will open formally the season of nightly programs at Westlake Park. Tomorrow there will be a continuous program from 2 until 10 p.m., featured at 4 p.m. by jazz band playing from the pontoon platform on the lake.

Fete Will Mark Opening Day of Hollywood Bank

Formal opening today of the limit-height Bank of Hollywood Building, Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street, featuring the financial institution's official house warming, will be a gala event typical of the motion-picture capital.

Financiers, motion-picture celebrities and civic leaders have signified their intention of being present to congratulate Gilbert H. Beesemyer, chairman of the board, and G. R. Dexter, president of Bank of Hollywood on the bank's new home.

Orchestras will furnish music and souvenirs, including busts of President Hoover, will be presented to patrons. The main bank lobby will be banked with flowers, the donors of which represent the major financial and commercial institutions of Los Angeles and Hollywood. The reception will continue tonight.

Five years ago one and two-story houses dotted the area in which the new Bank of Hollywood Building now stands in a nest of seven limit-height structures.

Local Student Again Honored at Law School

For the second consecutive year, Isadore Prinzmetal, 23-year-old Los Angeles student in the law school of University of California at Berkeley, has been awarded special honors. Yesterday his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prinzmetal of 130 South Avenue 56 received word that at the graduation exercises last Wednesday he received the Sheffield Sanborn Scholarship in Jurisprudence as the reward of outstanding achievement.

A graduate of University of California at Los Angeles, class of '27, Prinzmetal last year took the University Graduate Teaching Fellowship. He is an editor of the law school's publication, California Law Review, and an associate of Rabbi Louis I. Newman in the activities of the Temple House of Congregation Emanu-El, San Francisco.

lar intervals to determine the rate of movement.

All open cracks should be filled and protected from the inflow of surface water.

A system of drainage should be installed to carry off any water that otherwise might sink deeply into the disturbed area.

That the land should be condemned by the city to prevent the erection of any more buildings on it and possibly be converted into a public park.

In transmitting this report to the City Council, City Engineer Shaw mentioned the measures his department already has taken in accordance with Dr. Ransome's suggestions and added that he now is preparing a plan to establish an adequate underground drainage system in the streets and parkways within the affected area. He also recommended that the private property owners be requested to give the city authority to fill the cracks on private property.

In accordance with another suggestion by Maj. Shaw, the Department of Building and Safety has been notified of the condition as a guide in the matter of issuing building permits for the area. No mandate has been given by any authority, however, against the issuance of building permits.

Since the only protective measure of those recommended upon which the Council can take any action is that of condemning the land for a public park, the whole file in the matter has been transmitted to the Council's Parks and Playgrounds Committee.

BARGAIN OFFERED IN BAY CITY SEA TRIP

Next Thursday and Friday will be bargain day for those who wish to go to San Francisco. The Los Angeles Steamship Company offers a round-trip excursion rate of $15 for the Harvard on Thursday and the Yale on Friday. The fare includes meals and berth with six-day return limit. Standard inside staterooms comprise about 45 per cent of the ships' passenger capacity. Outside standard staterooms may be had for $2 more.

ROUND-TRIP FARE REDUCED

C. L. McFaul, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company, last night announced round trips between Los Angeles and San Francisco at less than two-thirds of the regular round-trip rate and at less than the regular one-way fare. The special reduced round-trip fares, selling for $15 and good on all trains, will be on sale next Thursday and Friday, on which days they must be used and the return trip completed by midnight of the 28th inst. The reduced rate tickets also ill be honored from Glendale, San Pedro, Long Beach and Wilmington. Transportation to Berkeley and Oakland will be allowed in the same tickets. Riverside passengers will pay two-thirds the regular round-trip fare, and have a return limit of sixteen days.

ACTRESS TO BE AT STORE AS HOSTESS

Kathleen Clifford Today Has Charge at Walker's of Ready-to-Wear Unit

Miss Kathleen Clifford, stage and screen actress, will be hostess in the ready-to-wear section of Walker's Department Store today as a feature of Walker's booster sale, which closes Monday with a celebration.

KATHLEEN CLIFFORD

Miss Clifford will be on the third floor throughout the day and will serve as stylist in addition to acting as hostess assisting in selections of summer outfits. She also will present attractive living models.

Recently Miss Clifford acted as mistress of ceremonies at a spring style show at Walker's attended by 3000 persons.

Before the store opens today Miss Clifford will take charge of the store rally, known as "Celebration Day Rally," for all of Walker's employees, in the large auditorium on the eleventh floor. Other attractions on the program will include Leroy Barry and his jazz orchestra, Charlie Wellman and others to entertain the employees.

DIETZ RITES DELAYED

Funeral Awaits Return Here of Widow from London

Funeral arrangements for George W. Dietz of the Security-First National Bank, who died Tuesday, are being delayed pending the arrival of Mrs. Dietz from London on the 27th inst. Mrs. Dietz, who writes under the name of Grace Wilcox, had gone to London to write scenarios for Anna May Wong. She is returning with Miss Ying Wong, sister of Anna May.

Mr. Dietz, formerly a resident of Tucson, was considered an authority on mining and cattle and was head of the Jalama Ranch Company of Santa Barbara county. He was a member of the Jonathan Club and the Old Pueblo Club of Tucson.

UNCONSCIOUS MAN'S IDENTITY SOUGHT

Police and hospital authorities last night were seeking information that would aid them in identifying a man found unconscious in an alley near Stephens Place and Rio street shortly after 6 p.m. No identification marks were found when the man was admitted at General Hospital, and a cursory examination failed to reveal the nature of the affliction. Police were of the opinion that the man had taken sick and then staggered into the alley to lie down. He is a white man, about 45 years of age, with blue eyes and brown hair, and is registered at the hospital as John Doe. He is being treated in Ward 300.

SUSPECT ARRESTED ON OHIO DOPE CHARGE

Ellwood Greth was arrested yesterday at Glendale by police of that city and Department of Justice agents on charges made at Dayton, O., that he illegally sold twenty ounces of morphine. It is charged that the sale took place November 29, 1928. Greth was held by the Glendale police pending removal to Dayton.

that are announced. When C. A. Myers, director of engineering of the company, revealed the full expansion program at a meeting of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday a stir was created among those present.

It was recalled yesterday that Harvey S. Firestone had made the prediction that Los Angeles may in time supersede Akron as the fire-manufacturing headquarters of the world, and the tremendous Firestone expansion is regarded as a step in this direction.

Feminine Attire Art Club Topic

Women interested in the art of dress will have their night at the California Art Club, Barnsdall Park, Monday. Mme. The forum is open to the public without charge.

Dancer Ill From Poison Will Live

Suffering from poison, Doris Duffy, 19 years of age, a dancer living at 2512 South Harvard Boulevard, last night was rushed from her apartment to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. There she received treatment which saved her life.

She told the police surgeons she took the poison while despondent because she is out of work. She said she has appeared in several popular local musical productions.

Elopement of Pair Revealed

Elopement and marriage of Miss Beatrice Kausman and Sidney Levee, an executive at the United Artists' studio and a brother of M. C. Levee, theatrical magnate, on the 14th inst., became known yesterday.

The couple were married at Santa Ana and have established their home at 601 South Cloverdale avenue.

Salesman Held Under Mann Act

Violation of the Mann Act is charged against C. R. Sneddon, a salesman, in a complaint filed before United States Commissioner Head. The defendant was arraigned. He waived a hearing and was held to answer to the Federal grand jury under $2000 bail.

It is charged that Sneddon transported Ruth Anderson, 23 years of age, from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles for immoral purposes.

VOTE RECOUNT RESULT SLIGHT

Toms Gains Four Ballots in Eighth District

Lewis Total Credited With Fourteen More

Former Will Have to Pay Cost of $250

The only result of the recent recount of the votes cast at the recent primary election in the Eighth Councilmanic District, which was conducted yesterday, was to disclose that J. W. Toms, the defeated candidate who had asked for the recount, had received four votes less than he had been credited with by the original canvass, and that Evan Lewis, who ran first, had received fourteen more votes than had been given to him. The vote of James R. Gentry remained at 1931, as fixed by the original count.

Accordingly Lewis and Gentry remain as the nominees for the final election, and Toms will have to pay the expenses of the recount, which will amount to more than $250.

The recount was conducted, according to charter provision, by Mayor Cryer, City Attorney Stephens and City Clerk Dominguez, and they were assisted by an emergency force of fifty clerks, who will receive $5 each for their afternoon's work.

The original canvass had given Lewis 2745 votes, Gentry 1931 and Toms 1869. The recount figures are: Lewis, 2759; Gentry, 1931, and Toms, 1865.

On Monday the City Council will adopt a resolution formally confirming the results of the recount and confirming the right of Lewis and Gentry to remain as the nominees on the June 4 ballot. Such a resolution was adopted by the Council yesterday on the recount of the votes in the Eleventh District, which was conducted on Wednesday. Edward A. Gerety, who ran third, had requested that recount, and it also failed to change the result, Lester R. Rice-Wray and J. C. Barthel remaining as the nominees for the final election.

EX-WIFE OF HENDRICKS FILES PLEA

Action Taken in Effort to Upset Decree Granted Her Last November

Mrs. Ida May Hendricks now feels that the interlocutory divorce degree granted her last November from Clifford Hendricks, Los Angeles and New York millionaire, falls short of ending her marital difficulties. Yesterday she filed a petition in Superior Court asking that the decree be set aside.

In her petition the woman, whose husband once made accusations against her and an Indian guide, says "cunning and treachery" were used in forcing her to obtain the decree.

She charges that shortly after the birth of their daughter, Jean, now 8 years of age, Hendricks began to "run around with a cabaret dancer" named Helen Meyers, and two other women designated as Violet Dee and Lottie Roe, said to be fictitious names, for the purpose of "embarrassing and disgusting her so that she would bring suit for divorce."

Hendricks, she said, had threatened to produce a sworn affidavit from Joe Sekakuku, the Hopi Indian guide, and other men, in an effort to take her daughter from her but that since the divorce she has found that he is not in a position to do so.

Attorney Lorrin Andrews filed the petition for Mrs. Hendricks, who now is said to be living in Hollywood.

In 1925 the Hendricks' marital troubles first began to attract attention when Mrs. Hendricks and the Indian were questioned by Riverside officials, Mr. Hendricks and his attorneys, in that city.

AMBROSE CRELLIN'S FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Ambrose Crellin, real estate man of Columbus, O., and a frequent winter visitor in Los Angeles, was laid to rest yesterday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. The body was brought here by the widow and several members of the family in compliance with Mr. Crellin's request that he be buried at Forest Lawn. Brief rites were conducted at Pierce Brothers' chapel preceding interment. Funeral services had been conducted at Columbus several days ago. Knights Templar were in charge of the local services.

FOREST FIRES

The protective measures already inaugurated will help to reduce the fire loss in our forests during wet seasons, but in a really dry, hot summer when the sun apparently generates an inflammable gas from the forest litter and with a high wind blowing, such as forest fires help to create, all the protective measures in the world will count for nothing, except perhaps to add to the death toll of the fire rangers. I have seen forest fires when the very air seemed to be ablaze.—[Washington Post.

YEARLY EISTEDDFOD DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Welsh residents of Southern California contested last night in music, recitation and sewing before several hundred of their countrymen at the annual Welsh Eisteddfod in Patriotic Hall. The contests will continue this afternoon and tonight.

Winners in last night's competition are:

Esther Mae Templin, piano solo; Miss Yolin Marse, recitation; Mrs. John Williams and Comet Towell, open duet; Miss Elizabeth Owen, first, D. Martin, second, Miss Eva Martin, third, essay on relation of aviation to the development of Southern California; Juanita Phillips, contralto solo; George Adams, base solo; Elizabeth Owen, examination on foreign Sunday-school lesson.

The Ladies Aid, Group No. 3, was named winner in a contest of making the best patch-work quilt, and Mrs. O. Pritchard carried off first honors in making the best shirt for men.

LONE BANDIT ROBS BANK, RIDES AWAY

He Surprises Teller by Pretext and Flourishes Gun to Get $800

An armed bandit yesterday robbed the Bank of America branch at Sixth street and Alexandria avenue of $800. The robber was a dark complexioned, well-dressed man, 45 years of age. At the window presided over by J. Bozarth, teller, he said he wanted to transfer his account from the main bank to that branch. Bozarth, off guard, reached for the necessary transfer blank and when he looked up he was staring into a gun muzzle.

The bandit told Bozarth to hand over the money quietly. He obtained $800 and with it sauntered out to a roadster in which he made his escape.

MYSTERY STILL VEILS TEMPLE

Likewise reports current yesterday that a "welcome-home" party for Mrs. Kennedy is being prepared at the temple could not be verified from temple attaches.

If Mrs. Kennedy is again to take over the reins of the temple, which she guided to success during the many years she and her daughter became noted for their evangelistic work, temple officials apparently are guarding the fact closely until all arrangements can be completed.

Mrs. Kennedy successfully has avoided newspaper representatives since her presence in the city was revealed, and no statement from her concerning her plans has been obtained.

When interviewed Friday night, Mrs. McPherson neither would deny nor affirm the reports of Mrs. Kennedy reaffiliating with temple affairs.

Since she left Los Angeles after she and Mrs. McPherson split over the temple management, divided their assets and went their separate ways, Mrs. Kennedy has conducted a series of revivals in Oregon and Washington.

The breach-of-promise suit filed against Mrs. Kennedy and which resulted in her daughter flying to her aid, is credited with having brought about the reconciliation.

It is believed the woman with Mrs. Kennedy in Bakersfield is Kharvina Burbek, her confidential secretary, who departed with her when Mrs. Kennedy left the temple.

CIRCUS TO BE GIVEN BY SCHOOL TODAY

Elephants, lions, tigers and monkeys from the Luna Park Zoo on Mission Road will participate today in a wild animal circus at Franklin High School stadium, Avenue 54, Highland Park, for the benefit of the Parent-Teacher Association of Mount Washington grammar school. The program, which commences at 1 p.m., will include a leap for life by Los Angeles firemen, tumbling and other acrobatic events by champions from the Young Men's Christian Association, trick riding and roping by Tex Condon and his cowboys, an Indian pageant and a sideshow.

FETE FOR NEW MEMBERS

The Los Angeles League for the Hard of Hearing this evening will hold its annual reception for new members at the club rooms, 2026 West Ninth street. Jane K. Bigelow, chairman, will preside, assisted by Mary A. Rice.

U.S.C. Football Stars' Status Periled by Film Stunt

TEAM MEMBERS ENGAGED BY FOX

[illegible] for Annapolis to Make Picture

[illegible] Be Scrimmages With Navy Eleven

[illegible] of Professionalism May be Made

[illegible] by what they hoped [illegible] in deep secrecy, fourteen local [illegible] football players, some of them [illegible] to star on next year's [illegible] of Southern California [illegible] were aboard a Union Pacific [illegible] last night speeding toward the [illegible] States Naval Academy at [illegible] where they will participate [illegible] filming of a motion-picture [illegible] life for a local studio.

REASONS FOR SECRECY

The leaving was supposed to [illegible] secret, it was learned, for [illegible] following reasons:

1. Some of the youths feared [illegible] motion-picture work might be [illegible] as professionalism, and [illegible] eligibility for next year's team [illegible]

2. Objections might be raised [illegible] they were permitted to be [illegible] from college for a period of [illegible] before the June examinations.

[illegible] of the Trojan players [illegible] the group are: Clark Galloway, Russell Saunders, Jack [illegible] Tony Steponovitch, Jess [illegible] Frank Anthony, Al Schaub, [illegible] Duffield and Nate Barragar [illegible] Duffield, quarterback, and [illegible] senior and captain of the [illegible] refused to pose for pictures.

[illegible] Fleming, captain of last [illegible] University of California at [illegible] Angeles team, and Hayden [illegible] and Duke Morrison, the [illegible] formerly at the University [illegible] Southern California, were also [illegible] the party.

PRESIDENT'S VIEWS

At the University of Southern [illegible] yesterday President R. B. [illegible] declared that but [illegible] of the details of the students' [illegible] had been brought to his attention. He said that it is not the [illegible] of the university to condone [illegible] of the kind if it might mean [illegible] in college work, but that [illegible] had been left in the [illegible] of the faculty scholarship [illegible] and as he had heard [illegible] from them he assumed that [illegible] had been handled satisfactorily. His opinion was that [illegible] could not be accused of [illegible] as they went to [illegible] as workers in a picture and not to give a football exhibition for money.

Secrecy about the matter was perhaps deeper at the Fox Film studios than anywhere else. The publicity department denied that they even knew that football players had been hired. However, it was learned from other sources that the college boys will be used in a football picture at the Naval Academy, starring George O'Brien and Helen Chandler, and directed by John Ford. The scenario, it is understood, calls for football scrimmage between the local players and a navy eleven.

Panama Consul at Munich Won by California

After almost five months of seeing the world, during which time they visited China, Japan, Ceylon, Australia, Africa and continental countries, it remained for Southern California to win Curt Hamel, Consul-General of Panama at Munich, Germany, and his wife.

"Your climate here is the most delightful and your people the most hospitable we have encountered on this journey, which has taken us all over the world," the visitor told reporters at the Biltmore yesterday.

From here they will go to the Grand Canyon and eastern cities, en route to Germany.

Adams Elected to Head S.C. Student Body

In the heaviest vote ever cast in the history of the campus, the student body of the University of Southern California yesterday elected Leo Adams as president of the Associated Students for the 1929-1930 term. Adams rolled up a total of 889 ballots, which gave him a comfortable margin over Arthur Neelley, who polled 730, and Ed Ware, who wound up with 698.

The vice-presidency was captured by Dorothie Smith, the past year's secretary of the organization. Her opponents were Bonnie Jean Lockwood and Lorraine Young. Janet McCoy, running unopposed, was elected secretary, and Gordon Pace re-elected yell king. Al Spaeth served as election commissioner.

In separate elections conducted in the seven subsidiary colleges, the following presidents were elected: Don Petty, letters, arts and sciences; Walter Benedict, commerce; Lumer Slezak, engineering; Karl Bremmer, pharmacy; Ellsworth Meyer, law; Kenneth Winebrenner, architecture, and William Ellfeldt, music.

Building Sold in Glendale

Sale was announced yesterday of the building at 222 North Brand Boulevard, Glendale, to F. M. Peckham, who bought it from J. T. Stewart. The property is a two-story brick building on a lot 50 by 140 feet, adjoining the Alexander Theater.

The consideration was not announced, but it was learned that approximately $100,000 was paid for the property. E. W. Hargrove of A. H. Voelker Company, real estate, 109 South Glendale avenue, represented seller and buyer.

Ex-Officer in Girl Case Guilty

Forrest White, former Los Angeles police officer, was convicted by a jury in Superior Judge Doran's court yesterday of a charge of attacking Genevieve Brown, 14-year-old high school girl, on March 12, last. On recommendation of the jury, White escaped a penitentiary sentence and was committed to the County Jail road camp for one year.

Last week Arthur Beltram was convicted of a similar offense against the same girl and was sentenced to San Quentin prison.

NEW TRIAL UPHELD IN BROKER'S CASE

Harry J. Harband of San Diego will receive a new trial on charges of grand theft and violation of the State Corporate Securities Act, in spite of opposition of the prosecution, it was decreed in the District Court of Appeals yesterday. Convicted by a jury of grand theft and of acting as a security broker without first having obtained a license, Harband sought and was granted a new trial in the San Diego Superior Court. The order of the new trial was opposed by the prosecution, which appealed to the Appellate Court from the order. Justice Thompson, who wrote the opinion, affirmed the lower court's order. Justices Works and Craig concurred.

FORMER BANK TELLER TO FACE COURT TODAY

W. L. Bugg, former teller of a San Diego bank, will be arraigned today in San Diego before United States District Judge McCormick on a charge of misapplication of bank funds. Bugg was arrested by Hollywood police and Deputy United States Marshal Minick. He said his arrest on the Federal charge is the outgrowth of previous charges in State courts, on which he virtually had been exonerated. He was taken to San Diego last night.

JUSTICE WORKS TO SPEAK

"The Relation of the Lawyer to the Court," is the subject of an address to be delivered by Presiding Justice Lewis R. Works of the District Court of Appeal, at a dinner of the City Attorneys' Association of Southern California next Thursday evening at the City Club, 833 South Spring street. In addition to Justice Works, J. Harold Cragin will speak on "1929 State Legislation Affecting Cities."

LEGION MAN GUIDES ELY CAMPAIGN

Commander Stout Tells His Reasons for Support of Council Candidate

With Alexander M. Stout, American Legion commander, in charge as campaign manager, the campaign of S. De Vier Ely, candidate for Councilman from the Fifth District, was reopened in earnest yesterday.

Ely, a retired manufacturer, World War veteran and graduate of two universities, reiterated his platform in announcing the reopening of his campaign and pledged himself to a program of constructive thought and action in the interests of the Fifth District.

Campaign Manager Stout, Commander of Post No. 336, took active charge of Ely's campaign following the hotly contested primaries in which the American Legion commander emphatically indorsed and worked for Ely's candidacy.

"I believe with many other citizens of the Fifth District that Ely's training and experience eminently fit him as a progressive intellectual representative, and because of these attributes I am devoting all of my time to put him in the Council as the people's personal representative," Mr. Stout said. "As a business man, a good citizen, a father of three fine children, and a resident and a taxpayer of the district, ten years of daily contact has given him a knowledge and understanding of the district's needs."

BOARD PUTS OFF PART IN PHONE QUIZ

Local Commission Plans Conferences With Experts on Inquiry Next Month

Participation by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation in the investigation to begin June 7 by the California Railroad Commission into asserted high rates and operation of the Southern California Telephone Company and affiliated companies in Los Angeles has been deferred pending a conference with the commission's rate experts, it was revealed yesterday.

Lester S. Ready, formerly chief engineer for the commission, has been retained by the latter to take charge of the investigation, which is to be made on the commission's own motion. Ready handled the commission's recent investigation of telephone rates charged in San Francisco Bay territory.

Valuation and Rate Engineer F. F. Ball, for the utilities body, yesterday explained that it may be necessary for it to request the appropriation of a special fund to defray the expenses of temporary engineering, clerical and stenographical help should it be decided to work with the California Railroad Commission in its investigation.

According to Ball, the California Railroad Commission's plans of investigation places the burden of proof of high rates on the city and the commission.

Meanwhile the City Council in unanimous action yesterday requested City Attorney Stephens and the board to prepare an estimate of the cost of preparation and presentation of the case to aid in obtaining a reduction of the telephone rates.

ATTORNEY CONLIN'S WIFE GETS DECREE

Mrs. Cora Boettcher Conlin was granted a divorce yesterday from Clarence B. Conlin, attorney, by Superior Judge Price on the grounds of cruelty. The couple married February 7, last, and separated April 5, according to the complaint.

PATRIOTS HONOR ANGELENO

Word has been received from the East that at the national convention of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, being held in New Haven, Ct., Lansing Glenn Lytle Sayre of Los Angeles has been elected one of the councillors-general of the general court to serve for a term of three years. Mr. Sayre is the second Californian to be so honored by the national society.

ESPEE HEARING STIRS UP ROW

Charges of Monopoly Move by Railroad Hurled

Shipping Interests Accused of "Hogging" Trade

Fourth Section Case Will be Resumed Today

The Southern Pacific Company's fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission for Fourth-Section relief, developed yesterday afternoon during the second day of the hearing before Examiner Disque into a display of verbal fireworks between Frank Lyon, representing steamship interests opposing the railroad's application, and Attorney J. R. Bell of Washington, commercial counsel for the company.

Accusations were hurled from both sides, Attorney Lyon, a rate expert, also of Washington, declaring that the Southern Pacific is endeavoring to gain a monopoly of all freight traffic from the East Coast to the Pacific and reverse, and thus strangle steamship lines engaged in intercoastal traffic. Bell countered with the declaration that the steamship interests not only are demanding 100 per cent of the freight traffic from coast to coast, via the Panama Canal, but are seeking to trespass on logical railroad territory by endeavoring to obtain favorable rates from inland points to the seacoasts.

ANXIETY EXPRESSED

The wrangle broke out while Charles Bland, industrial manager of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, representing Long Beach Harbor, was on the stand to show that Fourth-Section relief, if granted to the Southern Pacific Company, would upset present harbor conditions in Long Beach and would injure the city's harbor development program.

Bland declared that any action of the Interstate Commerce Commission that would affect the future prosperity of steamship lines would endanger some $8,000,000 of harbor investments in Long Beach, on which more than $5,000,000 has already been spent. He pointed out further that injury to steamship freight traffic would make it difficult for Long Beach to obtain from the Federal government some $14,000,000 which the city seeks to obtain for harbor development.

EDWARDS ON STAND

Declaring that a change in rates, as sought by the Southern Pacific, seriously would affect the future of Los Angeles Harbor, Burt Edwards, general manager of the harbor, went into lengthy detail as to harbor conditions, the necessity for not disturbing steamship conditions and quoted figures covering investments by Los Angeles, the Federal government, payrolls and other items to prove his point.

Mr. Edwards said the city's cash investment in the harbor amounts to $32,350,000; that the Federal government has invested an additional $11,000,000 and that private interests have invested another $12,000,000, making a total investment of $55,350,000. He said that the harbor department payroll amounted to $690,000 last year; that the longshoremen's payroll amounted to $3,560,000 and that the harbor belt line employs 440 men with an annual payroll of $800,000 Another $1,000,000 can be added as payroll by the trucking companies, the witness declared.

RUIN FEARED

Granting of Fourth Section relief to the Southern Pacific Company would mean diversion of commodities from Los Angeles harbor, now shipped there for water transport and this diversion would spell ruin to the harbor, Mr. Edwards told the examiner.

L. S. Atkinson, cotton merchant and shipper and vice-president of the Los Angeles Compress and Warehouse Company, resumed the stand when the second day's session opened yesterday. He opposed the granting of the proposed competitive rates to the railroad company on the ground that these rates would prove an opening wedge that would upset the present arrangement for handling cotton at the harbor and be the cause for future difficulties.

COTTON SITUATION

It was brought out in the cross-examination of the witness by Mr. Bell, representing the railroad company, that the cotton buyers, and not the growers, control the routing of cotton from growing centers and that these buyers largely represent Los Angeles concerns.

A short session this morning, devoted to the examination of E. H. Walker, manager and traffic manager of the Reno (Nev.) Chamber of Commerce, and the possible introduction of one or two more witnesses, will wind up the Los Angeles hearing, it was said late yesterday.

The hearings will be continued, first at Galveston, Tex., Wednesday. The witnesses and attorneys then will go to New York for a hearing sometime in June. Final hearings will be held in Phoenix and San Diego in September.

New Coast Road to Oxnard Will Open Next Month

The new short-cut Coast Highway along the foot of the Santa Monica Mountains to Oxnard will open officially June 22, S. V. Cortelyou, district engineer of the California Division of Highways, yesterday informed Harrison Lewis, president of the Greater Beverly Boulevard Association.

Thirty miles will be cut off the driving distance over the new scenic route, which follows the coast north from Santa Monica Canyon.

Lewis stated that his association is making preparations for an increase in traffic on Beverly Boulevard when motorists take advantage of the new time-saving road to Oxnard, Ventura, Santa Barbara and other northern cities on the coast route.

Many Los Angeles Women are making money on home-made candies. Now the Liberty Candy Co. will teach you how to make all kinds of high-class candies, including cake icings, glace fruit, etc., so my advice is that you go up and see them at once and get their plan. The address is 4th floor Grant Bldg., 355 S. Bdwy. TUcker 4156.

To remove mustard stains from table linen, etc., boil them in water in which washing soda has been dissolved (one teaspoonful of soda to one quart of water); after boiling, rub the stains until they disappear, rinsing well afterward.

Tell me this: Have you ever tasted more delicious sausage anywhere than that made by the Western Sausage Co., and known as "improved country sausage," because it is made under the cleanest, most sanitary conditions right before your eyes in their show windows! You see, they use only government inspected eastern shoulder pork, and after it is ground they merely add seasoning—but such seasoning! Why, it contains thirteen different spices which give it so marvelous a flavor. Do try this unusually fine sausage right away; you may buy it at any one of the following addresses: 300½ S. Broadway, 302 S. Hill and 6400 Hollywood Blvd.

The whole atmosphere of the Woman's Department of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association is inviting . . . conducive to your patronage, too. Have you opened an account with the 7th and Olive street branch as yet? Miss Grace S. Stoermer is the charming director of their woman's department.

To avoid mistakes with poison (in the dark or through carelessness,) when it must be kept in the house, paste a strip of sandpaper around the bottle, or tie a tiny bell to the neck; it will warn the most careless of danger.

If you or any member of your family are artistically inclined and want to make lamp shades or waste paper baskets or decorate unfinished furniture, then will they be greatly interested in Mathews Paint Company—where you can buy oil paints of every description, brushes—in fact, all the paraphernalia that the artist requires for such work. There, too, you will find the largest assortment of stencils and transfer pictures for furniture and, oh, yes, those plastic wood ornaments which enhance the beauty of a simple table, for instance, may be bought at any one of the three Mathews Paint Company stores—one is at 1245 S. Hill; a second is at Vine and Selma in Hollywood, while a third is at 740 E. Green, Pasadena.

Salad suggestion. Use any cold cooked vegetables on hand; chill them thoroughly and combine them carefully and attractively. String beans and cauliflower are a good combination. Diced beets and peas; lima beans, with carrots and peas; chopped spinach alone—these are but suggestions.

Among your friends there is certain to be a bride during this month —if so, she will want her wedding photographs taken by the photographer who does excellent work naturally. Now this is where our suggestion comes in . . . we unhesitatingly recommend Witzel, the photographer par excellence! Because he does such splendid work; because his prices are so fair and because as a remembrance of the day he will give a photograph of the bride or bride and groom if mention is made of the offer coming through Sallie. Appointments should be made soon, however. The addresses are: 1011 W. 7th and 6324 Hollywood Blvd.

To remove iodine stains, immediately immerse them in a gallon of water to which has been added about two teaspoonfuls of strong household ammonia; or, try chloroform, alcohol or hyposulphite of soda; or soak stains in lime water.

Your badly worn, tarnished silver —aren't you ashamed of it? Well, you won't have to make apologies for it if you will just send it to the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring street. They do such splendid work and charge a mere song. Better phone them now! The number is VAndike 5417.

Mayonnaise dressing—Mix one teaspoonful each of mustard and powdered sugar, two teaspoonfuls salt, one-half teaspoonful paprika, one-quarter teaspoonful pepper and two well-beaten egg yolks; then beat in, drop by drop, one-quarter cupful of salad oil; as the mixture thickens, add a few drops of lemon juice; continue adding oil and lemon juice very gradually, using in all two cupfuls of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice and one tablespoonful mild vinegar.

You know there are so many ever so good beverages and desserts which can be made in no time at all from Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice, that it behooves every housewife to buy a quart this very day and start preparing some of the delectable drinks, the recipes for which you will find in a little booklet issued free to all who write to the Italian Vineyard Company, 1248 Palmetto street, for one. It's a fact you really should always keep on hand a quantity of the grape juice you can make with Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice—why all you have to do is add three parts water—it is the simplest thing in the world to prepare and, oh, but it is the best you ever tasted and beneficial as can be, especially for the children. Try this recipe for "Fruit Recollection" it's a winner and a great favorite with everyone.

Place one scoop of vanilla ice cream in fancy stemmed glass; place one-half slice pineapple, one side of ice cream; cover with one ounce Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice and one ounce crushed raspberries; top with whipped cream.

By the by—if your grocer hasn't stocked Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice as yet, phone MUtual 2124, which is the address of the Italian Vineyard Company, and they will attend to your order pronto!

If you want any furniture reupholstered or any special pieces of furniture copied and made to order go to H. E. Simank of 725 W. 9th st. Mr. Simank does the very finest work you will find in a day's travel—nor will his charges be high. Samples and prices are gladly submitted. Just phone TUcker 2462.

Egg stains on table linen or any material should be soaked in cold water before washing, as hot water will set them. Egg stains on silk can usually be removed by rubbing them with common table salt.

Fay is one of the most particular little housewives we know of, and when she puts her stamp of approval on anything you may depend upon its being mighty good. Last week she came out with the most lavish compliments about Hughes—a repetition of all my views previously expressed. "Why," she declared, "you can tell the first time you taste it that it must be made from rich cream, fresh fruit juices and finest chocolate or vanilla . . . and so it is! Won't you get a quart or so to try tomorrow?

When poison has been accidentally swallowed, mix three teaspoonfuls of mustard in a cup of warm water and swallow it. A doctor should, of course, be called at once.

For soot stains use kerosene, chloroform, ether, benzine, gasoline or carbon tetrachloride to remove stains left by soot or lampblack; all are equally good.

PURE WATER IN FIRST-AID USE URGED

Pacific Coast Safety Men and Wives Gather 400 Strong for Conference

Clean water in large quantities is the first-aid remedy for chemical burns suggested by J. H. Bensinger of the Braun Corporation at the sixth annual Pacific Coast Safety Conference and First Aid Meet at the Alexandria yesterday. The three-day conference was closed with a banquet at which more than 400 delegates and their wives were present.

"Even substances insoluble in water may be mechanically removed from the skin's surface by flushing," the speaker said. "An effort should be made to have the water flow inside the clothing, so that if the skin is being burned by a chemical which reaches it after saturating the clothing and water is applied on the outside, the resulting heat may be intensified before sufficient water can enter to dilute it or wash it away."

The handling of heavy machinery was discussed by W. J. McCullough, and Dr. J. A. Jewett talked on prompt measures for the treatment of sprains and strains. Safety education was the subject of a talk by E. P. Fletcher. Other speakers were W. S. Wollner and George P. Prussing.

Several brief addresses were made at the banquet.

FITTS AND BONELLI TO JOIN TROJAN FRAT

Skull and Dagger pledges at the University of Southern California yesterday donned full-dress attire from the waist up and golf apparel from the waist down and spent their spare time on the campus in seeking out honest men by means of red lanterns. Membership in Skull and Dagger is considered the highest honor that can be given Trojan men as a reward for their interest and participation in student-body activities and the pledges numbered most of the prominent campus characters of the year. Formal initiation will take place tonight at the Bel-Air Country Club and fourteen prominent alumni and faculty members will enter the fraternity in addition to thirty undergraduates. Among the alumni pledged are Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Frank Bouelle, superintendent of city schools; W. W. Tritt, secretary of the Board of Education; Councilman Bonelli and Dean Ray K. Immel.

PRIZE ADVERTISING PICKED

Thirty-three Concerns Chosen to Enter Exhibits in Coast Competition at Oakland

Winning the right to represent Los Angeles in the All-Pacific Coast Advertising Club competition which will be held in Oakland June 18 to 20, thirty-three local manufacturers and retail concerns were chosen yesterday to forward samples of their advertising to the [illegible]

The prize winners were selected from 259 separate exhibits now on display in Barker Brothers auditorium and represent the finest examples of the local advertising fraternity.

The exhibit is a feature of advertising achievement week and is sponsored by the Los Angeles Advertising Club in an endeavor to create more advertising interest on the part of local residents. The exhibit will close this evening.

"No city has benefited more than Los Angeles from advertising," stated Don Francisco, general chairman of the competition, "so it is natural that the inside workings of great advertising campaigns should prove interesting to every person who lives in the Southland."

The winning exhibits that will represent Los Angeles against San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Spokane follow:

Aviation Club to Have Picnic

The 99 Aviation Club, an organization in the activities of the Los Angeles Lodge of Elks, will have an aviation week-end picnic for Elks and their friends at Catalina Island this week.

A party of sixty, led by Exalted Ruler Edward A. Gibbs, will leave for the island this afternoon, returning tomorrow by Western Air Express.

This is the first of many trips planned by the Aviation Club. The club is in charge of R. D. MacGregor.

Aviation will be one of the features for the sixty-fifth national convention for Elks in this city in July, many officers of the grand lodge and State associations planning to attend by plane.

A.S. McCormick Funeral Today

Albert Stacey McCormick, Civil War veteran, who had the distinction of having filled Gen. U. S. Grant's mess chest when the general was in the field, will be laid to his final rest in Forest Lawn Memorial Park today.

Mr. McCormick died Wednesday at 90 years of age. He came to Southern California seventeen years ago from Pennsylvania, where he pumped the first gallon of oil from the original Drake well at Titusville during the days when Pennsylvania was in the throes of its oil boom. His home was at 227 Lemon avenue, Monrovia. Funeral services will be conducted at the Turner & Temple chapel there [illegible] He leaves one son, G. W. McCormick, Monrovia.

Today's Bible Text

When thou passest through the water, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy One of Israel, thy Saviour. Isa. xliii:2 and 3.

WORTH SEEING

We have seen some girls in Woolworth gowns that look as good as their sisters do in silk Worth creations.

THE CHOOSERS

A sage may have nine college degrees and yet not be able to pick out the good melon.

VITAL STATISTICS

When the public heard that the Prince of Wales had sold his stables, it rushed to the conclusion that he had fallen for some one else.

BONY PART

Part of the skeleton of an elephant that must have been more than eighteen feet high has been dug up in Oklahoma. But it will take more than this to prove that the Republican party had its birth in the Indian nation.

TEE-TIME

About every so often Walter Hagen has to drift across the pond to show the Scotchmen and Englishmen how to play golf. And he gives a dandy exposition of the play at that. By this time Walter has so many cups he could serve tea to the King's Own.

THE CANDY HABIT

Americans are using up a per capita average of more than fifteen pounds of candy a year. Even Lucullus never packed away fifteen pounds of fudge in his wildest year. No wonder our country is so richly stocked with sweet mammas.

SHUFFLE THE BOX

In disposing of his estate a San Francisco man recently made it a provision of his will that two of his nieces should shake dice for a $2500 diamond ring. He must have been a considerate soul. He didn't want his passing to break up the party.

SPITTING COTTON

The cotton compressor at the harbor handled 166,000 bales last season—which naturally is the high mark for the plant. Now we have to put up another $250,000 warehouse to help hold the output. This is also getting to be quite some cotton country if anybody should ask.

AFTER THE PESTS

Our legislators are nothing if not helpful. Now they are fixing it so that the fund for the abatement of mosquitoes may have its uses extended to include rats. After you have been rid of your skeeters just raise a new cry for help and the fund will back into your cellar and chase the rodents off the premises. It is worth trying anyhow.

THE BIGGEST SHIP

The competition is not for the largest navy, but for the biggest merchant ship. The English liner Majestic is 915 feet in length. That seems to be quite a craft, but the Germans are launching sister ships that are each 938 feet long. Now the White Star line is about to turn loose an ocean dachshund that will stretch its length for a full thousand feet over the wave. Italy and Japan are also building big ships. Pretty soon we may find out what is the proper limitation—for there's a limitation somewhere.

EVERYTHING ON WHEELS

Florida may have beckoned to the stranger by discarding the inheritance tax, but the State is evening up by making the ever-present motorist settle the bills. The gasoline tax was not only advanced to 5 cents a gallon, but an unusually stiff license fee is charged. On top of this the State makes sure that the personal property tax on the car is collected. The applicant must show a receipt for this levy before his license will be granted. Two of the 5 cents charged against gasoline may be used in paying interest and principal on public improvement bonds. Certain roads will be made attractive and used for bait to lure the visitor.

PHILIPPINE PRODUCTS

A tariff on sugar, cocoanut oil and other products of the Philippine Islands, which some of the radical farmers' organizations are demanding, is not only wrong in principle, but will do no practical good. More than that, it will do actual commercial harm, not only in the islands, but in this country, both to manufacturing and industry, but also to our fledgling shipping industry, so carefully being nursed along under great difficulties.

This is the opinion of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and of many other organizations which have made a study of the subject and which have protested to Congress against the imposition of a tariff on Philippine shipments to this country. The House Ways and Means Committee, recognizing the justice of this viewpoint, omitted to place such a tax in the Hawley bill as reported, but that measure has not been adopted and a stiff fight to insert it is in prospect.

The Ways and Means Committee was swayed largely by the appearance before it of Secretary of State Stimson, lately Philippine Governor-General, who demonstrated to the committee's satisfaction that the Philippine sugar industry is not in rapid expansion and there is no likelihood that it will expand materially; that the people of the islands are definitely and firmly opposed to allowing the large land holdings suitable for large-scale sugar production; that the beneficiaries of the tariff would not be the American beet-sugar and cane-sugar growers, but the Cuban growers; and that its imposition would be considered a breach of faith not only by the Filipinos, and so upset the present political tranquillity of the islands, but by the Chinese and Japanese and so disturb the friendly feeling toward the United States that now exists in the Near West.

Such expansion as there has been in sugar production, Mr. Stimson explained, is due solely to better milling methods and not to extension of planting. The Filipino agrarian policy contemplates development by individual holders, rather than by corporations with hired labor, and this means a slow growth, he said.

Mr. Stimson riddled the argument, frequently heard, that the Philippine sugar industry is European owned. The only substantial interest in it, aside from that of Americans and Filipinos, is that of Spanish subjects, nearly all of whom, however, are Philippine residents and have been such for generations. The Secretary declared he is personally acquainted with many of them, and knows that the only reason they are still Spanish subjects is that the Philippine Islands has no naturalization law and there is no way for them to change. They are not, in fact, European except in ancestry, and their interest in the sugar industry amounts to only 9 per cent.

In his statement of the political situation, Mr. Stimson declared that he was able to break the deadlock which existed from 1923 to 1928 between the Governor-General and the Filipino Legislature by pledging the Filipinos fair treatment in the American markets.

"I subsequently witnessed," he said, the withering effect which the suggestion of raising a tariff barrier subsequently produced both upon the political and the business confidence in the islands. . . . New investments which were under discussion were withdrawn. Political leaders and the press reported at once a recrudescence of distrust in America and a reagitation of the question of independence. . . .

"Thirty years ago we offered the Filipino occidental civilization and he accepted it. We have given him western education and western physical advantages and he has come to have a western outlook. This accounts for the sense of betrayal and wrong which is now produced by an attempt to take away the foundation to which we ourselves have led him. He feels he has trusted and been betrayed."

The standard of living of the Filipino laborer is 300 per cent higher than that of the Chinese and is much higher than that in Java or Singapore, he declared. That standard rests almost entirely upon the American market.

SEEKING AN ISSUE

The Democrats are still seeking to uncover something that will grow big enough for an issue in the Congressional elections next year. The Bourbons are congenially hopeful. They can always see the doughnut and forget the hole they just climbed from.

Just now they figure that a lot of political farmers will fail to be satisfied with the relief provided and that there will also be discontent with some of the new tariff schedules as agreed to by the House committee. A lot of Democrats represent agricultural districts. In the last campaign both parties promised action along very similar lines. The administration program was overwhelmingly indorsed by the vote of the people. If these Congressmen were patriots rather than partisans they would extend their hearty support to the measure provided by thoughtful experts. But not so.

Taking advantage of a few insurgent voices in the Republican ranks they are building up a justification for war. There is always an opposition to the administration and the Democrats are ready to ally themselves with the soreheads and die-hards rather than with the actives. Democrats will ask for tariff protection for certain industries in their own districts, but will oppose a tariff arrangement that aims to protect the whole country. The constituents could identify and reach them in their own field, but when they spread their antagonisms over the whole country and link them up with the names of Jefferson and Jackson they can get away with it. It is always held to be good policy for the outs to form any possible combination or alliance against the ins. The fact that the latter chance to be engaged in a bit of patriotic labor on behalf of the whole nation makes no difference. They think they can dig up an issue and they need it in their business.

The Democratic leaders are built on funny lines. One might suspect that they would rather fight than eat. It must be conceded that they are not always responsive to the real interests of their constituents.

Not Carelessness

A Stockton boy is reported to have swallowed a button and died.

This makes us better appreciate the efforts of some of our laundries to make such deaths here impossible.

Little House

Little house of whitened beam
Standing all alone,
I shall be a passing dream
On your stepping stone.
Some one else will build your fires
When the rain bell chimes.
I will build my old desires
Many, many times.
But if spirits travel far
On the midnight wing
I shall find in doors ajar
Hands of welcoming.
Coming like an old caress
Or an old refrain,
My little house of happiness,
I'm coming back again.

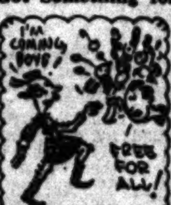
Got Something for Nothing



I'M COMING BOYS!
FREE FOR ALL!

A San Pedro Scotchman is reported to have mixed into a row between sailors from two ships, though he had no friends on either side and didn't know what the scrap was about. He couldn't resist because it was a free fight.

Can Be Seen But Not Herd

"There's a prominent dairyman in Riverside named De Cow, and that's no bull," reports C. C. J.

Fur-Bearing 'Tries

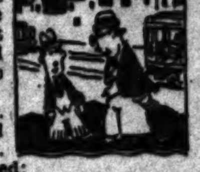
Asked what trees flourished best around her town, a clever Chino woman replied: "Rabbitries."

Yet These Weren't Scotchmen

Lee: Friend of mine was approached in a diffident manner by a well-dressed young man who said: "Mister, I hate to do this; but—will you let me have 2 cents?"

"I'll bite," was the reply. "What's the joke? Or are you an author, lacking nothing but a stamp to win fame?"

"It may seem a joke to you, but it ain't to me. I've got to go out northeast on a street car. And when I changed clothes I forgot to change pockets. I've got only a nickel, and it costs 7 cents to ride."



My friend dug. The boy thanked him profusely. Then he continued:

"I really don't think I look like a bum, mister. But you're the third person I've tackled, and the others turned me down hard—for 2 cents. And they wasn't Scotch, neither. They was free-hearted, generous Americans."—W. H. C.

Showing Mayors Can Be Human

Mayor Van Dodson of Perris has the proclamation habit. He issues one every week, via the Perris Progress. Here is a fair sample:

> I, ye mayor, by the authority invested in me by the dear voters of this municipality, do hereby and hereon proclaim that the time has arrived for straw hats and ice cream pants to make their appearance, and it is hereby proclaimed O.K. for any man to wear a straw hat and ice cream pants in the city limits of Perris.
> Ye hot mayor,
> VAN.
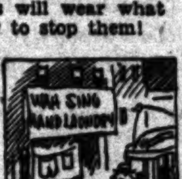
> P.S.—The above is for men only. The dear ladies will wear what they please—try to stop them!

Ruling Passion



One of our proof readers has had to change his route, coming to and going home from the office, so as not to pass the sign:

WAH SING
HAND LAUNDRY

It always makes him itch to hop off the car and mark the "h" and the "s" "transpose."

THE CALIFORNIA COAST

The California coast line offers the largest variety of scenery with the least motor accessibility of any part of our great State. From San Diego to Eureka there is a picture for every artist and a thrill for every traveler—if they can get to it. The situation is improving, but much remains to be desired.

A good motor highway now extends along the shore from the Mexican border to a point a few miles above Santa Monica. With the completion of the stretch from Dana Point to Laguna, some of the most beautiful scenery closed to automobile traffic has recently been made accessible by auto.

At Los Angeles the highway turns inland and leaves the sea untouched. This part has been under padlock until lately, but now will soon be completed to Oxnard. Thus a panorama of more than 200 miles will be unbroken.

However, thirty miles above Santa Barbara at Gaviota the engineers forsook the ocean again and took their road through the Los Olivos country. Ranches were more valuable than views. The time has come when a highway should be financed from Gaviota to Pismo Beach. The railway alone covers this gap.

A little dab of the ocean is obtained at Pismo Beach; but another detour is made up through the hills to the Salinas Valley for more than 150 miles. Thus some of the most picturesque parts of the coast might as well border Timbuctu.

A seventeen-mile drive around the peninsula from Carmel-by-the-Sea to Monterey is under lock and key. The most beautiful stretch of all the California shore line is a toll road.

Again the highway plunges into the bay side of the San Francisco Peninsula, leaving the marvelous coast with its big trees innocent of motorists' admiration. How San Francisco managed to pass it by is a mystery.

From the Bay City to Eureka, a distance of 300 miles, the road winds through beautiful rolling hills and valleys. It swings down the tortuous Eel River Canyon and makes many redwood groves accessible to the public. But there is no road along the sea. One is in the discussion stage and may be begun shortly. But this coast is virgin to the eyes of the motorist.

North from Eureka to Crescent City is one of the most picturesque roads in the State. It is chaotic from construction at the present time; but in a few months will be alluring to all. A remarkable grove of redwoods is penetrated by it.

When the times comes that a motorist may drive for a thousand miles with the salt air in his nostrils and the flounces of surf by the roadside, there will be nothing like it in all the world. The Pacific Ocean is not the smallest asset of California.

SAFETY SECOND

Judging from the number of motor accidents, safety second is to be the motto of California.

While Southern California may have a better record than many communities, yet there is not much room for boasting. In the thirteen southern counties, the number of fatalities in 1923 was 702; in 1924, it was 721; in 1925, it had risen to 798; in 1926, it had swelled to 855; in 1927, the number reached 948. In the first eight months of last year there were 608 fatalities, compared with 572 for the corresponding period of 1927.

At first thought the growth in population may seem to take care of the increase. Even if that were so, the number is too large. When 90 per cent of these casualties are said to be avoidable, the results are appalling.

We shift uneasily from limit to limit to find some remedy for the terrific toll exacted of human life. Three hundred and sixty nuts may be necessary to hold a car together, as some one has said, but one on the steering wheel is sufficient to scatter the whole institution all over the landscape.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has discovered that school children have responded to safety propaganda better than their elders. With increased hazard, accidents to school children have decreased one-eighth.

Possibly a lower rate yet prevails among children under their own control. Children as passengers in the cars of their parents have suffered greatly. The accidents to children as pedestrians have been reduced one-half.

With youth learning lessons of safety in the plastic period, maybe the future generation will be able to control itself and manage to escape complete extermination.

The Golden Rule is yet the best law of the highway.

FILING A COMPLAINT

By James J. Montague

When weary of working and worry,
When bothered with trouble and care
And when hard on my track just a few paces back
I was certain strode Old Man Despair.
I would frequently stroll to the corner,
Walk into a cinema play,
And I would park in the velvety dark
Till my troubles would all pass away.

It might be the drama was trifling,
But my judgment was never severe.
I had come to relax, not my worn nerves to tax
With "Hamlet," "Macbeth" or "King Lear"
As I sat in the dark, easeful shadows
The throb in my forehead would cease,
Content would I find in both body and mind,
Content, and a heart-soothing peace.

Perhaps I remained half an hour;
Perhaps a full hour or two;
I cared not a dime for the passing of time
Nor whether it loitered or flew,
For I knew that when once I was seated
My pulses would soon cease to leap;
I would gradually doze to a lulling repose
And presently go sound asleep.

The movies were pleasantly silent—
As empty of sound as a tomb,
But they'll soon pass away, for we dwell in the day
When those soul-racking movies go boom!
With their lisping of high strident voices,
With their riot and racket and roar,
And their banging and blare I am close to despair,
For I never can sleep any more!

Indorses Home Work

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been very much interested in the letters lately published in The Times asking that home work given to junior high school and high school students be cut down. I do not feel that too much home work is being given; in fact, I do not see how pupils can be expected to learn their Latin grammar and English history, without at least one-half hour of study for each subject a day, and have a proper foundation for college.

I have made a point of finding out the conditions of at least half of the pupils in one class at Le Conte. Invariably, the reasons for poor work come back to the home. The children go to the movies or listen to the radio and do not settle down to work until 8 or 9 o'clock. Nine o'clock is bedtime in our family and if the school work is not finished, the alarm clock is set for 6 a.m. and more concentrated work can be done in one hour in the morning with everything quiet and a refreshed brain and body than in two hours at night.

In many cases, badly balanced meals and too much candy eating cause a lowered vitality and a sluggish brain. I do not see why pupils who are capable of good work should be held back by others who for many reasons are handicapped and not able to keep up with the regular curriculum. Why not put these pupils in classes graded according to their abilities and not hold back the high-grade student to the lower standard?

I think, too, that there should be more co-operation between the elementary schools and the junior high schools, more student advisers to help these pupils to plan their courses thoughtfully, instead of taking the easiest studies. In the long run, it would save money and time and the results would be a higher standard and a great relief to our overburdened teachers who are doing the best they can under the crowded conditions existing in every school in Los Angeles.

Colored Pebbles

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's Times on page 9 we find an article on aviators' criticism of the appearance of back yards. From their point of view they object to our clothes lines and radio wires (must have a good telescope to see them,) also object to somber garage roofs, with the recommendation that we have colored pebbles on the ground instead of green grass.

The above complaints of aviators remind us of the farmer who hired an ex-sailor as a farm hand, but who objected when he was obliged to stay up nights and dash water against the side of the house in order that the sailor could sleep.

These sailors of the air seem to be about as finicky in their demands as the sailors of the sea.

Service Abused

GARDENA, May 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] At this moment there are three 200-pounders sitting in a car parked almost in the middle of the street, and there is a little Jap mother (who works sixteen to eighteen hours a day in their wayside stand, and does all the cooking and takes care of her kiddies) running her legs off totin' boxes of strawberries, bunches of beets, carrots and other vegetables out to their car for them to examine, she has made seven round trips, and I see they decided to take a 10-cent box of berries, and I'll betcha forty acres of rabbit tracks that they don't give her the correct change and she'll have to make another round trip. There, "by heck," I win; they give her a dollar bill, that makes eight round trips, and the distance (wait I'll go measure it) is forty-three feet, that's sixteen times forty-three, which makes 688 feet the little Jap mother traveled, and the profit on the berries was less than 1 cent. If one of them had gotten out of the car and bought the berries like they ought to, it would have saved the little Jap mother at least 650 feet of running and at the same time been highly beneficial to the 200-pounder.

Deafness Increases

RESEDA, May 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I was pleased to read your comment in last Sunday's Times anent the fund of $2,500,000, which the American Otological Society seeks to raise.

The public is getting an overdose on the subject of deafness these days. Too many persons of no real efficiency whatever, in the field of education or medicine, are seeking to solve the problems of the deaf. This habit of begging the public for funds is getting to be a fixed one, a most regrettable tendency and one which will, after all is said and done, most likely benefit the poor deaf least of all.

Deafness will hardly have an opportunity to decrease so long as civilization is what it is today. Most everything is cruel haste these days, at the same time accompanied by far more noises than human nerves were made to endure.

MRS. HOWARD L. TERRY.

INSECTS

BY ALMA WHITAKER

They call this play "The World We Live In" . . . and then show all the humans disguised as insects . . . butterflies, beetles, flies, ants and snails, behaving quite outrageously.

There is just one human, a vagabond, who has invaded all human responsibilities, and waxes satirical from the side lines, while he likens all these insects to humans.

Our Los Angeles Repertory Theater is, therefore, offering us a rather cynical, discouraging sort of a play—clever but highly disturbing.

The night I went the house was full of school teachers . . . most of whom essayed to regard this play, by two young Germans named Capek, as something rather superbly enlightening, even if it does not leave us with a shred of hope.

"What's the use?" is really its keynote. It essays to show that most human activities are either silly, greedy or futile. If one were to take it as serious "enlightenment," should all decide to get drunk at once and remain drunk until the crack of doom.

The boggling thing about it is that every satire is justified—as far as it goes. I was in a perpetual state of wishing to shout, "Yes, yes, of course . . . but."

I suppose I was resenting this clever slap at my enthusiasm for life as it is. How dared I enjoy living in such a foolish, ruthless, asinine world? How could any of us find life so attractive, if that was all it amounted to?

What is it about that play which seems so diabolically truthful and yet so damnably false? Pessimism can be so staggering in its limited truth. Yes, that's it—its limited truth. It's an outrage to concentrate on a few inches of truth and present it, dramatically, cleverly as the whole . . . dubbing it by the all-encompassing title, "The World We Live In."

Only some of us behave like insects some of the time. Perhaps it is well for us to recognize that some of our antics are idiotic, greedy, disgusting . . . but oh, that could have been a great play had it but recognized a dash of nobility here and there in us, that dash of nobility that every one of us can rise to on occasion, which surely wipes out all the pettiness, the greed, in the sight of heaven.

You see, that play has no soul . . . not a drip. It omits all hope, without which life would be intolerable. It belittles and derides the whole scheme of nature. Its third act, the war of the ants, following the enslavement of industry, when they slaughter each other wholesale for possession of the road between two blades of grass, is a brilliant indictment of war. Just as the hypocritical ant conqueror's prayer, assuring the Deity that He knows this war was fought only for justice, is a clever sneer. It's maddeningly clever . . . but it stops there—for its epilogue of Life and Death, illustrated by the moths, leaves us with a sense of cynical futility. Even the golden chrysalis, which had been striving to be born through all the acts, is only born at last to die. Birth and death . . . and nothing but paltriness between.

Great plays must be so much more than just a clever sneer. So this one . . . oh, well, it was written by two clever ants.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Advertising Layout?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Men already in the printing trade, advertising men, and commercial artists, are admitted to the class in advertising layout, in the Frank Wiggins Trade Evening School. The school is situated on Venice Boulevard, between Hill street and Grand avenue; and the class meets every Tuesday evening in room 516, from 7 to 9 o'clock. There is no charge except $1 enrollment fee.

Problems studied in class are: division of space; fundamentals of lettering; just a little drawing, such as a hand, a face, and a building; and then display advertisement layout and direct mail letters, working out arrangement and the best use of advertising space.

The class is taught by Barton Manbert, an advertising man of fifteen years experience in Los Angeles. For ten years he was in the service department for Young and McCalister, and now he has his own office.

SICILY REMOTE FROM ITALY

Nothing could be more striking or more unexpected to the ordinary reader of history than the complete divorce between Italy and Sicily which began even in the Neolithic times and continued till after the foundation of the Greek colonies. It is as though an ocean instead of a narrow strait divided the two countries.

The stone and bronze ages in Sicily exhibit a most interesting local civilization, which does not closely resemble anything else known in the Mediterranean, and is wholly different from the contemporary civilizations of Italy. The same cleavage persists during the first half of the iron age; there is not a trace in Sicily of Danubian influence or of that Hallstatt cycle which permeates almost the whole continent of Europe. Nor has a single object of Etruscan manufacture ever been found in the island.—["Italy Before the Romans," by David Randall-MacIver.

Nothing Forgotten

We forget nothing. The memory sleeps, but wakens again; I often think how it shall be when, after the last sleep of death, the reveille shall arouse us forever, and the past in one flash of self-consciousness rush back, like the soul revivified.

It's like matrimony. Man isn't content until he picks the wild flowers, and then they fade.

Civilization is wonderful. It makes better and better guns to penetrate better and better armor.

A GREAT METEOR

In the early morning of July 30, 1908, 40,000 tons of iron shot down out of the sky and struck the earth a blow which was felt 1000 miles away. This great meteorite fortunately fell in the wilderness of Siberia. Russian peasants 300 miles away saw the flash in the sky and heard the celestial visitor explode and crash in the earth. This was told in our issue for June 23, [illegible]. Since that time Russian scientists have been searching for the meteor, and an expedition led by Prof. Leonide A. Kulik, of the Russian Academy of Sciences, and Prof. Victor Sitin of the Siberian Archeological Society, has at last located it. Returning from a difficult journey through the Siberian wilderness, Prof. Kulik has brought photographs of the great crater in the earth's surface made by the meteorite, and has made a report of the frightful cataclysm which followed.

"Over an area of three or four square miles, at the [illegible] where the swarm of meteors hit, the ground is pitted and torn," Prof. Kulik and Prof. Sitin report, "as though by long bombardment by the world's heaviest artillery. [illegible] and ridges and shell holes abound as in the most ravaged of European battlefields. Over the top of the utter devastation the expedition found a thin layer of new moss and peat, as though nature were trying to hide the scar with the [illegible] able vegetation of the tundra.

"But both at the center of impact and for hundreds of miles around its signs are unmistakable of what has occurred. Few spots on earth are more difficult for civilized man to reach, but perhaps none would seem to a scientist more worth the trouble of a visit."—[Literary Digest.]

THE PRICE OF CHESS

It is frequently said that a King paid the inventor of chess 18,446,744,073,709,551,615 barrels of wheat for his invention. It would be interesting to count the number of kernels in a pound of wheat and from that figure out how many bushels of the grain the King paid for the game of chess.—[The Pathfinder.]

OAKLAND GIRL SOUGHT HERE BY HER FATHER

Search was requested yesterday for Mercedes Hamilton, 15 years of age, who disappeared from Oakland, her home city, and who is reported as having been seen in Hollywood. Her father, John Hamilton, came from Oakland and yesterday reported the disappearance at the Juvenile Bureau. He said Mercedes last was seen by friends while shopping in an Oakland store on April 15. The parents learned from an acquaintance here that she was seen on the night of the 1st inst. in company with two men at Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street.

Complimenting the Wampas by delaying her return to New York in order to be present at the organization's meeting next Monday night at the Breakfast Club, Fannie Hurst, authoress, will address the screen publicists, through the invitation of Harry D. Wilson, in charge of arrangements. Among guests who will entertain at the dinner meeting are Lupe Velez, Frank Yaconelli, Frank Day, Justin Johnson, Eddie Frazier, Chester Morris, Regis Toomey and Pat O'Malley. M. C. Levee, general studio executive of United Artists, and Roland West will speak.

DR. COWAN OBSEQUIES TO BE TODAY

Stanford Professor Had Been on Inactive List for Past Twelve Months

Funeral services for Dr. John Francis Cowan, professor of surgery at Stanford University, who died here suddenly Thursday afternoon, will be conducted at the Ruppe mortuary today at 10 a.m. Mrs. Cowan has been here for several days. Their home is in San Francisco.

Dr. Cowan had been on the inactive list for about a year and three weeks ago went to the Good Samaritan Hospital. Thursday afternoon he requested a nurse to raise the curtains so he might look out and when she had done so and turned to him again he was dead. Heart disease was his ailment.

He leaves a 12-year-old son and 8-year-old daughter as well as the widow. A brother, James Cowan, lives here. Dr. Cowan came to Los Angeles with his parents when he was 5 years of age, from Lansing, Mich., where he was born in 1879. He went to Stanford, graduating in 1902. For a time he was acting instructor there in physiology. Then he went to Cornell University medical school, graduating in 1910.

He was an interne and resident surgeon in New York Hospital for the following three years. From 1913 to 1918 he was lieutenant-surgeon of the United States Naval Reserves in charge of surgery at Stanford Hospital. He was a member of the American Surgical Society and Masonic order.

Goudge Burial Rites Set for Monday Next

Funeral services for Herbert James Goudge, attorney, who died Thursday after a long illness, will be conducted Monday from St. Paul's Cathedral at 1:30 p.m., with Rt. Rev. Bertrand Stevens, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles, officiating, assisted by Rev. John R. Atwill, rector of the Church of our Savior at San Gabriel.

Interment at Rosedale Cemetery will follow the church rites.

Mr. Goudge took an active part in legal, civic and fraternal circles of Los Angeles from the start of his residency in 1896 when he served for five years as assistant City Attorney until illness forced his retirement, sending him to the hospital for many weeks of treatment. His death, at 66 years of age, at the California Lutheran Hospital followed two operations.

Illness prevented installation of Mr. Goudge as president of the City Club on April 1. He was also a member of the Masons, California Club, Union League, San Gabriel Country Club, Sunset Club and Scribes.

Members of the Sunset Club and Scribes will serve as active and honorary pallbearers with numerous other close friends of the deceased.

The active pallbearers are Clair S. Tappaan, Frank W. Hinkley, J. O. Koepfli, W. B. Mathews, Victor Shaw, Guy V. Crump, S. B. Robinson and Edgar F. Hughes.

A resolution of condolence and sympathy for the family of Herbert J. Goudge was adopted by the City Council yesterday upon motion of Councilman Alber.

California High Up in Ranks of Near East Aid

Only New York and Pennsylvania exceeded California's contribution to the Near East Relief during the past thirteen years, Dr. James L. Barton, chairman of the State executive committee, declared yesterday in announcing this State still must raise $67,000 before June 30 in order to meet its quota.

Since the campaign was launched thirteen years ago, 21,215 Californians have donated a total of $7,275,000 of the $117,000,000 already supplied the 1,500,000 refugees in cash and food commodities. On June 30, when the public campaigns in America will cease, there still will be 12,000 children under the care of the Near East Relief, according to Dr. Barton. Contributions toward California's balance are being received at Pacific Coast headquarters in Los Angeles.

UNIVERSITY OFFERS NEW STUDY COURSES

VARIETY OF SUBJECTS LISTED FOR SUMMER QUARTER EVENING CLASSES

Business courses in accounting, banking and financing, business law, economics, marketing, real estate and public speaking are to be given in evening hours during the summer quarter of university college, University of Southern California, beginning in June, it was announced yesterday.

Auditing will be offered on Monday and Wednesday evenings, under the direction of H. Dean Campbell. Meeting on Tuesday and Thursday nights a class in investments will be conducted by Emery E. Olson.

C. P. A. problems, salesmanship, advanced real estate appraisals, real estate conveyancing and economic history of modern Europe are among the commerce courses to be conducted in the summer quarter.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND PAWNED HER JEWELRY

Mrs. Marie E. Hanlon testified before Superior Judge Baird yesterday that the day after she wed E. R. Hanlon he took her jewels and pawned them. She was asking for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty. The wife asserted that once her husband got into trouble on a forgery charge. "I stood by him through thick and thin," the wife testified. "He wouldn't work and expected to live off my earnings. We were together seven years." A decree was granted.

County Culture Progress Shown in New Booklet

"Los Angeles County Culture and the Community" is the title of a booklet just off the press for the Civic Bureau of Music and Art. It contains eighty pages of reading matter and illustrations setting out what is being done in a cultural way in this county.

"The life of a community, like that of an individual, consists not alone in the abundance of the things which it possesses," says a foreword by bureau directors. "The county of Los Angeles, rich though it is in material assets, is richer still in its achievements and opportunities in education, beauty, music and art which bring inspiration and happiness into daily life and work of its citizens and visitors. The purpose of this little book is to show, like a straw in the wind, the direction of our progress along these lines."

Writ Denied to Leutholtz

H. J. Leutholtz, 65 years of age, convicted on a charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death of James A. Drake in a traffic accident on Huntington Drive last October, was denied a writ of habeas corpus by the District Court of Appeals, in which he sought release from jail, pending an appeal for a reversal of judgment.

Leutholtz is under sentence to San Quentin for an indeterminate sentence and was assessed a fine of $300 for violation of the State Motor Vehicle Act, by Superior Judge Doran.

RICH MAN'S MATE SUES FOR DIVORCE

Oil Producer's Wife Asks Half of Wealth Besides $2000 Monthly Alimony

Demanding half of community property, the value of which she estimated at $1,000,000, and $2000 a month alimony, Mrs. La Rena Camp yesterday sued her husband, Charles Wesley Camp, said to be a wealthy Long Beach oil producer, for divorce.

According to Mrs. Camp's complaint, her husband abused her harshly.

Hairs the plaintiff plucked from her husband's coat, which she believed were from a woman's scarf, were lightly referred to by her husband as "dog hairs," she asserts, although he often had been seen in public with another woman.

Mrs. Camp further states that she never had more than $200 of her own at any time, her husband not allowing her much of his asserted income of $75,000 a month.

TAXI DRIVER FACES DRUNKENNESS COUNT

Budlong-Avenue School's Pupils Present Program to Aid World Amity

With songs and dances of all nations, 1400 children of the Budlong-avenue school in costume transformed their school yard into a veritable rainbow of color yesterday when they gave a program commemorating World Friendship Week.

The program in the school yard was preceded by a parade around the grounds. Children from kindergarten age to the sixth grade participated.

There were American Indians, little Spanish senoritas, gay caballeros, fancy dancers direct from Moscow, Dutch girls and boys, French peasants and almost anything imaginable in the line of song, dance and costume from every quarter of the globe. The program was presented under the direction of Katherine Adkinson, kindergarten director. One of the most popular numbers was a Dutch windmill dance.

Edith Bristol, principal of the school, in a brief word of welcome to the visitors expressed the hope that the songs and dances of the nations will "sow in the hearts of the children the seed which will blossom into an understanding of other peoples, which will bring world peace." The hope of the future, she pointed out, rests with the children.

As a grand finale, all present stood before a Statue of Liberty and repeated the pledge to the flag.

BULLET LEADS TO CONFESSION

Tests of Rifling Result in Banditry Admission

Marks on Pellet Compared to Suspect's Revolver

Officers Say Hold-up Series Now Has Been Solved

FRANKLIN W. WHITE.

THOMAS J. PRICE.

Identification of the rifling score on a .32-caliber revolver bullet yesterday led to the confession of Thomas J. Price, 21 years of age, that he is the bandit who shot Jack Church, son of Police Lieutenant Church, during the robbery of an oil station at 4625 South Avalon Boulevard, according to Detective Lieutenants Woolman and Malina.

The bullet was extracted from the youth's right hip by a police surgeon shortly after the robbery, which occurred April 23. Last week Price and his asserted partner, Franklin W. White, 23, were taken into custody by the detectives. After several days' investigation they confessed, the detectives said, to half a dozen recent robberies, but denied any implication in the robbery in which Church was shot.

Continuing their investigations the detectives reported they found a .32-caliber revolver in the room in which Price was living at 846 West Santa Barbara Avenue. The gun was given to Police Chemist Welch, who, in the course of his research, fired several bullets from the weapon, photographed them and compared them with the one taken from the wounded youth's body. The scoring caused by the rifling and corrosion in the gun barrel were exactly the same, he said. Confronted with this evidence Price confessed the shooting, the detectives said.

Price and White, the detectives stated, also have been connected with numerous other recent robberies. Church recovered from his wound. Apparently no other reason but nervousness on the part of the bandit precipitated the shooting.

Two Bankers Injured When Car Hits Auto

Frank Gonzales and Frank E. Forker, vice-presidents of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, and Mrs. Forker, were injured last night in a head-on collision between the Forker car and a street car in Sixth street near Lucas. Gonzales, who is 70 years of age, and who lives at 412 North Louise street, Glendale, received a possible skull fracture and concussion of the brain, while both of his legs were broken. Forker and his wife, Elizabeth Forker, were cut about the face.

According to Detective Lieutenants Waples and Marshall, who investigated the case, Forker was driving his car east in Sixth street when he collided with a Los Angeles Railway "D" car, in charge of Motorman George H. Doyal and Conductor E. L. Bourland. The injured bank officers and Mrs. Forker were treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Forker live at 268 North Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills.

S. J. Henderson, 44-year-old motorcycle officer attached to the Georgia-street division, was injured seriously yesterday when his vehicle collided with an automobile at Alexandria avenue and Wilshire Boulevard. Turning out of Alexandria he crashed into a car, driven, according to the police report, by J. L. Kroavar of 5257 South Figueroa street. Surgeons at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was taken, found him suffering from numerous cuts, bruises and lacerations about the face and body. They said he will be confined for a week. Kroavar was not held.

PETTICOAT TRAP FOR SUSPECTS

Mother and Daughter Who Were Garment Held as Shoplifters

The day of the old-fashioned petticoat is not yet past, according to Bonner Richardson, chief of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's complaint department.

And the shop-worn charge that men always have more pockets in their clothing than women is not always true, Richardson discovered yesterday, when a petticoat containing seven pockets was shown to him by detectives as evidence against an asserted shoplifter.

As a result, a complaint charging shoplifting was filed against Bridjnda Portelo and her daughter Selerina, who is accused of wearing the petticoat in a downtown department store and filling the pockets with merchandise with her mother's assistance.

CHURCH TOPICS REVEALED

Los Angeles Preachers Announce Subjects of Their Sermons for Tomorrow

More than 500 ministers, Sunday-school superintendents and other church officials and leaders are expected to attend the twenty-first annual session of the Southern California Summer School of Missions, to be conducted at Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Wilshire Boulevard and Berendo streets, from Monday to Friday, inclusive.

The school is interdenominational and the general theme for study and action is "The World Mission of Christianity." The main purpose of the school is to train young men and women for work in foreign mission fields. The morning and afternoon sessions will be featured by addresses by noted speakers who will discuss missionary problems and the latest books on missionary work.

"THE BINDING TIE"

With Mrs. C. E. Richards, president of the Women's Missionary Council, presiding, the School of Missions will open with devotional services at 9:30 a.m. Monday. Following an address of welcome by Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, Dr. Willsie Martin will speak on "The Binding Tie" and Mrs. Grace Coleman, secretary for Japan of the World's Sunday-School Association, will speak on "Art and Missions." An address on "Jerusalem to Jerusalem" will be given by Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher. The sessions will open daily at 9:30 a.m. Among speakers to be heard are Mrs. Hallie Linn Hill, George Gleason, Mrs. Clara B. Sewell, Mrs. Frances Blakeslee, Miss Esther Bartlett, Diong P. King and Angelina Montano. The feature of the conference will be the fellowship luncheon in the banquet hall of the parish house next Friday at noon when more than 150 missionaries from foreign countries are expected to be present.

Gasoline Prices Seem Stabilized

Retail gasoline prices have been stabilized at 19½ cents a gallon and probably will remain there, it was agreed on by officials of major and independent oil organizations yesterday.

So-called bootleg gas prices have come up to within 2 cents of the major retail prices, putting a temporary end, at least, to gas price slashing.

LOWER TELEPHONE RATE DRIVE OPENS

GLENDALE, May 17. — United efforts on the part of Southern California cities to aid in the investigation of telephone rates and to obtain a reduction in the asserted excessive charges now in effect was decided upon at a conference called here by Mayor C. E. Kimlin and attended by representatives of other municipalities. Kimlin, Mayor H. E. Bruce of Burbank and City Attorney R. C. Waltz of Beverly Hills will draft a letter addressed to all cities in the Southland, calling a conference in Los Angeles on June 3, each city to be asked to send a delegate empowered to assist in making plans for a combined effort to reduce telephone rates. The same cities will be asked to delegate their City Attorneys to represent them at the hearing before the State Railroad Commission on June 7, when the investigation of the telephone companies' records will be initiated.

NOTHING IN HAND GIVEN 'LITTLE GIRL'

Tex Guinan Loses Suit for $25,000 Against Loew Theater for Services

Texas Guinan, New York night-club hostess, yesterday lost her $25,000 lawsuit against the West Coast Theaters for the asserted use of her name by ruling of Superior Judge Bowron at the end of a hearing lasting several hours.

Tex also loses a day's pay for her four appearances at Loew's State Theater on October 12, 1928, under the same ruling. She was to have received $1500 for one week of work and 50 per cent of the gate after $28,000 had been taken into the till.

Under the same ruling of Judge Bowron the West Coast Theaters lost its suit on a cross-complaint asking $1500 for asserted breach of contract. Texas is very busy entertaining and was unable to be present at the trial.

Miss Guinan entered into a contract to appear at Loew's State Theater for a week beginning October 12, 1928. She became ill, she said, and was unable to give her act after the first day. According to her complaint, she notified the theater she was unable to appear but the company went on advertising her and received great benefits that week from the use of her name.

At the hearing "Fatty" Arbuckle told of Miss Guinan being at his cafe the night of October 13, 1928, and that when he asked her if she would let herself be announced "she told me she was ill; had trouble with her throat and her spine; she could hardly speak above a whisper," the witness testified.

Albert Goodwin, assistant manager of Loew's State Theater, declared that receipts at the theater the week Texas was billed were only average. He also said the theater did everything possible to kill advertising upon Miss Guinan.

Compton Votes School Bonds

COMPTON, May 17. (Exclusive) A bond issue of $675,000 to build junior high schools in the Compton Union High School district was passed by an overwhelming vote at a special bond election here today. Erection of the buildings will begin during the coming year. Sites already have been secured.

The money will be distributed as follows: Willowbrook, $100,000; Lynwood, $150,000; Clearwater, $100,000; Enterprise, $100,000, and Compton, $200,000. The remaining $25,000 will be used by the school officials for general purposes. The vote was 1635 in favor of the issue and 239 against it.

SCHOOL CAMPUS TO BE NAMED FOR PRINCIPAL

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, May 17. The superintendent of the Los Angeles public school system, members of the Board of Education and principals and teachers of the San Fernando Valley schools will be present next Wednesday at the formal dedication of the high school athletic field here. The new campus will be dedicated in the name of Claude M. Sandifur, principal. The program will be conducted in the high school auditorium and will be presided over by Miss Florence Seaman, vice-principal, who will introduce the score of honor guests expected. Among these guests will be Thomas Clarke, president of the student body government of the valley schools. He attends the local school. Ella Robbins of San Fernando, secretary, also will attend the ceremonies.

married to Gloria Quale Montgomery.

DR. HOLMES OFFICIATES

The time is scheduled from 7 to 8 a.m., with Dr. Ernest Holmes, dean of the Los Angeles Institute of Religious Science, slated to perform the ceremony.

KEJK's publicity sheet reads: "Strains of 'Lohengrin's Wedding March' will mark the beginning of the end of a romance which began a short time ago when Miss Montgomery first heard McIntire's radio voice."

But old-timers tell us that romance does not end with the marriage ceremony, so thousands of fans this morning will wish the couple well as they hear the event through their receiving sets.

ELKS RULER TO BROADCAST

Many local Elks will tune in to WCCO tonight to hear Murray Hulbert, Grand Exalted Ruler of B.P.O.E., at 7:30 o'clock Pacific time. The wave length is 810 kilocycles, or 370.2 meters, and the Grand Exalted Ruler's message will be received by twenty-four Minnesota lodges via radio. Mr. Hulbert is to head the annual convention which will be held at Los Angeles in July.

ROSE FIESTA TO BE DESCRIBED

SAN JOSE, May 17. (Exclusive) The fourth annual Fiesta de las Rosas will be on the air tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. via KQW, with the broadcast of a word description of the floral parade.

KFVD TO HAVE SPECIAL PROGRAM

Station KFVD at Culver City will stage a special program tomorrow night between 8 and 10 o'clock. Dolores Del Rio, screen actress, is scheduled to sing "Evangeline." The 233 Club Orchestra, directed by Bayrd Sallas, will furnish the dance tunes, while the Hawaiian string ensemble will strum melodies of the South Seas. Charles Crockett, character actor, is to act as master of ceremonies.

PAL OF DEAD CONVICT OFF FOR FOLSOM

Lifer Hayes Loses Fight Against Return to Prison and Will Leave Tonight

Failing in his fight to obtain a further delay in his return to Folsom Prison, where he must serve a life sentence, Robert "Zeke" Hayes will be placed under heavy guard tonight and transported back to the "big house" to serve his sentence. Walter Cole and Dan Crowley, veteran transportation officers, have been named as Hayes's guards by Sheriff Traeger.

A last-minute effort to delay his return to prison was made by Hayes, who, through his mother, made overtures to the 1929 grand jury requesting that he be permitted to appear before it and tell what he knows of graft and crime in Los Angeles.

This request was refused because officers were unable to find anything of value as evidence in the statements made to last year's grand jury by Hayes.

The youthful convict was brought to Los Angeles last winter to testify before the grand jury, and to be tried on a charge of robbery. While being held prisoner in County Jail, Hayes and John Hawkins, his partner, attempted to shoot their way to liberty in the jail elevator. Hawkins was killed by the officers and Hayes was wounded.

Torso Murder Inquiry Meets New Obstacle

Deputy sheriffs investigating the so-called torso murder yesterday were confronted with an additional barrier to the solution of the case when County Chemist Abernathy reported that tests made on the body of the slain girl failed to reveal the cause of her death.

The officers had hoped that through these tests they might establish the manner in which the victim was killed and thus gain a new clew which would have aided them in their search for the spot where she was killed.

The investigation will be continued, however, concentrating on a search for all missing women reported in Los Angeles county in an attempt to establish the identity of the victim.

Jewish Appeal Conclave to be Held Tomorrow

Irving H. Hellman, president of the United Jewish Welfare Fund Appeal for $200,000 for the relief and reconstruction of numerous national and international Jewish institutions, announced that plans have been completed for a conference tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Jewish Alliance, 1225 South Union avenue.

Delegates from every Jewish club and organization in the city will be present. Aaron Riche has been named chairman of the speakers' bureau of the appeal. Speakers tomorrow will include Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, I. Irving Lipsitch, Mendl B. Silberberg and David Tannenbaum.

Bank Robber Convicted at No-Jury Trial

Alfred O. Seward, 29 years of age, was convicted of a charge of second-degree robbery yesterday following his trial without a jury before Superior Judge Aggeler. He will be sentenced on the 20th inst.

Seward was charged with obtaining $1600 from the Washington-Boulevard and Western-avenue branch of the Bank of America by handing a note to the teller demanding $5000.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training to cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

GARDENS FOSTER LOVE FOR NATURE

Flower and vegetable gardens are planted and from the moment the first feathery carrot tips pop through the ground, or the rose bush thrusts forth fragrant buds, the gardener's eyes are sharp for possible destroyers. It is to him like the sting of a prodded sore to see small feet step on a garden bristling with green points. And gardens draw small feet like magnets. The affinity for outstanding obstacles which afflicts the amateur driver or bicyclist causes children to choose flower beds to walk on when there is a whole big lawn surrounding.

GIVE CHILD A GARDEN

There is a way to prevent this, and to prevent small children from pulling the leaves off mother's geranium plants, and a much nicer way than to lie in wait and shout angrily to "keep away." Give the child a garden of his own. Let him buy some of those packages of seeds whose gaudy illustrations cause hope to spring eternal in the gardener's heart, buy him some tools that he can handle, measure off his two-by-two patch and bound it with sticks and string and call it "Jimmy's Garden," and he'll understand without much telling how important it is not to step on green shoots, and not to pick tender sprouts if one ever expects to eat a round, red radish that grew out of an unexciting black seed.

And the joy of watching to see if four o'clock really do come up in the row where the empty seed package says one has planted them. And the hours of labor joyously expended on picking weeds and wielding the fascinating hoe and the watering can. And the thrill when one eats that puny and strong-flavored radish that actually grew right out of that back-breaking row one planted with one's very own hands.

REAL FUN FOR CHILD

Why let the adults have all the fun? If children must satisfy their curiosity by pulling up half-grown vegetables to see how big they are, it is obviously better that these depleted rows be in Jimmy's garden. That is better for father's disposition.

It is one thing to hope that one's children will be lovers of nature, but this satisfactory state of mind can only come about when one gets close to the object of one's affection. Distance, in this instance, neither lends enchantment nor makes the heart grow fonder. A love for nature is a direct result of the hours one spends in faithful service in its behalf. Digging in the soil, planting the seeds, watering and weeding the plants and watching them waken to fragrant beauty, or mouth-watering lusciousness, are the services that make one love the mistress who demands them.

JUNIOR CHAMBER IN STAG SESSION

ATHLETIC EVENTS PLANNED FOR CONVENTION TODAY AND TOMORROW

The Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce is holding its annual stag convention today and tomorrow at Hotel Del Mar.

The entertainment committee, headed by Thatcher Taylor, has arranged golf and tennis tournaments, a swimming meet and baseball game. Tonight a banquet is to be held, followed by entertainment, including well-known singers, musicians and dancers.

Frank Barley is flying to the meeting in his airplane with several members. Oscar Clevidence is sailing in his yacht with a crowd.

Among the prominent members of the 100 who will be on hand are: Kennedy Ellsworth, president; Don Forkker, Dick Taylor, Dr. Alex Linck, vice-presidents; Allerton Jeffries, sergeant-at-arms.

DECISION IN BRIBE CASE DUE TODAY

Pair Face Accusation of Influencing Witness in Hold-up Trial

JACKLYN BROGAN.

Jacklyn Brogan, 20 years of age, stage dancer, and Mrs. Martha Wilkes, arrested on the 14th inst. in Superior Judge Wood's court on bribery charges in connection with a case on trial there, will learn from Municipal Judge Ballard today whether they must face trial on a felony accusation.

Preliminary hearing of the two women, who are asserted by Deputy District-Attorney Blalock to have paid Jack Crawford $35 to influence his testimony against Donald E. Nosworthy, on trial on an accusation of robbing Crawford's gocery began yesterday. Mrs. Crawford on the witness stand declared that Miss Brogan had paid her the money at her home, 5307 South Figueroa street. "She told me it was to repay the amount lost in the robbery," Mrs. Crawford said. The woman declared, however, that Mrs. Willes suggested to her that Crawford "might fail to identify" Nosworthy at his trial as the man who held him up.

Judge Ballard ordered the case continued until this morning for further testimony for the prosecution. Blalock indicated, however, that unless the court admits the testimony of Crawford at the preliminary hearing and trial of Nosworthy he may be forced to close his case immediately.

State Presents Case in Avalon Bar Raid Trial

W. H. Hevren, Avalon Councilman, and George Feltrop, asserted bartender at the Budweiser Bar in Avalon, yesterday heard the State's witnesses against them at their preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge McDill on charges of conspiracy to violate the State liquor laws. The case was continued by Judge McDill until Monday for defense testimony.

Witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman included members of the raiding party from the District Attorney's office, headed by Lucien Wheeler, chief investigator, who identified bottles of wine tonic and bitters seized by them. Other evidence introduced included invoices for bitters and checks written by Hevren in asserted payment for them. The State contends that, although the bitters and tonic are legal, they were being sold by the bottle and by the drink for beverage purposes and that their sale was illegal.

Women Form Group to Aid Needy Girls

A new philanthropic organization yesterday came into being when fifteen Hollywod club women met at the home of Mrs. Lucille V. Clark, 2542 South Bronson avenue, and formed the first Good Samaritan Club of Southern California. The club will have as its object the systematic continuation of the practice, begun informally by the members several weeks ago, of befriending the charges of Juvenile Hall.

Every charter member, it is announced, will provide a set of toilet articles and a complete change of girl's apparel to be delivered to Dr. Miriam Van Waters, referee of the Juvenile Court. A number of the gifts already have been sent.

At the initial meeting yesterday, Mrs. Viola Shaw was elected president, Mrs. Jessie Poston, vice-president, and Mrs. Anne Dugan, secretary-treasurer.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

SHOULDER OF LAMB

One shoulder of spring lamb, twelve button mushrooms, one tablespoonful of chopped chives, two tablespoonfuls of chopped shallots, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and five tablespoonfuls of sweet butter, one-half a cupful of bread crumbs, salt and paprika; mix all the ingredients together, stuff in a pocket made by removing the bones, sew up, tie, place in a roasting pan, and brown well; reduce the heat, and allow to cook until tender, arrange the shoulder of lamb on a hot dish, make a gravy with the pan gravy, add a few chopped mint leaves to it and serve with the lamb.

ITALIAN COFFEE CREAM

Mix one and one-half cupfuls of strong black coffee with half a cupful of rich milk, place in a double boiler, add half a cupful of sugar, and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, dissolve one tablespoonful of gelatine, in one-third of a cupful of cold water, add to the coffee mixture and stir until dissolved, beat the yolks of three eggs with one-half a cupful of sugar, and stir slowly into the coffee mixture, do not cook more than one or two minutes after the addition of the eggs, remove from the fire, beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, add to them one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, combine with the coffee custard, wet a mold in cold water, pour in the mixture and allow to become hard. Serve with whipped cream.

FISH ROE SALAD

One large-sized fish roe, one cucumber, one small bunch of green onions, three hard-boiled eggs, one head of lettuce.

Wash the fish roe in salted water, roll the roe in a cloth, tie, place in a sauce pan, cover with boiling water, add to the water, one-third of a cup of vinegar, one slice of lemon, one bay leaf, two whole cloves, a few peppercorns, and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and two slices of onion; allow to cook for ten minutes, chill; remove the cloth, slice the roe and place on a bed of lettuce leaves; slice the cucumber and hard-boiled eggs, alternate the slices of egg, roe and cucumbers overlapping, pour over a French dressing, chop the green onions fine, and sprinkle over the salad.

HONEY COOKIES

Sift two and one-half cupfuls of flour with two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of baking soda, one and a half teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of allspice, and a quarter of a teaspoonful of mace, mix well, add four tablespoonfuls of finely chopped walnut meats and two-thirds of a cupful of honey, knead until a firm, smooth dough is formed, roll out on a floured board, roll up, place in the ice box and allow to remain for two or three hours, cut in slices and bake in a moderate oven.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

author of "The Fast Way to Health" care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply. Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him,

CONSTRUCTIVE THINKING AND TALKING

The one who is earnestly seeking health cannot afford to fall into the habit of destructive thinking. It is so easy to be sarcastic and critical about every person or topic under discussion, and this temptation must be resisted. If you are critical of others they will, in turn, think derogatively of you, but if you speak kindly of them, they will speak kindly of you. A scowl brings forth a scowl from others but, fortunately, a good-natured smile always creates a feeling of good-fellowship.

Recognizing and praising good qualities encourage their development. There is no one but who has some good qualities that could be developed with the proper encouragement. Find fault with no one, condemn no one, and antagonize no one. This may not come naturally at first, but it can soon be established as a good habit. It will prove an interesting and helpful game. You will be pleased to find your friends becoming more attached to you, while new acquaintances whom you meet will be unconsciously impressed with your cheerful comment. Make your slogan: "A kind thought and a kind word for everyone and everything."

Cheerfulness brings friends. Ella Wheeler Wilcox said, "Smile, and the world smiles with you; weep and you weep alone." There is no way to waste nerve energy more rapidly than through the irritation that can come from a critical attitude toward others. If we appoint ourselves judge to condemn the actions of others, we must suffer the consequences with enervation and decreasing of our vital forces. Disease thrives on discord, while health is the natural outgrowth of a life based on kindness and living in harmony with nature's laws.

Every night before retiring, take a mental inventory and see what you have accomplished that day. Each day try to improve a little and you will be welcomed everywhere, and be hourly cheered by your achievements in spreading sunshine. You will soon be delighted to discover that your vitality is increasing and you are not so tired at night, but have more strength after your daily work.

Often, nervous indigestion, sleeplessness, restlessness, and despondency disappear when one cultivates the gentle art of bing kind.

It is a good plan to think of happiness as a mental necessity just as food is a physical necessity. If you do this, you will soon learn that being kind to others creates the most lasting happiness. In your conversation, it is a good plan not to be sarcastic nor witty at the expense of some one else, but try to say something which will leave a kindly thought afterward. If you sow kindly thoughts, sweet remembrances will grow from them and you will find life is much more interesting and pleasant as you cultivate the habit of constructive thinking and talking.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tubercular Bowels

Question: K. M. M. asks: "Will you please explain the symptoms of tubercular bowels?"

Answer: One of the common symptoms of tubercular bowels is dysentery or frequent movement of the bowels. There is also a temperature, running up higher in the afternoon, much as in tuberculosis of the lungs. I would not advise you to try to diagnose your own case, as sometimes colitis is very similar to tuberculosis of the bowels and you may become unduly frightened or worried.

Baked Potatoes

Q.: B. E. A. asks: "Will you please inform me why a baked potato contains less calories than a potato cooked otherwise?"

A.: There is very little difference in the caloric value of a baked potato and one cooked otherwise. The baking does destroy some of the starch, changing it to dextrin, which makes a lower starch content, but has little effect upon the caloric value.

Facial Rejuvenation

Q.: Marie asks: "Do you approve of facial rejuvenation without surgery, same consisting of violet ray and electric treatment and lotions? Would you consider this treatment permanent or would they have to be continued? The skin under the eyes is loose and lines are forming?"

A.: There are many kinds of facial treatments which are beneficial in producing a better tone of the skin and muscles of the face. No treatment of this kind can have a permanent effect, but must be continued off and on through life, if it is ever necessary to start it.

Woman Escapes Injury in Fall

Miss Helen Neale, 35 years of age, an inmate of the St. Evangeline Home, 1005 West Sixth street, miraculously escaped serious injury yesterday, according to a police report, when she fell from the second story of the Home of Truth, 2105 West Washington street.

The plunge, police report, was the result of an emotional frenzy. Suffering only a slight injury to her right hand she was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Carey recommended she be removed to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital for observation.

ROBBERY SUSPECT PLACED IN CUSTODY

Al Williams, 18 years of age, was arrested here yesterday for San Diego authorities on suspicion of robbery. According to information sent here Williams is suspected of being a member of a gang of bandits now being held in San Diego. He denies this. The arrest came through the checking of a letter he sent a girl in San Diego asking her for $20, local police reported. The letter directed that the money be sent to a bowling alley on Pico street.

German Traffic Survey Group to Go North Today

Some of the party of eleven German business men here on a survey of traffic problems visited Catalina Island yesterday, while others attended funeral services in Long Beach for Bernhard Lauscher, German war ace, who was killed in an air crash last Saturday at Trona.

Plans of the visitors call for departure this morning for San Francisco. They are in America studying motor taxation and highway conditions under the auspices of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

R. Kaufman is leader of the party, composed of German government officials and business men. S. C. Hagen, local German Consul, has been host to his countrymen during their visit.

BETTER BY FAR

TRY Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes. They are crisper. They have a better flavor—the famous flavor of PEP.

More nourishing too. You get the vitamins and mineral salts from the wheat. Just enough to be mildly laxative. Ready-to-eat.

Sold in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A LIFE WORK
Statistics show Life Insurance Underwriters are the most highly paid salesmen. Many in Los Angeles earn from $5000 to $50,000 annually. Dignified, healthful, interesting, constructive, permanent occupation. No dull periods, no losses. You are constantly building for yourself. Learn the Life Insurance business, and you will never again have to seek employment. The Pacific Mutual, one of the old and large Life Insurance Companies of America—the oldest and largest California company—will consider the application of men of character and ability between the approximate ages of 25 to 45. Those selected will receive every possible assistance. Our comprehensive courses of instruction and practical field assistance are calculated to develop any ambitious man into a successful underwriter. You should begin earning from the first week. Our school for salesmen is outstanding in the insurance world. Call in person or telephone Trinity 0501, or address Mr. Ayres, 523 Pacific Mutual Building, Sixth and Grand streets.

NOTICE: Next class begins Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Come in and attend the first session without obligation. You can then intelligently decide if you want to enter the Life Insurance business.

ELECTROLUX IS HERE
Commencing operations on Pacific Coast, coming direct from the East, where in the past 3 years we have established over 30 branches in the principal cities, also coming from 47 other countries where we are dominant in our particular field, we have made such tremendous strides that San Francisco, Portland, Oakland, Seattle, Pasadena and Long Beach have now been opened.

We have the entire Pacific Coast territory to open up within the next month and need men of vision and responsibility. The men selected to fill positions open will be given an intensive training in our methods and policies of operations and will receive splendid incomes in commission and bonus during their training and qualifying period.

Inasmuch as we stand alone in our particular field, we cannot get experienced men, but must train men in our own methods.

For the present we are only interested in men permanently located in and around Los Angeles.

Those who apply for personal interview 9 to 12 a.m. will be able to start work immediately if they qualify.

LINDBERGH MAY OPEN AIR LINE

Pilot Expected to be First Over Train-Plane Route

Facilities All Ready to Start Service from East July 1

Officials Reach Here After Inspecting System

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who blazed the trail which the Transcontinental Air Transport planes will follow on their coast-to-coast route will, "in all probability," inaugurate the New York-to-Los Angeles service July 1, officials of the T.A.T. announced here last night.

The announcement came from Thomas Butler Eastland and Walter S. Marvin, directors of the Transcontinental air line, who arrived yesterday at the Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale, completing a final inspection tour of the air-rail route.

TEN PLANES FOR LINE

Details incidental to the inauguration of the forty-eight-hour service between Los Angeles and New York, Mr. Marvin said, are all complete, and beginning July 1, a fleet of ten T.A.T. trimotored planes will be put in operation between the two cities.

Facilities en route, the officials said, were found to be "surprisingly excellent," and both predicted that within a short time additional planes will be needed to accommodate the "air-minded" travelers who will prefer the air-rail route.

With the T.A.T. officials on their inspection tour are Mrs. Marvin and Mr. Eastland's daughter, Miss Alice Eastland. Mrs. H. H. Gallup, whose husband piloted the officials, also is in the party.

TWO RAIL TRIPS

The transcontinental service will include an overnight trip by rail between Clovis, N. M., and Waynoka, Okla., and from Columbus, O., to New York City. The remainder of the trip will be made by air.

Within the course of a year, however, the entire trip with the exception of an overnight rail journey across the Alleghanies from Columbus to New York will be made by air, Mr. Marvin predicts.

Planes equipped with sleeping berths already have been recommended by Col. Lindbergh, and will be put in operation as soon as possible, the official said.

The planes which are to be put in service now, Mr. Marvin asserted, will all be equipped with radio sending and receiving sets and also with the recently developed radio phone equipment.

Policemen Reach Retirement Mark

Seven members of the police department yesterday completed twenty years' service on the force, becoming eligible to retirement on half-pay. None, however, showed any intention of retiring, and each received personal congratulations from Police Chief Davis. A presentation of a diamond-studded badge marked the anniversary of Capt. Clarence Sweeney, chief of the transportation department. The emblem was presented by the men of his department.

The other twenty-year celebrants are Herman H. Cline, chief of detectives; Capt. L. L. Oakley of the Hollenbeck Heights, Detective Captain Carl Williams, night head of the auto theft detail; Detective Lieutenant James Hickey, head of the pawnshop detail; Sergt. F. Mulligan of Central Station, and Patrolman C. W. Wicklund.

SUNKEN SUBMARINES

Of the 4971 plans suggested for the rescuing of men from sunken submarines, only three were found practicable by the naval board. They are the "lung," "the escape chamber" and the "lifting eye." The lung so far has proved the most practicable, since it is small and light and can easily be stowed for each member of the crew without unduly encroaching on weight and space. This lung is similar to a gas mask, and in recent tests it was shown that a crew could escape to the surface from a sunken submarine at depths of at least 200 feet without aid from the surface.

CHILDREN TAKE PART IN MAY FESTIVAL

Progressive School Scene of Youngsters' Affair

SIXTY children of the Los Angeles Progressive School, ranging from 2½ to 14 years of age, took part in a May festival on the school grounds at 2140 North Highland avenue, at which 9-year-old Marian Jones was crowned queen of the May.

The second generation of motion-picture families enacted parts of the costumed pageantry which preceded the dance around two maypoles. Sonia Schulberg, daughter of the film executive, Barbro Bjorkman and Betty Barnsdall wore Spanish shawls and did Iberian dances. Andrew McLaglen, Victor McLaglen's little boy, and Kate Moseley, were dressed in green and did Irish jigging. Eight boys and girls of the second grade, led by Pat Ford, son of Jack Ford, danced a sailor's hornpipe. Lois Gibson, daughter of Hoot Gibson, was a little French girl in a minuet number. Shelby Levino, Jr., and a troupe of seven other upper grade lads in baggy red trousers, white moujik smocks and black boots, did Cossack dancing and tumbling. Carleton Winslow and Rosalind Shaffer wore Dutch blue outfits and gave a dance in wooden shoes.

A group of tiny flower girls, who attended Marian Jones, the May queen, included Sheila McLaglen, Barbara Ford and Maria Reachi, 2-year-old daughter of Agnes Ayres and Manuel Reachi.

Forest Safety Regulations Promulgated

Restrictions regarding fires in Angeles National Forest have gone into effect and will be enforced strictly during this week-end, it was stated at the office of M. V. Mendenhall, forest supervisor.

It was pointed out that smoking on hikes, along streams and roads and in automobiles will not be permitted. Smoking will be permitted in regularly posted camp grounds and places of habitation. Unusual precautions are being taken because of the reported high fire hazard this year.

While all Europe was complaining of the coldest weather in scores of years, Eskimos in Greenland were complaining of a heat wave which prevented them from using their sledges for hunting.

Screen Actress Charges Fraud

Lola Lane, film actress, yesterday filed a suit in Superior Court, asking recission of her contract with the theatrical firm of Lyons & Lyons on ground of fraud.

At the same time, it was announced by the plaintiff's attorney, Milton Golden, a similar suit was filed in New York by Miss Lane's sister, Leota, who is in the eastern city.

Plaintiff asserts that she contracted March 1, last, with defendant to obtain her theatrical employment at $350 a week for thirty weeks. Instead of trying to carry out the terms of the contract, the defendants took no action, it is stated.

Notwithstanding the drop in crude rubber prices, the consumption of reclaimed rubber is increasing not only because it is economical, but because it is best suited for many peculiar needs.

Veterans See Child Dances

Disabled veterans at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle were entertained last night when a group of Los Angeles grade-school pupils appeared before them in Memorial Hall in a program of specialty dance numbers which began at 7:30 and lasted until 8:30 o'clock.

The program opened with a number in which Mickey Heeger and Doris Schaffer, 6-year-old students of Miss Elisa Ryan, gave their version of the dance made popular on the vaudeville stage by "Kid Frisco" in years gone by. Following this, Betty Bradbury and Betty Hagebush were seen in tap-and-toe numbers, and the program was concluded by another solo dance by Mickey Heeger.

Originally scheduled to be held the latter part of next week, the program was presented last night because of possible confliction with other Decoration Day events planned for next week, according to Miss Ryan, under whose direction the entertainment was given.
